Factories Stressed As Proof

Rocky Says State Attracting Firms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Rockefeller said today that booming factory construction in New York State was proof that "fiscal integrity — despite what President Kennedy says — is of prime importance in attracting new industry."

He said "thanks to our program for economic growth," the state had more new factories under construction since the start of 1961 than the combined total of the two states ranking next on the list.

He made the comments in a speech prepared for delivery at a luncheon meeting of the directors of the Empire State Chamber of Commerce at Saratoga Springs.

Attack on 'Myth'

The governor's attack on Kennedy's view of fiscal integrity was an apparent reference to the Democratic President's contention it was a "myth" that inflation would result from deficit spending.

Kennedy also rejected last week the "assertion that any and all unfavorable turns of the speculative wheel. . .are the result of lack of confidence in the national administration."

But the Republican governor, who is seeking re-election this year and is frequently mentioned as a possible GOP Presidential nominee in 1964, said today, "business and industry go where they are wanted."

Get Different View

The chamber directors were given a different view of the state's economy Sunday by Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., who is seeking his party's guvernatorial nomination.

Stratton said if he were elected governor he would reorganize the State Commerce Department as "part of a fresh, all-out effort to lick New York State's persistent twin problems of unemployment and economic growth."

The Schenectady congressman attacked what he called Rockefeller's "manifest lack of interest" in the closing of manufacturing plants in the state.

There were these other political developments over the weekend:

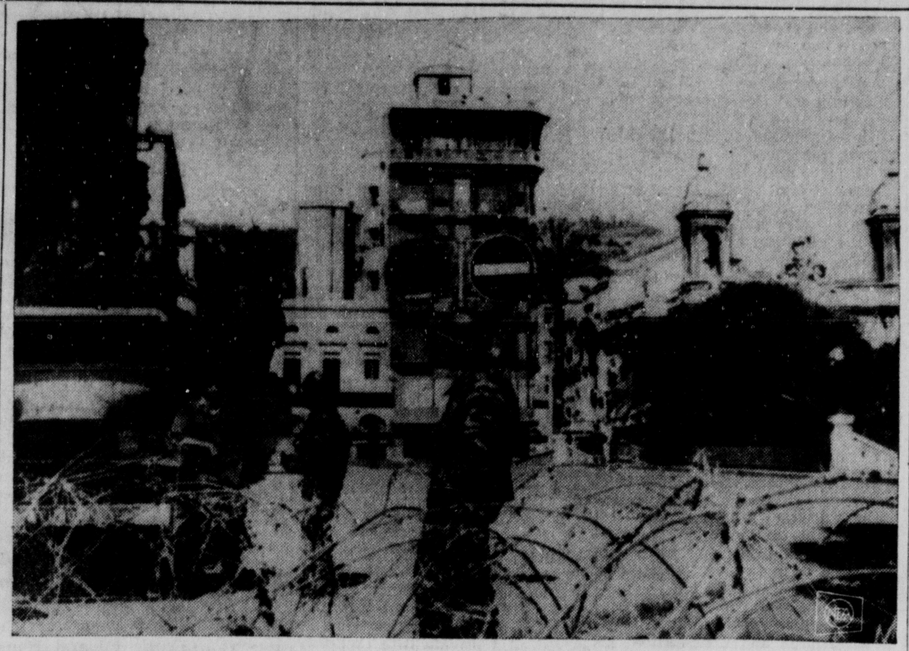

Stratton, addressing the Dunkirk city Democratic Committee Saturday, said he could defeat Rockefeller by 250,000 votes in the November election.

Queens Dist. Atty Frank D. O'Connor, also a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, spoke in New York City Sunday of signs that the Liberal Party "looks favorably" on his candidacy.

Denies Discrimination

Rockefeller, in a television interview Sunday, rejected Democratic claims that New York City was discriminated against by the

Goldberg Starts Work To Avert TWA Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg opened new peace talks today aimed at averting a threatened flight engineers' strike Tuesday afternoon on Trans World Airlines.

At Goldberg's request the Air Line Pilots Association, rival to the flight engineers in a dispute over jet plane cockpit jobs, sent along a team of negotiators.

H. S. Dietrich, chairman of the engineers' TWA chapter, failed to show up at the start of the talks. Goldberg's office said he sent word he would be late. The engineers were represented by an attorney, Asher Schwartz, New York.

Working With Him

Working with Goldberg for a TWA settlement were Undersecretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Nathan P. Feinsinger, Wisconsin University law professor and a special government mediator.

Sunday the engineers withdrew strike threats on Pan American World Airways and Eastern Air Lines and decided to concentrate for the moment on TWA. The TWA strike was set for 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Last week the Flight Engineers International Association, AFL-CIO, postponed a strike against TWA and two other major carriers, Pan Amerian World Airways and Eastern Air Lines, while Goldberg and a team of federal mediators tried to work out a settlement. The talks failed, but President Kennedy issued a stern warning to the flight engineers to settle the dispute without a strike.

Considers Employes

Union President R. A. Brown took note of the President's admonition in a statement Sunday. He said the strike would be limited to TWA "out of respect for the concern of the President over the balance of payments situation and our concern for the unemployment hardships which would be inflicted on a large number of airline employes."

TWA carries slightly more than 10 per cent of overseas-bound travel and services 18 foreign countries as well as 70 points across the United States.

The line employs 600 flight engineers and 20,000 workers in all.

The flight engineers are involved in a two-front war—with the rival pilots union and with the three carriers—over the makeup of jet cockpit crews.

A presidential fact-finding commission recommended two years ago that the crews be reduced from four to three men. The airlines propose carrying two pilots with the third man in the cockpit a combination engineer-pilot. The two unions have been arguing over which of them should represent this third crew member.

Kennedy has proposed that the issue be submitted to arbitration by a neutral panel. The airlines have agreed but the flight engineers have not.

Three Are Named As Appraisers on Urban Renewal

Mayor John J. Schwenk today named three men of local real estate experience to serve as appraisers of properties which are due to figure in downtown's Broadway East urban renewal project.

They are Walter Donnaruma, 143 Franklin Street; Mal Cunningham, 202 Fair Street, and Robert Badian, 76 Clinton Avenue.

Due to star during the week, each is to carry a letter of introduction from Mayor Schwenk. It will bear the official city seal. Both outside and inside appraisals are to be made.

Biggest Nuclear Blast Over Pacific Slated Tuesday

HONOLULU (AP) — The U.S. nuclear testing force made readv to fire its highest and biggest blast over the Pacific after dark tonight—about dawn Tuesday in the eastern United States.

The mammoth explosion was expected to light the sky with a flash brighter than sunshine and to be visible in Hawaii, 750 miles northeast of the Johnston Island launch site.

It was scheduled for firing between 11 p.m. tonight—4 a.m. Tuesday EST—and 2:30 a.m. Tuesday—7:30 a.m. EST

Scientists say communications throughout the Pacific will be disrupted for almost two days after the shot, 50 to 500 times as powerful as the atom bomb dropped on Hiroshima It will be exploded some 200 miles above the Pacific.

Asks for Cancelation

In New York, the Congress of Scientists on Survival appealed to President Kennedv Sunday to call off the high test because of "possibilities of hazard for mankind and his environment."

The group told the President in a telegram such tests "will disturb the Van Allen belt," bands of high energy particles several hundred miles above the earth.

The 20th announced detonation in the current series in the Pacific was exploded Sunday in the area of Christmas Island, some 1,200 miles south of Honolulu.

It was an intermediate-range device of a force equal to that of 20,000 to one million tons of TNT.

Convicts Wreck Jail By Fire

Guards, Soldiers Finally Quell Riot

MONTREAL (AP) — A rioting mob of 1,100 convicts set St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary ablaze and fought guards and troops in a six-hour battle that left 30 persons wounded Sunday night.

More than 200 steel-helmeted troops, called in to help hard-pressed guards, finally took control of the wrecked prison after quelling the rioters at Bayonet point.

None of the convicts managed to escape, but some were gunned down while trying to scale the walls.

Had to Shoot

"We had to shoot when they tried to escape or occupy other buildings," said Warden Michael LeCoore, "but we did not shoot to kill."

The six-hour battle was finally ended after more than 200 troops in full battle dress joined guards and police, herding the convicts at bayonet point into a group inside the compound.

Six of the 15 prison buildings were gutted. Others were damaged to varying degrees. Officials figured the damage to the old maximum security prison just northeast of Montreal would come to between $2 million and $3 million.

27 Are Injured

Twenty-seven prisoners were injured by flames or bullets as guards fired on convicts armed with stones, knives, zip guns and Molotov cocktails—gasoline-filled jars set afire by a rag wick. Three guards were hurt.

After the riot leaders were weeded out, about two thirds of the prisoners were put under some kind of shelter for the night. The rest were herded against a prison wall and had to spend the night outdoors in 50-degree weather because no buildings were available.

Prison officials said they had been unable to determine the cause of the riot, which flared in mid-afternoon during the exercise period.

Sign of Trouble

First sign of trouble came when a group of prisoners stormed out of the kitchen and through the library and psychiatric section.

As guards moved to stop them, other convicts set fire to buildings.

An emergency call brought in Quebec provincial police, then Canadian mounted police and finally the army as firemen from four cities fought the spreading fires.

The guards opened fire as prisoners tried to form pyramids to scale the 40-foot walls.

St. Vincent de Paul is the biggest and one of the most overcrowded of Canada's six maximum-security prisons.

About 400 convicts were housed in cells which a royal commission recommended 24 years ago "should be condemned without qualification." Justice Minister Davie Fulton has described conditions in the prison as "most undesirable."

Moslems, SAO Form Own Pact

Troops Standing By in Emergency

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIERS (AP) — A pact between the Secret Army Organization and Moslem Nationalists brought a halt today to the secret army's scorched earth campaign in Algiers and Oran, the two major cities.

Neither arson nor bomb attacks had been reported in the greater Algiers area by noon. The morning also passed quietly in Oran, the extremist European stronghold in the west.

Might Start Up

A pirate broadcast from Oran, however, raised the prospect that the secret army group based there might not abide by orders from Algiers to end the campaign of destruction and death.

There was unaccustomed peace within Algiers.

Groups of Moslems emerged from their barricaded quarters and mixed with Europeans in some parts of the city. Half-tracks loaded with troops stood by for any emergency while helicopters hovered over the city.

Head for France

Despite a secret army appeal to the Europeans to unite with the Moslems "to renovate the Algerian fatherland," crowds of settlers besieged airline offices again today for passage to France before independence."

"We will come back later if all is well," said some.

"The news from Algiers must be heard with caution," the secret army in Oran said of the announced agreement with the Moslem National Liberation Front (FLN.) "For the moment we do not have enough information to make any comment. We are keeping intact our means of action."

Officers Hiding

Most of the deserter colonels forming the secret army's military command are hiding in the Oran area. In recent weeks they obviously have been acting independently of the Algiers group which carried on the negotiations with the Moslems.

The Algiers order called for a halt to arson and murder as of midnight. This secret army broadcast followed separate announcements by the FLN and the Algiers extremists Sunday that they were

Grandfathers Started Feud

Kennedy, Lodge Begin Race for Senate Seat

By CORNELIUS F. HURLEY

BOSTON (AP)—The latest Lodge-Kennedy battle in a political feud which started more than 40 years ago was on today. Once again the goal is a seat in the U. S. Senate.

Lodge, 34, is the son of Henry Cabot Lodge, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Kennedy, 30, is the youngest brother of President Kennedy, who once held the seat coming up in the November election.

The President first won the seat in 1952 when he defeated Henry Cabot Lodge. Eight years later Lodge again was on the losing side as the Republican vice-presidential nominee in the 1960 national election.

First Bout

The first bout between the families was years ago when the grandfathers of the President and Henry Cabot Lodge competed for the Senate. Henry Cabot Lodge Sr. won that time, defeating John F. Fitzgerald.

Both Lodge and Kennedy may have primary opposition.

State Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., defeated by Kennedy at the Democratic convention, is circulating nomination papers to enter the Sept. 18 party primary. He is a nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack.

Lodge won the endorsement by defeating U.S. Rep. Laurence Curtis, whose House district was eliminated when Massachusetts lost two of its 14 seats as a result of the 1960 cenus.

Curtis to Decide

Curtis, 69, said he will decide in a few days whether to enter the primary. Lodge's victory was by an 88-vote margin, 936-848.

There is another candidate for the Senate seat—another famous name entry. H. Stuart Hughes, a Harvard University history professor and a grandson of the late chief justice of the United States, Charles Evans Hughes, has announced as an independent.

Gov. John A. Volpe was endorsed by the Republicans by acclamation for renomination for a second term.

Keogh Lawyers Plan Appeal of 'Fix' Conviction

NEW YORK (AP) — Attorneys for State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh are laying plans to appeal the jurist's conviction with two others on charges of taking part in a $35,000-bribe plot to fix a federal court bankruptcy fraud case.

Keough, former chief asst. U.S. Atty. Elliott Kahaner and labor racketeer Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo were found guilty Saturday night of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Kahaner, 36, and Corallo, 47, have remained silent about their plans.

Veteran of Bench

But Keogh, 56, a veteran of 12 years on the bench, declared immediately after the federal court jury announced its verdict that his attorneys "will press my appeal from this unjust conviction as soon as possible."

"I am innocent—nothing anyone can do or say will change that fact," Keogh told newsmen.

His status as a State Supreme Court justice was expected to come up for an early review by the appellate division in Brooklyn.

Keogh has been drawing his $34,500 annual salary since his indictment last Dec. 7. He has been without court assignments since that time at his own request.

U.S. Dist. Judge Edward Weinfeld set July 17 for sentencing Keogh and the two others. Each man could be sentenced to prison for five years and be fined $10,000.

Keogh and Kahaner were con-

Drum Pageant Is Won by Amboy Dukes Saturday

Approximately 7,000 persons Saturday night attended the eighth annual Pageant of Champions show presented at Dietz Memorial Stadium under sponsorship of The Criterions, well-known local drum and bugle corps.

First award went to the Amboy Dukes of Perth Amboy, N. J., who scored a mark of 83:833. Second place winners was the unit of Carver Gay Blades of Newark, N. J., with a score of 83:116.

Other winners were: Sunrisers, of Long Island, third, with a score of 79:766; Jersey Devils, of Bordentown, N. J., fourth, 79:95; Kingsmen, Fitchburg, Mass., fifth, 77:316; Lambertsville Volunteers, of Lambertsville, N. J., sixth, 71:216.

The Bon Bon Girls, all girl corps of Audubon, N. J. provided a colorful exhibition during the intermission. Dick McCarthy, local newscaster served as master of ceremonies and announcer.

Gulf Widens on President

Has Little Success Trying To Span Business, Government

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is attempting one of the most difficult bridge-building jobs of recent years, and, so far, having very little success.

The President is trying to span the gulf between business and government, even as events in Wall Street and his own fiscal and economic policies cause the gulf to widen.

Unquestionably, one of the biggest obstacles facing Kennedy is the suspicion of the federal government shared by a great many businessmen. This suspicion has deep roots and may never be dispelled, but it can be reduced.

Evidence of this was supplied last Thursday in a little-noted address at the Brookings Institution by Undersecretary of Commerce Edward Gudeman, a former vice president of Sears, Roebuck and Co. Gudeman discussed government-business relations.

Similar Situation

"If someone had written this speech for me two years ago," said Gudeman, "I would have rejected it. I realize now that when I was part of top management of a major American enterprise, I was rather insulated from the total national economic and political scene. I wonder whether this is not the case for many American business leaders."

Some may discount Gudeman's statement of a change of attitude because he is a Democrat working for a Democratic administration. However, his experience is not unique.

The Atlantic Monthly, a decade ago, published a Boston Republican's account of a similar change of attitude after 10 months of service in the State Department during the Truman Administration. Thomas D. Cabot, a former president of United Fruit Co., wrote that he went to Washington "full of criticism and left full of admiration."

Must See From Inside

Even in the tax area—one of the most sensitive points of contact between business and government—business suspicion can be lessened when executives are exposed to the inner workings of the tax system.

A special advisory group of prominent businessmen, tax attorneys and accountants meets four times a year with the commissioner of internal revenue to discuss broad tax problems. One such meeting was held last week.

A newsman asked members of the group to assess these meetings. All who were questioned agreed that the session had reduced their own suspicion of IRS. They said the revenue service had shown a willingness to accept suggestions. Equally important, it had demonstrated that questions of tax policy are resolved only after thorough and rational discussion.

Experience Limited

One member of the advisory group is Dana Latham, a Republican attorney from Los Angeles who was IRS commissioner in the last two years of the Eisenhower administration. Latham said meetings show IRS officials are "not just an arbitrary bunch of so-and-so's sitting here making decisions in a vacuum."

Kennedy can draw encouragement from the words of Gudeman, Cabot and Latham. At the same time, their testimony is discouraging because it suggests that business suspicions may be reduced significantly only through first-hand experience. Only a small minority of businessmen can expect to receive such experience.

Cancer Crusade Reports Fund $7,000 Over Quota

Preliminary figures indicate that the Ulster County Cancer Crusade for 1962 will surpass it's quota of $25,000 set by the New York State Division, by a sizable margin.

While final tabulations are not complete, a total of $32,005 has been collected to date, with contributions still coming in, it was reported today by Mrs. John C. Salapatis and Frank Hommel, co-chairmen.

In listing the breakdown of these figures, Mrs. Salapatis and Mr. Hommel expressed sincerest thanks on behalf of the American Cancer Society to all those who helped to make this year's drive the most successful in the history of the local Cancer Society. "This victory was made possible through the splendid cooperation which our countless volunteers have so willingly given," said Mrs. Salapatis. "I wish it were possible to list the numerous outstanding workers, but for fear of excluding someone, I would like to extend heartfelt appreciation to all for contributing so magnificently to our vital program of cancer control."

Of the local amount, 34 per cent is applied to the Society's National Research program and

Sponsoring Agencies Announce That 15,121 in County Get Chest X-rays

It has been announced that 15,121 Ulster County residents took advantage of the 1962 free chest X-ray survey which concluded Friday, June 15. The directors and staff of the sponsoring agencies have expressed the feeling that this has been a "successful campaign" and that the response was "good."

The members of the sponsoring agencies that developed the survey plans were: E. Franklin Hall, MD, health commissioner, Ulster County Department of Health; Miss Esther A. Schisa, RN, director of Public Health Nurses, Ulster County Department of Health; Herbert F. Schwartz, MD, medical director, Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital; Miss Hazel M. Steed, RN, executive director, Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc. Working with them from the New York State Department of Health, were Dr. Henry H. Shultz, director of the Bureau of Tuberculosis Case Findings, Miss Barbara L. Kahn, health educator with the Division of Chronic Diseases Services and Cyrus E. Shelhamer, assistant supervisor of X-ray Services.

"This successful survey of the entire county has been made possible by the enthusiastic participation of 1,092 individual volunteers and the leadership given by chairmen in the towns and city wards, and the interest and cooperation of many organizations. In addition to these we are indebted to the electric companies, fire departments and volunteer fire companies as well as municipal governing bodies that cooperatend in making space available and to the press and radio for making people aware of the survey." This expression came from the coordinator of the survey, Miss Hazel M. Steed, RN, executive director of the TB and Health Association.

There was unaccustomed peace within Algiers.

Groups of Moslems emerged from their barricaded quarters and mixed with Europeans in some parts of the city. Half-tracks loaded with troops stood by for any emergency while helicopters hovered over the city.

Head for France

Despite a secret army appeal to the Europeans to unite with the Moslems "to renovate the Algerian fatherland," crowds of settlers besieged airline offices again today for passage to France before independence."

"We will come back later if all is well," said some.

"The news from Algiers must be heard with caution," the secret army in Oran said of the announced agreement with the Moslem National Liberation Front (FLN.) "For the moment we do not have enough information to make any comment. We are keeping intact our means of action."

Officers Hiding

Most of the deserter colonels forming the secret army's military command are hiding in the Oran area. In recent weeks they obviously have been acting independently of the Algiers group which carried on the negotiations with the Moslems.

The Algiers order called for a halt to arson and murder as of midnight. This secret army broadcast followed separate announcements by the FLN and the Algiers extremists Sunday that they were

Grandfathers Started Feud

Kennedy, Lodge Begin Race for Senate Seat

By CORNELIUS F. HURLEY

BOSTON (AP)—The latest Lodge-Kennedy battle in a political feud which started more than 40 years ago was on today. Once again the goal is a seat in the U. S. Senate.

Lodge, 34, is the son of Henry Cabot Lodge, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Kennedy, 30, is the youngest brother of President Kennedy, who once held the seat coming up in the November election.

The President first won the seat in 1952 when he defeated Henry Cabot Lodge. Eight years later Lodge again was on the losing side as the Republican vice-presidential nominee in the 1960 national election.

First Bout

The first bout between the families was years ago when the grandfathers of the President and Henry Cabot Lodge competed for the Senate. Henry Cabot Lodge Sr. won that time, defeating John F. Fitzgerald.

Both Lodge and Kennedy may have primary opposition.

State Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., defeated by Kennedy at the Democratic convention, is circulating nomination papers to enter the Sept. 18 party primary. He is a nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack.

Lodge won the endorsement by defeating U.S. Rep. Laurence Curtis, whose House district was eliminated when Massachusetts lost two of its 14 seats as a result of the 1960 cenus.

Curtis to Decide

Curtis, 69, said he will decide in a few days whether to enter the primary. Lodge's victory was by an 88-vote margin, 936-848.

There is another candidate for the Senate seat—another famous name entry. H. Stuart Hughes, a Harvard University history professor and a grandson of the late chief justice of the United States, Charles Evans Hughes, has announced as an independent.

Gov. John A. Volpe was endorsed by the Republicans by acclamation for renomination for a second term.

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP) — There's another secret Air Force satellite aloft.

The Air Force announced that a satellite was launched into orbit here Sunday by an Atlas-Agena B rocket combination. No other details were given.

Keogh Lawyers Plan Appeal of 'Fix' Conviction

NEW YORK (AP) — Attorneys for State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh are laying plans to appeal the jurist's conviction with two others on charges of taking part in a $35,000-bribe plot to fix a federal court bankruptcy fraud case.

Keough, former chief asst. U.S. Atty. Elliott Kahaner and labor racketeer Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo were found guilty Saturday night of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Kahaner, 36, and Corallo, 47, have remained silent about their plans.

Veteran of Bench

But Keogh, 56, a veteran of 12 years on the bench, declared immediately after the federal court jury announced its verdict that his attorneys "will press my appeal from this unjust conviction as soon as possible."

"I am innocent—nothing anyone can do or say will change that fact," Keogh told newsmen.

His status as a State Supreme Court justice was expected to come up for an early review by the appellate division in Brooklyn.

Keogh has been drawing his $34,500 annual salary since his indictment last Dec. 7. He has been without court assignments since that time at his own request.

U.S. Dist. Judge Edward Weinfeld set July 17 for sentencing Keogh and the two others. Each man could be sentenced to prison for five years and be fined $10,000.

Keogh and Kahaner were con-

Drum Pageant Is Won by Amboy Dukes Saturday

Approximately 7,000 persons Saturday night attended the eighth annual Pageant of Champions show presented at Dietz Memorial Stadium under sponsorship of The Criterions, well-known local drum and bugle corps.

First award went to the Amboy Dukes of Perth Amboy, N. J., who scored a mark of 83:833. Second place winners was the unit of Carver Gay Blades of Newark, N. J., with a score of 83:116.

Other winners were: Sunrisers, of Long Island, third, with a score of 79:766; Jersey Devils, of Bordentown, N. J., fourth, 79:95; Kingsmen, Fitchburg, Mass., fifth, 77:316; Lambertsville Volunteers, of Lambertsville, N. J., sixth, 71:216.

The Bon Bon Girls, all girl corps of Audubon, N. J. provided a colorful exhibition during the intermission. Dick McCarthy, local newscaster served as master of ceremonies and announcer.

Casciaro Is Given Post on Local Planning Board

Mayor John J. Schwenk today annouced appointment of Frank L. Casciaro of 296 Flatbush Avenue to the Kingston Planning Board to succeed Frank E. Bourke, of 140 Wall Street, plant engineer at the Hercules Powder Co., Port Ewen, who recently resigned because he is due to join the company's engineering department in Wilmington, Del., in July.

A graduate of Kansas State College holding a BA degree, Casciaro is an associate of Roland A. Augustine, Inc., 225 Wall Street, in the insurance business. He served in the U. S. Navy from 1943 to 1946 and participated in the Okinawa campaign. He is an active member of American Legion Post 150 and of Ulster County Pomona Grange. He is a past treasurer of Huguenot Grange, New Paltz, and is a parishioner of St. Mary's Church. His term on the board continues to Feb. 5, 1965.

Mr. Casciaro came to Kingston from Kansas in 1940. He is married to the former Gloria Pagliaro. They have two sons five and two years old.

Has Little Success Trying To Span Business, Government

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is attempting one of the most difficult bridge-building jobs of recent years, and, so far, having very little success.

The President is trying to span the gulf between business and government, even as events in Wall Street and his own fiscal and economic policies cause the gulf to widen.

Unquestionably, one of the biggest obstacles facing Kennedy is the suspicion of the federal government shared by a great many businessmen. This suspicion has deep roots and may never be dispelled, but it can be reduced.

Evidence of this was supplied last Thursday in a little-noted address at the Brookings Institution by Undersecretary of Commerce Edward Gudeman, a former vice president of Sears, Roebuck and Co. Gudeman discussed government-business relations.

Similar Situation

"If someone had written this speech for me two years ago," said Gudeman, "I would have rejected it. I realize now that when I was part of top management of a major American enterprise, I was rather insulated from the total national economic and political scene. I wonder whether this is not the case for many American business leaders."

Some may discount Gudeman's statement of a change of attitude because he is a Democrat working for a Democratic administration. However, his experience is not unique.

The Atlantic Monthly, a decade ago, published a Boston Republican's account of a similar change of attitude after 10 months of service in the State Department during the Truman Administration. Thomas D. Cabot, a former president of United Fruit Co., wrote that he went to Washington "full of criticism and left full of admiration."

Must See From Inside

Even in the tax area—one of the most sensitive points of contact between business and government—business suspicion can be lessened when executives are exposed to the inner workings of the tax system.

A special advisory group of prominent businessmen, tax attorneys and accountants meets four times a year with the commissioner of internal revenue to discuss broad tax problems. One such meeting was held last week.

A newsman asked members of the group to assess these meetings. All who were questioned agreed that the session had reduced their own suspicion of IRS. They said the revenue service had shown a willingness to accept suggestions. Equally important, it had demonstrated that questions of tax policy are resolved only after thorough and rational discussion.

Experience Limited

One member of the advisory group is Dana Latham, a Republican attorney from Los Angeles who was IRS commissioner in the last two years of the Eisenhower administration. Latham said meetings show IRS officials are "not just an arbitrary bunch of so-and-so's sitting here making decisions in a vacuum."

Kennedy can draw encouragement from the words of Gudeman, Cabot and Latham. At the same time, their testimony is discouraging because it suggests that business suspicions may be reduced significantly only through first-hand experience. Only a small minority of businessmen can expect to receive such experience.

Cancer Crusade Reports Fund $7,000 Over Quota

Preliminary figures indicate that the Ulster County Cancer Crusade for 1962 will surpass it's quota of $25,000 set by the New York State Division, by a sizable margin.

While final tabulations are not complete, a total of $32,005 has been collected to date, with contributions still coming in, it was reported today by Mrs. John C. Salapatis and Frank Hommel, co-chairmen.

In listing the breakdown of these figures, Mrs. Salapatis and Mr. Hommel expressed sincerest thanks on behalf of the American Cancer Society to all those who helped to make this year's drive the most successful in the history of the local Cancer Society. "This victory was made possible through the splendid cooperation which our countless volunteers have so willingly given," said Mrs. Salapatis. "I wish it were possible to list the numerous outstanding workers, but for fear of excluding someone, I would like to extend heartfelt appreciation to all for contributing so magnificently to our vital program of cancer control."

Of the local amount, 34 per cent is applied to the Society's National Research program and

Sponsoring Agencies Announce That 15,121 in County Get Chest X-rays

It has been announced that 15,121 Ulster County residents took advantage of the 1962 free chest X-ray survey which concluded Friday, June 15. The directors and staff of the sponsoring agencies have expressed the feeling that this has been a "successful campaign" and that the response was "good."

The members of the sponsoring agencies that developed the survey plans were: E. Franklin Hall, MD, health commissioner, Ulster County Department of Health; Miss Esther A. Schisa, RN, director of Public Health Nurses, Ulster County Department of Health; Herbert F. Schwartz, MD, medical director, Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital; Miss Hazel M. Steed, RN, executive director, Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc. Working with them from the New York State Department of Health, were Dr. Henry H. Shultz, director of the Bureau of Tuberculosis Case Findings, Miss Barbara L. Kahn, health educator with the Division of Chronic Diseases Services and Cyrus E. Shelhamer, assistant supervisor of X-ray Services.

"This successful survey of the entire county has been made possible by the enthusiastic participation of 1,092 individual volunteers and the leadership given by chairmen in the towns and city wards, and the interest and cooperation of many organizations. In addition to these we are indebted to the electric companies, fire departments and volunteer fire companies as well as municipal governing bodies that cooperated in making space available and to the press and radio for making people aware of the survey." This expression came from the coordinator of the survey, Miss Hazel M. Steed, RN, executive director of the TB and Health Association.

Assisting the coordinator were three part-time workers em-

Prince Arrives For Coalition Talks in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma arrived today to take up with the king a last-minute hitch in plans to install his new coalition regime. The installation was scheduled for this morning but now propably will be delayed at least 24 hours.

Informed sources said the premier-designate may refuse to go ahead with any installation ceremony at all unless a royal decree is modified to eliminate reference to the pro-Western National Assembly.

Delayed by Rain

Souvanna was not even accompanied by his half-brother Souphanouvong, the pro-Communist prince who will be a deputy premier. Souphanouvong was reported to be in Hanoi, capital of Communist North Viet Nam, but is expected back Tuesday.

Souvanna, the French-educated former premier of Laos, was delayed seven hours by driving rains that flooded the airstrip at his headquarters on the Plaine des Jarres in east-central Laos.

Informed sources said Souvanna objected to a provision in King Savang Vathana's installation decree noting that the National Assembly had approved the coalition agreement.

Souvanna is reported to argue that the assembly action last weekend should not be mentioned because he and his pro-Communist allies refuse to recognize the assembly. The assembly is controlled by Premier Prince Boun Oum's government, which is bowing out.

Oum Quits Politics

Boun Oum's strong right arm, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, will remain in the coalition as a deputy premier but Boun Oum is quitting politics.

Informed sources who flew in with Souvanna said the prince and Souphanouvong went together to Hanoi after signing the colaition agreement last Tuesday. They did not say why the trip was made.

Whether the trip to Hanoi, which has been heavily supporting Souphanouvong's Pathet Lao rebels, had anything to do with the new objections raised by Souvanna was not learned.

Arson, Bomb

New Future Promised

Through Dr. Chewki Mostefai, FLN representative in the provisional Algierian executive, the Moslem nationalists promised an amnesty for the secret army terrorists who have killed an estimated 2,000 Moslems in the year or more that they have been operating. European settlers were promised a new future in the Moslem-led Algieria that will emerge from a referendum July 1.

Details of the agreement still must be worked out. The secret army broadcast called on the terrorist commandos to remain vigilant while holding their fire. "We have been cheated many times in the past," the announcer said.

At Montbeliard, France, touring President Charles de Gaulle called the announcement "a decisive day for an agreement between the two communities, Moslem and Christian."

Nothing Common

But in Paris, Marc Laurol, a deputy from Algiers and often a spokesman for right-wing Europeans, told newsmen, "I can tell you that I have nothing in common with what has just taken place in Algieria."

A former medical student, Jean-Jacques Susini, 28, represented the secret army in the negotiations. It was reported that Susini, Algerian-born, had the backing of at least two deserter colonels, Yves Godart and Jean Gardes.

Weary and tense Europeans were uncertain as to what attitude they should adopt.

Some felt Mostefai's announcement was not enough. They wanted a pledge by the nationalist government in exile in Tunis.

There was no immediate statement from the Tunis leaders.

Cancer Crusade

4 per cent to its national medical training project. Eleven per cent goes to the national office for development of programs and materials. Another large share is returned to the county for local work toward early detection of cancer.

County Firemen Answer 4 Calls

Firemen in area districts answered four calls over the weekend, but no serious damage was reported.

The Fire Control Center reported Binnewater firemen quelled a dump fire before 6 p. m. Saturday. Glasco firemen answered a call at 11:02 a. m., Sunday for a brush fire at Samsonville, and Spring Lake firemen extinguished a brush fire, which was reported at 2:53 p. m. Sunday.

East Kingston firemen were called out at 10:18 a. m. today for an oil space heater fire, which caused no damage.

Cases in County Court Before Judge R. J. Mino

A plea of guilty to the second of a two-count indictment was entered by Joseph Ruzzo in County court today before County Judge Raymond J. Mino. The plea was to a charge of allowing premises to be used for gambing. Frank Campochiaro appeared for Ruzzo who paid a $500 fine. The act alleged in the indictment was from November 1, 1961 to December 15, 1961.

Allen Walker, who is presently serving a 5 to 10 year sentence in Clinton State Prison at Dannemora on a forgery charge, entered a plea of guilty to forging a $40 check at the Huguenot National Bank of New Paltz in June 1961, and in view of the fact that he is already in prison, Judge Mino imposed a one year jail sentence and then suspended execution of that sentence. James Connelly appeared by assignment.

Trial of the Ronald William Van Steenburgh assault action was moved. Van Steenburgh is charged with stabbing his mother, Hazel Van Steenburgh of Town of Ulster last March. Matthew Weishaupt appears for defendant by assignment and after moving for selection of a jury, a recess of court was taken.

2 Ulster County Cows Included on Outstanding List

Two Ulster County registered Holsteins are included on the list of the Holstein-Friesian Association of American cows which have completed outstanding official production records. They are:

A Pleasant Valley cow, Ellbank Sensation Elizabeth, an 11-year old owned by the estate of Roy M. Wright, produced 18,400 pounds of mil and 686 pounds of butterfat in 318 days.

In contrast, the annual production of the average U.S. dairy cow is generally estimated at approximately 7,000 pounds of milk containing 265 pounds of butterfat. Weighing and testing of the new Holstein records as part of the breed's official herd testing program, is supervised by Cornell University.

Market Is Sent To Fairly Sharp Loss in Afternoon

NEW YORK (AP)—Profit-taking wiped out an early gain and sent the stock market to a fairly sharp loss this afternoon.

There was no particular news to influence the market.

At noon The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 1.80 to 212.30 and the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 5.81 to 572.37. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index declined .41 to 55.48.

Volume was heavy with two million shares being traded in the first two hours, compared with 2.16 million in the like period Friday. The ticker tape's reports of floor transactions were 12 minutes late at one point.

lege and Albany Law School.

He currently serves as chairman of the adult education committee of the State Bar Association; secretary of the Young Lawyers Section of the state association, and treasurer of Saugerties Bar Association. Brinnier served as county association vice president for the past three years.

Also elected were: Guido Napoletano of Kingston, vice president; George Beck of Kingston, reelected treasurer; Mrs. Catherine Carlson of Shokan, secretary.

Named directors were Philip Schunk of Highland; Harry Gold of Kingston, and Jules Ewig of Ellenville.

A resolution was passed citing Sam Gould, who served as Supreme Court stenographer for many years. George Beck presented a gift from the association and read the resolution.

The annual outing and steak roast was scheduled this afternoon at Twaalfskill Country Club under the supervision of N. Le Van Haver.

Sauer Sentenced Today, to Hear Cooper on 20th

One of two men charged with having forced their way into a Hurley Avenue apartment June 9 was sentanced in city court today and the other is due to appear before Judge Joseph D. Saccoman Wednesday.

Thomas Sauer, 20, of 7 Wiltwyck Avenue, was given a suspended sentence of six months in jail and was placed on probation indefinitely on the charge of unlawful intrusion. He was given the choice of paying a $100 fine or spending 30 days in jail on a charge of malicious mischief. The fine was due to be paid. Attorney William Curran appeared for Sauer.

Nailer Cooper, 21, of Box 375, Lake Katrine, who was booked on like charges, is to appear in court Wednesday.

It is charged that they entered the apartment at 19 Hurley Avenue early June 9 while Irene Leyden and Ann Slater were sleeping. Police said they broke a door in forcing their way into the apartment. They were arrested June 14 after an investigation by detectives Charles McCullough and Albert Hutton.

Other Cases

Ruth Sauter, 29, of 73 Hasbrouck Avenue, who was charged with disorderly conduct over the weekend, was given the choice of paying a fine of $100 or spending 25 days in jail. The fine was not paid. The charge was lodged by Virginia Appolonia, of Hasbrouck Avenue. She charged the defendant with having shouted at her and using abusive language on lower Hasbrouck Avenue.

Five of six men charged with public intoxication after a round-up by police on Railroad Avenue at or near the abandoned West Shore Railroad station, were given suspended sentances, and the fifth, a repeater, was sentenced to 20 days in jail. They were: Thomas Orr, 54, Glens Falls; James E. Roeder, 51, Brooklyn; Edmund Konrad, Amoria, Ill; James Cooney, 63, no address; Arthur Derby, 51, Amsterdam, N. Y. and Zigmund Zaleski, 54, of Sheldon, Conn. who drew the jail sentence. They were arrested by officer Sheldon O'Rourke. Officers Raymond Wells, Ira Hadsel, Thomas Carpino, and John Kennedy were dispatched to the area.

Andy Buzzanco, of 217 Abeel Street, charged with driving an uninspected vehicle, was fined $20, and fined $5 each were David Burger, 164 Fair Street, charged with a traffic light violation and Joseph Moreau, of Westbury, Conn. charged with a stop-sign infraction.

Realtors Board Meets Thursday At Gov. Clinton

The Ulster County Board of Realtors will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday in the Governor Clinton Hotel at 7:30 p. m. Raymond Korzendorfer will preside.

The nominating committee will make its report for the officers for 1962-63. Committee members are Benson Krom, chairman, Lawrence MacAvery and Frederick Dircks.

There will be many matters of importance to all members. Therefore, Korzendorfer urges them to make a special effort to attend this meeting. It will be the last meeting until Sept. 21.

Election of officers will be held in September and plans for the 41st installation dinner will also be made at the September meeting. The dinner will be held in October. Committees will be appointed by the president.

Guest Speaker Is Slated at Shokan Church

Frank S. Meyer of Woodstock, will deliver an address The Reality of Communism—The Illusion of Coexistence, at the Shokan Reformed Church Sunday 8 p. m. Meyer, a former member of the Communist Party has addressed many of the leading universities on this subject. He is also an author, one of his books being The Moulding of Communists. His latest book In Defense of Freedom is now being published.

At the conclusion of his address, Meyer will open the meeting for questions pertaining to the topic. Invitations are extended to all posts of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, all civic and religious groups as well as the general public.

The meeting will be informal. As the seating capacity of the church is limited, it is suggested that either reservations be made in advance or those attending come early. For further information or for reservations, the Rev. Osterhoudt Phillips, pastor, Shokan, the church study may be contacted.

CAMILLE VALENZANO

Wallace's Names Woman to Post At Local Store

Announcement of the appointment of Camille M. Valenzano to the position of accessories supervisor of Wallace's in Kingston has been officially made by the Poughkeepsie Department store.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Valenzano and their daughter Margaret, 7, reside on Groff Street, Kingston.

Mrs. Valenzano is a member of the Ulster County Arts Association and exhibits her paintings locally.

Kingston Pageant Is Only Official New York Prelim

The Miss New York State Pageant conducted here July 5, 6 and 7 is the only official preliminary of the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City at which Miss New York State is selected.

This announcement was made today by Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and coordinator for the 1962 Miss New York State Pageant in answer to numerous recent inquiries.

"Many other groups try to capitalize on the publicity and favorable public acceptance of the Miss New York State Pageant by using the same title for contests conducted as part of other national titles," Kurdt stated.

In all of New York State, except New York City, the local Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce are the only ones which hold the franchise for conducting the official Miss New York State Pageant. Each organization named six representatives and the twelve individuals constitute the board or directors, with full authority to plan, arrange for financing and conduct the State Pageant. The local board in turn issues official franchises to a specific territory on application from some responsible organization. Only local groups which have been issued a franchise contract can conduct an official preliminary pageant or contest and send a contestant to the State Pageant here.

Because of the high plane and dignified manner in which all local and State Pageants must be conducted to qualify for a franchise from Atlantic City," Kurdt continued and concluded by saying, "This is the reason why the board of directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce agreed to join with the Junior Chamber of Commerce and apply to Atlantic City for the 1962 State franchise. If a satisfactory pageant is conducted, and adequately supported to cover necessary expenses, the chances are that the Seate franchise will be awarded to Kingston again for 1963."

Lutheran Unit Due At Poughkeepsie

Lutheran Brotherhood's mobile unit will be in Poughkeepsie June 20.

Displays and film which it carries will be shown at First Evangelical Lutheran Church, Mill-Catherine Streets at 8 p. m. according to Donald E. Bond, Scotia, Lutheran Brotherhood general agent.

The mobile unit, a Greenbrier, is making a trip across America to acquaint members of the fraternal life insurance society with the fraternal and benevolence activities of Lutheran Brotherhood.

Accompanying it is Robert Friest, an assistant in the fraternal activities department of Lutheran Brotherhood in Minneapolis.

Pack 12 Visits Bronx Zoo, Meeting Sunday

Five Cub Scouts from Den Two Pack 12 of the Old Dutch Church visited the Bronx Zoo Sunday.

The scouts were Stephan Sharot, Stephan Temple, William Welsh, John Harris and Joseph Kovacs. Michael Marnell and Dana Stingel, new members to be inducted into the pack in the near future, also visited the zoo with Pack 12. The Cub Scouts were accompanied by Mrs. Richard Scism, den mother and Richard Scism, den dad. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stingel also served as chaperones.

All were reported to have had an enjoyable trip.

Pack 12 will hold its June meeting Sunday at 1:30 p. m. at Hutton Park. It was reported that a good turnout is antipated.

Light Vote Is Anticipated in Maine Primary

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Maine citizens vote today in primaries which offer three contests for major nominations, as well as a $1.5-million bond issue referendum which would, if approved, put the state in the educational television field.

The nomination fight that has offered the most interest is between the two Republican congressmen who seek to represent the new enlarged 1st District.

Rep. Stanley R. Tupper, a moderate whose present 2nd District is being eliminated through reapportionment, faces conservative Peter A. Garland, of the present 1st District. Both are first-term congressmen.

Gubernatorial Race

Democrats Richard J. Dubord of Waterville and Maynard C. Dolloff of Augusta are opponents for their party's gubernatorial nomination, with the winner taking on Republican Gov. John H. Reed, who is unopposed in the GOP primary.

Dubord, an attorney who is Democratic national committeeman for Maine, is expected to get the vote of many of the state's Franco-Americans. Dolloff, a former state Grange master and former chairman of the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation, is expected to do well in rural areas and in communities where organized labor is strong.

The 1st District's other contest is between Democrats Clyde Bartlett of South Portland, an elementary school principal; and Thomas L. Maynard of Portland, a former teacher who is now a mutual funds salesman.

Drivers Charged After Collisions On State Thruway

Two motorists were summoned by State Police on charges of changing lanes unsafely as the result of motor vehicle collisions which occurred over the weekend on the State Thruway.

Troopers said cars operated by John Vincent Chiarmonte, 35, of Nutley, N. J., and Robert Leonard Spanyol, 17, of Gloversville, collided at 4:20 p. m. Saturday on the Thruway near the Town of Rosendale.

Troopers reported Chiaramonte was going south and Spanyol was driving in the same direction and attempted to pass the other vehicle, when the accident occurred. Chiaramonte lost control and his vehicle left the pavement and overturned.

Spanyol was charged with changing lanes unsafely.

Chiaramonte's wife, Rosemary and daughters, Susan, 9, and Linda, 6, were taken to Kingston Hospital in Fatum's ambulance, and treated for bruises and contusions.

At 9:20 p. m. Sunday, cars operated by Felix Millard Huber, 65, of Irvington, N. J., and Mrs. Emily Rose Hampl, 46, of North Merrick, were involved in a collision on the Thruway, Town of Ulster.

Troopers said Huber was driving a 1957 sedan south on the highway, when he noticed a bus. He applied the brakes and the car skidded into the path of the Hampl car. Huber was summoned on a charge of changing lanes unsafely.

Has One Charge Pending, Held for Second Burglary

Robert J. Fenton, 17, of West Hurley, awaiting trial for a series of charges including burglary, was apprehended by Kingston state police Sunday morning and charged with burglary for again entering the same home in Woodstock.

Fenton was committed to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail pending examination before Town of Ulster Justice of the Peace Robert Stedge at 4 o'clock this afternoon. He is charged with burglarly, first degree for entering the home of Mrs. Rosalind Woodin of Woodstock.

Prince Arrives For Coalition Talks in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma arrived today to take up with the king a last-minute hitch in plans to install his new coalition regime. The installation was scheduled for this morning but now propably will be delayed at least 24 hours.

Informed sources said the premier-designate may refuse to go ahead with any installation ceremony at all unless a royal decree is modified to eliminate reference to the pro-Western National Assembly.

Delayed by Rain

Souvanna was not even accompanied by his half-brother Souphanouvong, the pro-Communist prince who will be a deputy premier. Souphanouvong was reported to be in Hanoi, capital of Communist North Viet Nam, but is expected back Tuesday.

Souvanna, the French-educated former premier of Laos, was delayed seven hours by driving rains that flooded the airstrip at his headquarters on the Plaine des Jarres in east-central Laos.

Informed sources said Souvanna objected to a provision in King Savang Vathana's installation decree noting that the National Assembly had approved the coalition agreement.

Souvanna is reported to argue that the assembly action last weekend should not be mentioned because he and his pro-Communist allies refuse to recognize the assembly. The assembly is controlled by Premier Prince Boun Oum's government, which is bowing out.

Oum Quits Politics

Boun Oum's strong right arm, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, will remain in the coalition as a deputy premier but Boun Oum is quitting politics.

Informed sources who flew in with Souvanna said the prince and Souphanouvong went together to Hanoi after signing the colaition agreement last Tuesday. They did not say why the trip was made.

Whether the trip to Hanoi, which has been heavily supporting Souphanouvong's Pathet Lao rebels, had anything to do with the new objections raised by Souvanna was not learned.

Arson, Bomb

New Future Promised

Through Dr. Chewki Mostefai, FLN representative in the provisional Algierian executive, the Moslem nationalists promised an amnesty for the secret army terrorists who have killed an estimated 2,000 Moslems in the year or more that they have been operating. European settlers were promised a new future in the Moslem-led Algieria that will emerge from a referendum July 1.

Details of the agreement still must be worked out. The secret army broadcast called on the terrorist commandos to remain vigilant while holding their fire. "We have been cheated many times in the past," the announcer said.

At Montbeliard, France, touring President Charles de Gaulle called the announcement "a decisive day for an agreement between the two communities, Moslem and Christian."

Nothing Common

But in Paris, Marc Laurol, a deputy from Algiers and often a spokesman for right-wing Europeans, told newsmen, "I can tell you that I have nothing in common with what has just taken place in Algieria."

A former medical student, Jean-Jacques Susini, 28, represented the secret army in the negotiations. It was reported that Susini, Algerian-born, had the backing of at least two deserter colonels, Yves Godart and Jean Gardes.

Weary and tense Europeans were uncertain as to what attitude they should adopt.

Some felt Mostefai's announcement was not enough. They wanted a pledge by the nationalist government in exile in Tunis.

There was no immediate statement from the Tunis leaders.

County Firemen Answer 4 Calls

Firemen in area districts answered four calls over the weekend, but no serious damage was reported.

The Fire Control Center reported Binnewater firemen quelled a dump fire before 6 p. m. Saturday. Glasco firemen answered a call at 11:02 a. m., Sunday for a brush fire at Samsonville, and Spring Lake firemen extinguished a brush fire, which was reported at 2:53 p. m. Sunday.

East Kingston firemen were called out at 10:18 a. m. today for an oil space heater fire, which caused no damage.

Cases in County Court Before Judge R. J. Mino

A plea of guilty to the second of a two-count indictment was entered by Joseph Ruzzo in County court today before County Judge Raymond J. Mino. The plea was to a charge of allowing premises to be used for gambing. Frank Campochiaro appeared for Ruzzo who paid a $500 fine. The act alleged in the indictment was from November 1, 1961 to December 15, 1961.

Allen Walker, who is presently serving a 5 to 10 year sentence in Clinton State Prison at Dannemora on a forgery charge, entered a plea of guilty to forging a $40 check at the Huguenot National Bank of New Paltz in June 1961, and in view of the fact that he is already in prison, Judge Mino imposed a one year jail sentence and then suspended execution of that sentence. James Connelly appeared by assignment.

Trial of the Ronald William Van Steenburgh assault action was moved. Van Steenburgh is charged with stabbing his mother, Hazel Van Steenburgh of Town of Ulster last March. Matthew Weishaupt appears for defendant by assignment and after moving for selection of a jury, a recess of court was taken.

2 Ulster County Cows Included on Outstanding List

Two Ulster County registered Holsteins are included on the list of the Holstein-Friesian Association of American cows which have completed outstanding official production records. They are:

A Pleasant Valley cow, Ellbank Sensation Elizabeth, an 11-year old owned by the estate of Roy M. Wright, produced 18,400 pounds of mil and 686 pounds of butterfat in 318 days.

In contrast, the annual production of the average U.S. dairy cow is generally estimated at approximately 7,000 pounds of milk containing 265 pounds of butterfat. Weighing and testing of the new Holstein records as part of the breed's official herd testing program, is supervised by Cornell University.

Market Is Sent To Fairly Sharp Loss in Afternoon

NEW YORK (AP)—Profit-taking wiped out an early gain and sent the stock market to a fairly sharp loss this afternoon.

There was no particular news to influence the market.

At noon The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 1.80 to 212.30 and the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 5.81 to 572.37. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index declined .41 to 55.48.

Volume was heavy with two million shares being traded in the first two hours, compared with 2.16 million in the like period Friday. The ticker tape's reports of floor transactions were 12 minutes late at one point.

Sauer Sentenced Today, to Hear Cooper on 20th

One of two men charged with having forced their way into a Hurley Avenue apartment June 9 was sentanced in city court today and the other is due to appear before Judge Joseph D. Saccoman Wednesday.

Thomas Sauer, 20, of 7 Wiltwyck Avenue, was given a suspended sentence of six months in jail and was placed on probation indefinitely on the charge of unlawful intrusion. He was given the choice of paying a $100 fine or spending 30 days in jail on a charge of malicious mischief. The fine was due to be paid. Attorney William Curran appeared for Sauer.

Nailer Cooper, 21, of Box 375, Lake Katrine, who was booked on like charges, is to appear in court Wednesday.

It is charged that they entered the apartment at 19 Hurley Avenue early June 9 while Irene Leyden and Ann Slater were sleeping. Police said they broke a door in forcing their way into the apartment. They were arrested June 14 after an investigation by detectives Charles McCullough and Albert Hutton.

Other Cases

Ruth Sauter, 29, of 73 Hasbrouck Avenue, who was charged with disorderly conduct over the weekend, was given the choice of paying a fine of $100 or spending 25 days in jail. The fine was not paid. The charge was lodged by Virginia Appolonia, of Hasbrouck Avenue. She charged the defendant with having shouted at her and using abusive language on lower Hasbrouck Avenue.

Five of six men charged with public intoxication after a round-up by police on Railroad Avenue at or near the abandoned West Shore Railroad station, were given suspended sentances, and the fifth, a repeater, was sentenced to 20 days in jail. They were: Thomas Orr, 54, Glens Falls; James E. Roeder, 51, Brooklyn; Edmund Konrad, Amoria, Ill; James Cooney, 63, no address; Arthur Derby, 51, Amsterdam, N. Y. and Zigmund Zaleski, 54, of Sheldon, Conn. who drew the jail sentence. They were arrested by officer Sheldon O'Rourke. Officers Raymond Wells, Ira Hadsel, Thomas Carpino, and John Kennedy were dispatched to the area.

Andy Buzzanco, of 217 Abeel Street, charged with driving an uninspected vehicle, was fined $20, and fined $5 each were David Burger, 164 Fair Street, charged with a traffic light violation and Joseph Moreau, of Westbury, Conn. charged with a stop-sign infraction.

Kingston Pageant Is Only Official New York Prelim

The Miss New York State Pageant conducted here July 5, 6 and 7 is the only official preliminary of the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City at which Miss New York State is selected.

This announcement was made today by Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and coordinator for the 1962 Miss New York State Pageant in answer to numerous recent inquiries.

"Many other groups try to capitalize on the publicity and favorable public acceptance of the Miss New York State Pageant by using the same title for contests conducted as part of other national titles," Kurdt stated.

In all of New York State, except New York City, the local Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce are the only ones which hold the franchise for conducting the official Miss New York State Pageant. Each organization named six representatives and the twelve individuals constitute the board or directors, with full authority to plan, arrange for financing and conduct the State Pageant. The local board in turn issues official franchises to a specific territory on application from some responsible organization. Only local groups which have been issued a franchise contract can conduct an official preliminary pageant or contest and send a contestant to the State Pageant here.

Because of the high plane and dignified manner in which all local and State Pageants must be conducted to qualify for a franchise from Atlantic City," Kurdt continued and concluded by saying, "This is the reason why the board of directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce agreed to join with the Junior Chamber of Commerce and apply to Atlantic City for the 1962 State franchise. If a satisfactory pageant is conducted, and adequately supported to cover necessary expenses, the chances are that the Seate franchise will be awarded to Kingston again for 1963."

Light Vote Is Anticipated in Maine Primary

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Maine citizens vote today in primaries which offer three contests for major nominations, as well as a $1.5-million bond issue referendum which would, if approved, put the state in the educational television field.

Election officials expect a light vote—less than 100,000.

The nomination fight that has offered the most interest is between the two Republican congressmen who seek to represent the new enlarged 1st District.

Rep. Stanley R. Tupper, a moderate whose present 2nd District is being eliminated through reapportionment, faces conservative Peter A. Garland, of the present 1st District. Both are first-term congressmen.

Gubernatorial Race

Democrats Richard J. Dubord of Waterville and Maynard C. Dolloff of Augusta are opponents for their party's gubernatorial nomination, with the winner taking on Republican Gov. John H. Reed, who is unopposed in the GOP primary.

Dubord, an attorney who is Democratic national committeeman for Maine, is expected to get the vote of many of the state's Franco-Americans. Dolloff, a former state Grange master and former chairman of the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation, is expected to do well in rural areas and in communities where organized labor is strong.

The 1st District's other contest is between Democrats Clyde Bartlett of South Portland, an elementary school principal; and Thomas L. Maynard of Portland, a former teacher who is now a mutual funds salesman.

Drivers Charged After Collisions On State Thruway

Two motorists were summoned by State Police on charges of changing lanes unsafely as the result of motor vehicle collisions which occurred over the weekend on the State Thruway.

Troopers said cars operated by John Vincent Chiarmonte, 35, of Nutley, N. J., and Robert Leonard Spanyol, 17, of Gloversville, collided at 4:20 p. m. Saturday on the Thruway near the Town of Rosendale.

Troopers reported Chiaramonte was going south and Spanyol was driving in the same direction and attempted to pass the other vehicle, when the accident occurred. Chiaramonte lost control and his vehicle left the pavement and overturned.

Spanyol was charged with changing lanes unsafely.

Chiaramonte's wife, Rosemary and daughters, Susan, 9, and Linda, 6, were taken to Kingston Hospital in Fatum's ambulance, and treated for bruises and contusions.

At 9:20 p. m. Sunday, cars operated by Felix Millard Huber, 65, of Irvington, N. J., and Mrs. Emily Rose Hampl, 46, of North Merrick, were involved in a collision on the Thruway, Town of Ulster.

Troopers said Huber was driving a 1957 sedan south on the highway, when he noticed a bus. He applied the brakes and the car skidded into the path of the Hampl car. Huber was summoned on a charge of changing lanes unsafely.

Has One Charge Pending, Held for Second Burglary

Robert J. Fenton, 17, of West Hurley, awaiting trial for a series of charges including burglary, was apprehended by Kingston state police Sunday morning and charged with burglary for again entering the same home in Woodstock.

Fenton was committed to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail pending examination before Town of Ulster Justice of the Peace Robert Stedge at 4 o'clock this afternoon. He is charged with burglarly, first degree for entering the home of Mrs. Rosalind Woodin of Woodstock.

In February, Fenton was indicted by the grand jury on charges of first degree burglary, attempted rape, first degree, and second degree assault, in connection with an alleged forced entry in the Woodin home on January 16. The case in county court this morning was adjourned until 10 a. m. Monday.

Education Board Holding Special Session Tuesday

Members of the Kingston School District Consolidated Board of Education will meet in special session Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

A report of Zale Liese, transportation supervisor, will be submitted, resignations and appointments will be considered, and a proposed change of the offices of the Board from Kingston High School to George Washington School, will be discussed.

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Franklin Hazard said the board also will consider a proposal for use of school playgrounds after school is closed, and reports of the building committee will be submitted for consideration.

Possible reductions in some items in nthe 1962-63 budget of $6,170,395 will be considered, and the budget adopted.

Four-Year-Old Struck by Auto Near Rosendale

Debra Coogan, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Coogan of Sawdust Road, Rosendale, struck by a car near her home Sunday night, was reported in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital.

Kingston state police reported she was struck by a car operated by Kenneth VanWagenen, 22 of RD 3, Box 171, Kingston.

Trooper Robert Mackey said VanWagenen was traveling west on Sawdust Road when the child ran from the sidewalk, hidden from view by a parked car, and dashed into the path of the Van Wagenen station wagon. She was taken to the hospital in Moylan's ambulance of Rosendale. Members of Binnewater Fire Company were also at the scene.

Troopers said the child suffered a bump on the rear of her head and possible fracture of the collar bone. The mishap occurred at 7:30 p. m. Dr. Anthony Tocco of Stone Ridge treated the child at the scene.

Reports Killing Dog For Ravaging Lambs

Harry Fowler, who operates Fowler Farm at Atwood reported to Kingston state police Sunday afternoon that he shot and killed a large dog which attacked his herd of sheep and chickens.

Fowler told Trooper William Whalen that he shot a dog owned by a neighbor, Eleanor Rucki of Vly Road, Atwood, with a .30-.30 rifle. He said the dog killed one of his spring lambs and a hen in the chicken yard.

Eighmey Receives Bachelors Degree

David W. Eighmey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Eighmey of 94 Highland Avenue, received his B. S. Degree from New Paltz State University at the annual commencement exercises on June 11.

The graduate will spend the summer as assistant camp director of the Rip Van Winkle Council Boy Scout Reservation in East Jewett, and in the fall will enter Schiff Scout Reservation for an intensified training course for professional scouting service.

Eighmey is an Eagle Scout, Silver Explorer rank, and is holder of the Vigil award, highest honor in the Order of The Arrow, national camping fraternity of the Boy Scouts of America. He is currently serving as assistant scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 6 of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church.

Two Are Injured In Crash, Driver Held on Charges

Two children were injured and a motorist was charged with drunken driving and operating an unregistered motor vehicle Saturday afternoon as the result of a two-car collision on Route 32, Town of Plattekill.

Highland troopers said Renee Roman, 25, of New York City, was driving a 1960 station wagon from a private driveway into Route 32, when the vehicle was in collision with a 1956 sedan operated by Joseph Gabby, 40, of Los Angeles, Calif.

Daniel Gabby, 6, and Ezra Gabbay, sons of one of the drivers, were injured, but not seriously, troopers said.

Troopers said Roman was charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated and operating an unregistered motor vehicle. He was committed to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $500 bail, pending a hearing Wednesday, before Justice of the Peace James F. Palen, Town of Plattekill.

Missing Taxicab Driver's Body Taken From River

A body recovered Saturday from the Hudson River off Milton by Highland State Police, was identified at 3:45 p. m. June 16 as Charles P. Guastella, 37, a Poughkeepsie taxicab driver, according to Ulster County Coroner Francis J. McCardle.

Coroner McCardle said the body was identified by an uncle of the victim, John Guastella, of Poughkeepsie. A wristwatch worn by the victim, aided in identification.

Authorities said Guastella was officially listed as missing by the Dutchess County sheriff's office last Dec. 29. The coroner said Guastella apparently walked along the Mid-Hudson Bridge on the day he disappeared and apparently leaped from the span into the river after removing his overcoat.

Coroner McCardle said Guastella died of apparent asphyxia due to submersion, and his death was listed as "apparent suicide." The body was taken to the Torsone Funeral Home, 218 Mill Street, Poughkeepsie.

2 Sides Expect Victory Today At Canada Polls

TORONTO (AP) — Both Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservatives and the opposition Liberals predict victory as Canadians vote today in their first national election in four years.

The Gallup poll and other surveys indicate an extremely close contest. A number of unknown factors—such as the strength of the minor parties—could have an important bearing on the results.

One possibility was the failure of either major party to get a clear majority of the 265 seats in the House of Commons. This would mean that the winner—Diefenbaker or Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson—could form a government only with the cooperation of the smaller parties.

Such a situation probably would result in a new election within a year, as happened after the Conservatives in 1957 ended 22 years of Liberal rule.

Both the 67-year-old prime minister and Pearson, 65-year-old Nobel Peace prize-winner, claimed their parties would get more than the 133 seats needed for a majority in the House.

T. C. (Tommy) Douglas, leader of the New Democratic party, maintained that the Conservative government would be ousted. It appeared certain that his party and the Social Credit party, headed by Robert Thompson, would register substantial gains over the eight seats now held by the two groups.

The key to the outcome seemed to be the size of the gains the Liberals will make in populous Quebec and Ontario provinces, which together hold 160 seats in the House. It is generally agreed that the Liberals will win back many of the seats they lost in the Conservative sweep in 1958.

The Conservatives had 203 seats in the last House. The Liberals had only 51.

The campaign has been fought mainly on economic issues, with unemployment and the government's recent devaluation of the Canadian dollar generating the most heat.

A record number of 9.8 million voters were eligible to take part in the election. Some observers doubt the turnout will be as good as in 1958, when 80 per cent of the registered voters went to the polls.

Escapes Injury

A Yonkers man escaped injury Sunday when his automobile struck and killed a deer on the Mountaindale-Spring Glen Road south of Ellenville. State police said Abram Langer, of Yonkers, was driving north on Route 209 when a deer leaped from the right side of the highway into the path of the 1962 vehicle.

Troopers said Roman was charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated and operating an unregistered motor vehicle. He was committed to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $500 bail, pending a hearing Wednesday, before Justice of the Peace James F. Palen, Town of Plattekill.

Missing Taxicab Driver's Body Taken From River

A body recovered Saturday from the Hudson River off Milton by Highland State Police, was identified at 3:45 p. m. June 16 as Charles P. Guastella, 37, a Poughkeepsie taxicab driver, according to Ulster County Coroner Francis J. McCardle.

Coroner McCardle said the body was identified by an uncle of the victim, John Guastella, of Poughkeepsie. A wristwatch worn by the victim, aided in identification.

Authorities said Guastella was officially listed as missing by the Dutchess County sheriff's office last Dec. 29. The coroner said Guastella apparently walked along the Mid-Hudson Bridge on the day he disappeared and apparently leaped from the span into the river after removing his overcoat.

Coroner McCardle said Guastella died of apparent asphyxia due to submersion, and his death was listed as "apparent suicide." The body was taken to the Torsone Funeral Home, 218 Mill Street, Poughkeepsie.

2 Sides Expect Victory Today At Canada Polls

TORONTO (AP) — Both Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservatives and the opposition Liberals predict victory as Canadians vote today in their first national election in four years.

The Gallup poll and other surveys indicate an extremely close contest. A number of unknown factors—such as the strength of the minor parties—could have an important bearing on the results.

One possibility was the failure of either major party to get a clear majority of the 265 seats in the House of Commons. This would mean that the winner—Diefenbaker or Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson—could form a government only with the cooperation of the smaller parties.

Such a situation probably would result in a new election within a year, as happened after the Conservatives in 1957 ended 22 years of Liberal rule.

Both the 67-year-old prime minister and Pearson, 65-year-old Nobel Peace prize-winner, claimed their parties would get more than the 133 seats needed for a majority in the House.

T. C. (Tommy) Douglas, leader of the New Democratic party, maintained that the Conservative government would be ousted. It appeared certain that his party and the Social Credit party, headed by Robert Thompson, would register substantial gains over the eight seats now held by the two groups.

The key to the outcome seemed to be the size of the gains the Liberals will make in populous Quebec and Ontario provinces, which together hold 160 seats in the House. It is generally agreed that the Liberals will win back many of the seats they lost in the Conservative sweep in 1958.

The Conservatives had 208 seats in the last House. The Liberals had only 51.

The campaign has been fought mainly on economic issues, with unemployment and the government's recent devaluation of the Canadian dollar generating the most heat.

A record number of 9.8 million voters were eligible to take part in the election. Some observers doubt the turnout will be as good as in 1958, when 80 per cent of the registered voters went to the polls.

Escapes Injury

A Yonkers man escaped injury Sunday when his automobile struck and killed a deer on the Mountaindale-Spring Glen Road south of Ellenville. State police said Abram Langer, of Yonkers, was driving north on Route 209 when a deer leaped from the right side of the highway into the path of the 1962 vehicle.

BOATING SAFETY TIPS

Small craft boating as a family activity is attracting increased numbers to the local waterways. Activity at the local marinas indicates the extent of the boating boon here.

In preparation for the coming season, we remind those who enjoy this recreation that in the nature of boating places many family groups together in an accident situation, which makes the price of negligence of a gambling spirit all the more costly and foolish.

The following list of safety habits to avoid disaster on the water has been prepared by Allstate Safety Crusade:

Be alert to the constant danger of gasoline and oil as fire hazards. Wipe up spilled gas and avoid smoking in hazardous areas or when fueling a boat.

Use discretion in boating during bad weather. Stay near the shore when forecasts predict high winds or rain.

Avoid sudden movements in small craft.

Know your boating traffic picture at all times and obey the rules of waterways. Learn navigation signals and recognize distress calls.

Keep emergency gear such as fire extinguishers, life jackets, tow lines and first aid kit handy and teach members of the family how to use each item.

Master the water by learning to swim. Life jackets are valuable for survival but do not depend upon them as a substitute for swimming ability.

Know your boat and its capacity to handle passengers. Never overload the craft, even for a short trip. Get a boat which is suited to your own needs.

Keep your craft seaworthy. Know what equipment is required by law.

Use special caution when operating a boat for sports activities. Never fish while standing in a small craft. Swim near your boat if you decide to take a dip in a busy waterway.

Upon his return to the earth, Astronaut Carpenter asked, "Where do I go from here?" Well there's always the moon.

THERE IS POISON IN YOUR HOME!

How are you fixed for poisons in your home?

That is far from an idle question. For, says the American Medical Association, there are 250,000 products in home use which contain some form of poison. These serve necessary and desirable functions. But, on the debit side, 600,000 children manage to poison themselves each year, about 500 fatally.

These poisons include cleaning and polishing agents. detergents, cosmetics, paint, and a next-to-endless list of other items. The best of all safety precautions is to keep them under lock and key. But that is not practical in many cases—so the AMA offers a number of precautions that should be kept eternally in mind:

If your child takes something that is possibly poisonous, call a doctor at once—don't wait for developments. Never transfer poisons from their original, marked containers. Never leave a child alone when you're working with cleaners, polishers and other poisons—and wash contaminated utensils immediately. Give medicines only in a lighted room and discard old medicines no longer in use. When you get rid of hazardous materials, put them where children can't reach and rummage into them.

These rules are simple. They may prevent a terrible illness and even death.

BETTER THAN A WESTERN

There is no point any more in being staggered by the advances of science and technology. They are just too numerous.

Nevertheless, one can perhaps be forgiven a bit of a gulp at the news we may soon have small battery-powered television sets which a patient can swallow to give a doctor a picture of his stomach.

According to Aerospace Industries' magazine, we already have capsule transmitters which broadcast "data" from the alimentary tract.

Obviously the scientists' curiosity is insatiable. First they start after the secrets of outer space. Now it's inner space. What worlds will they have left to conquer?

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

OVER-POPULATION

It used to be said during the 1930's that there can be no over-production; there can only be under-consumption. This was the National Association of Manufacturers' explanation for the Depression in those days.

In a measure, there was some truth in the axiom but it does not fit our current picture because we are being drowned by international over-production. Factually, there can be both over-production and excessive consumption in some countries while others neither produce nor consume adequately. Generalizations do not fit the facts and figures. The so-called stockpiling was not started to set up reserves in times of plenty for times of war; agricultural stockpiling started as a means for withdrawing products from the market with the object of keeping up agricultural prices. We then applied the same doctrine to minerals and other commodities but the government used the excuse of stockpiling for the next war. We are now so over-produced that if we were forced to sell or to dump our surpluses in world markets, even to rescue the starving as some propose, we could, without much difficulty, start a universal depression; particularly in the currently prosperous countries.

This has brought great fear to such countries as Canada and Australia which require export markets for foodstuffs and to South Africa, Canada and Rhodesia which require export markets for metals and minerals.

But we are not the only over-producers. We not only over-expanded our own plant and equipment during World War II and the Korean War, but we rebuilt the industries of Japan, West Germany and other countries. We also aided the Communist countries to establish and expand their industries, particularly heavy industries. The result is that we have created more manufacturers than the world can consume goods for a payment. Thus, we give away machinery not only to replace destroyed industries but to create new ones in countries which never had any, diffusing the trade possibilities in known markets on the asumption that other markets will become available.

It may be true that the time may come when the present world capacity for the production of steel, now about 465,000,000 tons, will not be enough, but presently it is too much unless the United States or Soviet Russia undertakes the building of enormous public works like the great dam of the Nile, for which neither country will be paid because Egypt has not the money to pay, and Egyption cotton is not needed in such huge quantities as to meet Egypt's obligations. The Free World capacity is 342,000,000 tons; for the Communist nations, 123,000,000 tons. Communist capacity in 1957 was 80,000,000 tons; in 1961, 123,000,000 tons—a startling increase.

The question of over-production plagues the worker who is not being thrown out of employment because of automation but, in this country, either because of domestic over-production or because prices are determined internationally while costs are determined locally, thus making it difficult for the product of the American worker to compete with the product of the Czechoslovakian worker, the West German or Japanese worker, or even the British worker. A recession in the United States occurs when buying is postponed for whatever reason; a depression occurs when men are out of work.

Thus the American worker speaks of a 35 or a 32 hour week partly to get more wages but also to spread the work. Labor unions must see to it that their members have jobs or they lose their members who find compensatory work in other ways, if possible. This country cannot accept unemployment as inevitable.

This then is a major national and international problem which cannot be postponed too long.

If we stop producing surpluses, we shall have an enormous unemployment problem and our workers will become a socially dislocated proletariat. If we continue stockpiling, we shall reach a condition of impoverishment so that there will be starvation amid plenty. If we worry too much about what the Europeans, Canadians, Japanese and others want us to do, we shall have no foreign trade. If we do not worry about them, they may succumb to social revolution from which we no longer have the strength to save them.

This situation has been developing since 1948 and is now in a critical state which requires a daring decision—which can as easily be wrong as right. This it is difficult for most of our people to understand, for they assume that we make our own decisions through the President and Congress. That ceased to be so in 1917 when we joined in World War I.

Treasure Family Doctor— He's Rare Species Today

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"Medical practice is going through a revolution," asserts a prominent allergist.

"The family doctor is disappearing in the face of increasing group practice and specialization. Out of necessity, the allergist, although himself a specialist, has to embody many of the former functions of the family doctor."

For example, continues the allergist, in his frequent and extensive contact with patients who have emotional problems the specialist should never be too busy to pass up an opportunity to counsel with the parents of an allergic child on emotional problems.

For, an allergic eczema embodies more than the skin. A stuffy nose may mean the patient is also taking a tranquilizer. A wheeze or a cough may be due to the presence of a foreign body in the bronchi.

Symptoms may have an emotional base, such as the effects of a youngster of a perfectionist parent, of parental insecurity, the authority of the school or of fear of injections.

Where does all this leave the parents, especially of the allergic child?

They know through experience that the office of the specialist is crowded, that he rarely has the time to conduct a complete physical examination. He lacks the relaxed atmosphere necessary for an inquiry into emotional problems. And rarely, if ever, does he make house visits that would furnish him with first-hand acquaintance with the living conditions to which the sensitive and sensitized child is exposed.

Minus the family doctor, medical practice might be reduced to the level of a zoo attendant's conception of wild animal life. "The lion" he might say, "Is a large, four-footed animal with a prominent mane that lives behind bars or in a field surrounded by a wide moat. He is unable to sustain himself but has to be fed large quantities of raw meat."

Eliminate the family doctor and the home visit, and the concept of medical care may become as narrowed as the views of zoo attendants or of visitors to an aquarium or aviary who have never observed animals, fish or birds in their natural environments.

And if you want to preserve the "kindly family doctor" and continue to profit from the personal intervention of a physician, you would be wise to give your loyal support to your own "doc" who may presently be fighting for his survival against very heavy odds.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Announced purpose of the latest "Declaration of Republican Principle and Policy" just released with former President Eisenhower's blessing was to draw up a statement of "positive" goals. This was to overcome the idea that Republicans are too often "negative."

THE 2,500-WORD DOCUMENT which finally came out differs with Democratic policy on 32 principal issues, according to Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin. He is chairman of the group of six GOP senators and six representatives which has been drafting the statement in the last three months.

But if you read it carefully you get the feeling that on many points the policies of both parties aren't too far apart.

The new GOP statement declares:

"Effective tax relief for medical and hospital insurance should be given to all."

Laird explained this means full deductions or exemptions for all medical expenses, not just those in excess of 3 per cent of income, which is present law.

Tax relief, of course has been a popular subject among Democrats recently.

Also, the GOP statement advocates that:

"Tax relief should be given to those who bear the burden of financing education for themselves or others."

Individual congressmen have proposed this, though neither the Eisenhower nor Kennedy administrations have.

QUOTED BELOW are positive GOP declarations pointed out to this reporter by the joint committee staff, followed by parenthetical summaries of similar Democratic objectives:

- "A thorough overhaul of the tax system to encourage production, build jobs and promote savings and investment is overdue." (President Kennedy made a similar statement to his press conference on the day this came out.)
- "Government should help develop skills that fit workers for new jobs in a swiftly changing economy." (A manpower retraining act has been passed and a similar adjustment program is part of the trade expansion bill.)
- "We advocate a shift in resources, encouraged by a massive voluntary long-term land retirement program . . ." (This is part of the Kennedy-Freeman farm program and part of the Kenndy-Udall natural resources and recreational program.)
- "Every American youth should have the opportunity to receive an education commensurate with his ability." (Representative Laird himself says there are now 37 or 38 aid-to-education bills before Congress.)
- "State and local governments must deal with the urgent problems of urbanized areas, or run the risk of federal control." (Democrats say local governments haven't dealt with the problems as they should and propose action now.)

IN FOUR OF THE MAJOR positive statements on labor-management and farm policy, foreign policy and aid, the Republican declaration sticks to what have been considered traditional conservative policies:

"Government should exercise impartiality and forbearance when the immediate economic interests of management and labor come into conflict.

"The ever-increasing red-tape fences across the farms of this land must be torn down.

"In foreign policy, the overwhelming national goal must be victory over Communism . . .

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

June 17, 1942—A search was under way in the Ellenville area for a Canadian Royal Air Force training plane reported to have crashed or force landed.

Jay LeFevre, of New Paltz, was named as GOP candidate for Congress in the 27th District.

June 18, 1942—Sidney G. Lutzin, director of recreation here, was elected treasurer of the newly organized New York State Recreation Executives Association.

An attendance of 323 was reported at a weekend Boy Scout Camporee at Camp Tri-Mount.

June 18, 1952—A decision from the Appellate Division of Supreme Court ruled that some 120 residents of upstate New York could bring suit against New York City for area rainmaking attempts.

The mercury, which reached 97 on June 16, stopped at a comparatively cool 83 on this date.

Kennedy Budget Ideas Likened to Those in '30s

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

President Kennedy may not have realized it, but some of the "new" and "sophisticated" ideas he expounded in his address last week at Yale University are throwbacks to proposals made and rejected in the 1930's.

The President perhaps decided anyway to advocate the changes in the system of auditing the government's expense and income which President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his "Brain Trust" sponsored. The scheme is to list only a part of the government's annual outlay as "expenses" and to set up a lot of inventories and properties as "investments" or capital assests. The purpose, of course, is to show less of a deficit, if not a surplus, in the principal statement of finance that gets public attenion. Such a change, it is argued, would be more like the methods of private business.

Daniel W. Bell, who was Director of the Budget for several years, beginning in 1935, and who now is head of the American Security & Trust Co. here, fought vigorously against the idea as unsound, and Congress didn't warm up to it either.

Again, in the early days of the Eisenhower administration, the plan received a big boost from the late Beardsley Ruml, who was finance chairman of Adlai Stevenson's presidential campaign in 1952 and who had gained fame in championing the present "pay-as-you-go" system of paying income taxes. But even Mr. Ruml didn't claim that the "capital budget" idea was original. He said to the House Ways and Means Committee on August 12, 1953:

"This change has been reccommended for years by students, organizations, and government agencies."

Called Fiscal Myth

President Kennedy in his speech at Yale denounced the present method of presenting the annual budget to the country as a "myth." He said:

"'For the great enemy of the truth is very often not the lie—deliberate, contrived and dishonest—but the myth—persistent, persuasive and unrealistic."

Turning to what he called "fiscal myths," Mr. Kennedy said:

"We persist in measuring our Federal fiscal integrity today by the conventional, or administrative budget with results which would be regarded as absurd in any business firm, in any country of Europe, or in any careful assessment of the reality of our national finances.

"The administrative budget has sound administrative uses. But for wider purposes it is less helpful. It omits our special trust funds and the effect they have on our economy. It neglects changes in assets or inventories. It cannot tell a loan from a straight expenditure. And worst of all, it cannot distinguish between operating expenditures and long-term investments."

Dates to 1930's

The President may not be aware of it, but those very points were made in the 1930's. He said in his Yale speech that some of the things he had been hearing recently around the country "sound like old records, left over from the middle thirties" and that these "took place in a different world with different needs and different tasks."

But Mr. Kennedy may not know that the objective of the "capital budget" plan in the 1930's was exactly the same as he has in mind today—to get rid of the bad word "deficits" and to make a better political impression. Sometimes the "capital assets" on the books prove to be a myth. Thus, the true deficit of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation — an independent agency founded in 1932 — was not generally known for many years, but finally $2.8 billion had to be added to the public debt.

Sen. Byrd Opposed

This writer the other day asked Sen. Harry Byrd, D., Va., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, what he thought of the "capital budget" scheme. Sen. Byrd said:

"I am opposed to it. I think it's fantastic to try to take all the capital outlay and outright investments by the government in buildings and construction and appropriations for defense equipment and not charge them to regular expenditures. You would never know where you stood. It's just a way to cover up real deficits. We must not try to fool the people."

It would be hard, for instance, the Senator added, to classify a Polaris-bearing submarine of a missile base as an "investment" and to figure out what the "depreciation" would be, especially since the government spends so much on a big military machine that isn't comparable to the plant and equipment of private business which yields an annual earning. Also, the Treasury has a host of contingent liabilities and "guarantees" running into the billions. Trust funds would be subjected constantly to the temptations of "back door" borrowing and spending for unrelated purposes.

Four Speeches On It

The President and three high administration officials nevertheless delivered last week a total of four public speeches designed to prepare the country to accept the theory of a "capital budget," All this brings to mind the quip that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, head of the Conservation Party in Great Britain, made in 1959 during his campaign against the Socialist Lobar Party. He said:

"The opposition has some sound and original ideas are not sound and some of the sound ideas are not original."

The idea of a "capital budget" is not original with Mr. Kennedy, and it has been proved unsound every time it has been publicly debated from the days of FDR through the years of the Eisenhower administration.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Once upon a time, on Sept. 26, 1933, to be exact, James Roosevelt and his wife sailed for England, shipmates of Joseph P. Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy, and of Mason Day, a partner in Redmond and Co., of New York, investment brokers. Redmond included among their clients the great American liquor firm, National Distillers, which was crouching to spring on the stroke of Midnight Dec. 5, when repeal was to go into effect. Mr. Kennedy had been engaged in "corporation finance," as he demurely put it in Who's Who, from 1930 to 1934, when he became chairman of the Securities Exchange Commission. The crash of May, 1962, is not as bad as the 1929 crash, but there are some who say we ain't seen nothing yet.

Mason Day had sold the Overholt Distillery to National Distillers and he had enjoyed the distinction of a fracas with the Senate Committee which investigated Teapot Dome. The gentlemen parked the ladies in suitable surroundings, perhaps Dorchester House, and busied themselves with a committee of the Distillers' Company, Ltd., the British whiskey trust, which owned the outstanding brands of Scotch, and Gordon Gin, too. Gordon was moved to a new distillery in New Jersey in due course. For occult reasons it is impossible to make Scotch whiskey anywhere outside Scotland, but experience had taught Americans that gin could be made in a horse-trough, the kitchen sink or the bathtub. Not true Gordon but fairly quarrelsome imitations:

Two parts water, one part radiator fluid, five drops juniper juice, one spoonful of glycerine, age until the cloudy vapor goes away, drink and phone for (a) cops or (b) coroner.

James Roosevelt had not had any experience in liquor except as a consumer, and not to excess, either, but his father was President. To the Englishmen and Scotsmen it was a good deal as though their own Prince of Wales had come to the States with a delegation to establish control of the British import of American movies.

Already he was dealing out his old man's patronage in New England, receiverships and so forth, and granting or nixing contracts to dredge Cape Cod Canal — little odds and ends looking toward the "recovery." Jimmy had landed a colossal fire insurance contract with National Distillers in May of 1933 and this voyage began on Sept. 26, as I said in the beginning.

After these pleasant discussions, Jimmy et ux went down through France and Italy where there were oceans of wine, brandy and syrupy bust-head yearning for lawful admission to the United States. They got home Nov. 2, but meanwhile those Britishers had rushed over and holed up at our Waldorf to catch a glimpse of the Americans in agony under Prohibition.

Jimmy took them down to the White House, explained their mission and had them presented to the Alcohol Control Administration. Just a nice, hosty lad, our Eaglet. On Nov. 23, Joe, Mason Day and Jimmy organized Somerset Importers Ltd., which got a license right away from Federal Alcohol Control to bring in 25,000 cases just as a snifter. Somerset got the exclusive agency for Haig and Haig and Dewar's and the Eastern Agency for Gordon's. Old established companies could hardly get a pint. International Wine and Spirits got only 6,000 cases and therefore paid off its stockholders, took down the sign and went out of business. National Distillers was pretty darn lucky. National got Black and White and Thomas Buchanan Liqueur Scotch.

At a social do, Reginald MacDonald Buchanan remarked to David Bruce, then the son-in-law of Andy Mellon of Pittsburgh, "If the father is anything like the son, I am afraid you are in for rough going."

BOATING SAFETY TIPS

Small craft boating as a family activity is attracting increased numbers to the local waterways. Activity at the local marinas indicates the extent of the boating boon here.

In preparation for the coming season, we remind those who enjoy this recreation that in the nature of boating places many family groups together in an accident situation, which makes the price of negligence of a gambling spirit all the more costly and foolish.

The following list of safety habits to avoid disaster on the water has been prepared by Allstate Safety Crusade:

Be alert to the constant danger of gasoline and oil as fire hazards. Wipe up spilled gas and avoid smoking in hazardous areas or when fueling a boat.

Use discretion in boating during bad weather. Stay near the shore when forecasts predict high winds or rain.

Avoid sudden movements in small craft.

Know your boating traffic picture at all times and obey the rules of waterways. Learn navigation signals and recognize distress calls.

Keep emergency gear such as fire extinguishers, life jackets, tow lines and first aid kit handy and teach members of the family how to use each item.

Master the water by learning to swim. Life jackets are valuable for survival but do not depend upon them as a substitute for swimming ability.

Know your boat and its capacity to handle passengers. Never overload the craft, even for a short trip. Get a boat which is suited to your own needs.

Keep your craft seaworthy. Know what equipment is required by law.

Use special caution when operating a boat for sports activities. Never fish while standing in a small craft. Swim near your boat if you decide to take a dip in a busy waterway.

Upon his return to the earth, Astronaut Carpenter asked, "Where do I go from here?" Well there's always the moon.

THERE IS POISON IN YOUR HOME!

How are you fixed for poisons in your home?

That is far from an idle question. For, says the American Medical Association, there are 250,000 products in home use which contain some form of poison. These serve necessary and desirable functions. But, on the debit side, 600,000 children manage to poison themselves each year, about 500 fatally.

These poisons include cleaning and polishing agents, detergents, cosmetics, paint, and a next-to-endless list of other items. The best of all safety precautions is to keep them under lock and key. But that is not practical in many cases—so the AMA offers a number of precautions that should be kept eternally in mind:

If your child takes something that is possibly poisonous, call a doctor at once—don't wait for developments. Never transfer poisons from their original, marked containers. Never leave a child alone when you're working with cleaners, polishers and other poisons—and wash contaminated utensils immediately. Give medicines only in a lighted room and discard old medicines no longer in use. When you get rid of hazardous materials, put them where children can't reach and rummage into them.

These rules are simple. They may prevent a terrible illness and even death.

BETTER THAN A WESTERN

There is no point any more in being staggered by the advances of science and technology. They are just too numerous.

Nevertheless, one can perhaps be forgiven a bit of a gulp at the news we may soon have small battery-powered television sets which a patient can swallow to give a doctor a picture of his stomach.

According to Aerospace Industries' magazine, we already have capsule transmitters which broadcast "data" from the alimentary tract.

Obviously the scientists' curiosity is insatiable. First they start after the secrets of outer space. Now it's inner space. What worlds will they have left to conquer?

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

OVER-POPULATION

It used to be said during the 1930's that there can be no over-production; there can only be under-consumption. This was the National Association of Manufacturers' explanation for the Depression in those days.

In a measure, there was some truth in the axiom but it does not fit our current picture because we are being drowned by international over-production. Factually, there can be both over-production and excessive consumption in some countries while others neither produce nor consume adequately. Generalizations do not fit the facts and figures. The so-called stockpiling was not started to set up reserves in times of plenty for times of war; agricultural stockpiling started as a means for withdrawing products from the market with the object of keeping up agricultural prices. We then applied the same doctrine to minerals and other commodities but the government used the excuse of stockpiling for the next war. We are now so over-produced that if we were forced to sell or to dump our surpluses in world markets, even to rescue the starving as some propose, we could, without much difficulty, start a universal depression; particularly in the currently prosperous countries.

This has brought great fear to such countries as Canada and Australia which require export markets for foodstuffs and to South Africa, Canada and Rhodesia which require export markets for metals and minerals.

But we are not the only over-producers. We not only over-expanded our own plant and equipment during World War II and the Korean War, but we rebuilt the industries of Japan, West Germany and other countries. We also aided the Communist countries to establish and expand their industries, particularly heavy industries. The result is that we have created more manufacturers than the world can consume goods for a payment. Thus, we give away machinery not only to replace destroyed industries but to create new ones in countries which never had any, diffusing the trade possibilities in known markets on the asumption that other markets will become available.

It may be true that the time may come when the present world capacity for the production of steel, now about 465,000,000 tons, will not be enough, but presently it is too much unless the United States or Soviet Russia undertakes the building of enormous public works like the great dam of the Nile, for which neither country will be paid because Egypt has not the money to pay, and Egyption cotton is not needed in such huge quantities as to meet Egypt's obligations. The Free World capacity is 342,000,000 tons; for the Communist nations, 123,000,000 tons. Communist capacity in 1957 was 80,000,000 tons; in 1961, 123,000,000 tons—a startling increase.

The question of over-production plagues the worker who is not being thrown out of employment because of automation but, in this country, either because of domestic over-production or because prices are determined internationally while costs are determined locally, thus making it difficult for the product of the American worker to compete with the product of the Czechoslovakian worker, the West German or Japanese worker, or even the British worker. A recession in the United States occurs when buying is postponed for whatever reason; a depression occurs when men are out of work.

Thus the American worker speaks of a 35 or a 32 hour week partly to get more wages but also to spread the work. Labor unions must see to it that their members have jobs or they lose their members who find compensatory work in other ways, if possible. This country cannot accept unemployment as inevitable.

This then is a major national and international problem which cannot be postponed too long.

If we stop producing surpluses, we shall have an enormous unemployment problem and our workers will become a socially dislocated proletariat. If we continue stockpiling, we shall reach a condition of impoverishment so that there will be starvation amid plenty. If we worry too much about what the Europeans, Canadians, Japanese and others want us to do, we shall have no foreign trade. If we do not worry about them, they may succumb to social revolution from which we no longer have the strength to save them.

This situation has been developing since 1948 and is now in a critical state which requires a daring decision—which can as easily be wrong as right. This it is difficult for most of our people to understand, for they assume that we make our own decisions through the President and Congress. That ceased to be so in 1917 when we joined in World War I.

Treasure Family Doctor— He's Rare Species Today

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"Medical practice is going through a revolution," asserts a prominent allergist.

"The family doctor is disappearing in the face of increasing group practice and specialization. Out of necessity, the allergist, although himself a specialist, has to embody many of the former functions of the family doctor."

For example, continues the allergist, in his frequent and extensive contact with patients who have emotional problems the specialist should never be too busy to pass up an opportunity to counsel with the parents of an allergic child on emotional problems.

For, an allergic eczema embodies more than the skin. A stuffy nose may mean the patient is also taking a tranquilizer. A wheeze or a cough may be due to the presence of a foreign body in the bronchi.

Symptoms may have an emotional base, such as the effects of a youngster of a perfectionist parent, of parental insecurity, the authority of the school or of fear of injections.

Where does all this leave the parents, especially of the allergic child?

They know through experience that the office of the specialist is crowded, that he rarely has the time to conduct a complete physical examination. He lacks the relaxed atmosphere necessary for an inquiry into emotional problems. And rarely, if ever, does he make house visits that would furnish him with first-hand acquaintance with the living conditions to which the sensitive and sensitized child is exposed.

Minus the family doctor, medical practice might be reduced to the level of a zoo attendant's conception of wild animal life. "The lion" he might say, "Is a large, four-footed animal with a prominent mane that lives behind bars or in a field surrounded by a wide moat. He is unable to sustain himself but has to be fed large quantities of raw meat."

Eliminate the family doctor and the home visit, and the concept of medical care may become as narrowed as the views of zoo attendants or of visitors to an aquarium or aviary who have never observed animals, fish or birds in their natural environments.

And if you want to preserve the "kindly family doctor" and continue to profit from the personal intervention of a physician, you would be wise to give your loyal support to your own "doc" who may presently be fighting for his survival against very heavy odds.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Announced purpose of the latest "Declaration of Republican Principle and Policy" just released with former President Eisenhower's blessing was to draw up a statement of "positive" goals. This was to overcome the idea that Republicans are too often "negative."

THE 2,500-WORD DOCUMENT which finally came out differs with Democratic policy on 32 principal issues, according to Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin. He is chairman of the group of six GOP senators and six representatives which has been drafting the statement in the last three months.

But if you read it carefully you get the feeling that on many points the policies of both parties aren't too far apart.

The new GOP statement declares:

"Effective tax relief for medical and hospital insurance should be given to all."

Laird explained this means full deductions or exemptions for all medical expenses, not just those in excess of 3 per cent of income, which is present law.

Tax relief, of course has been a popular subject among Democrats recently.

Also, the GOP statement advocates that:

"Tax relief should be given to those who bear the burden of financing education for themselves or others."

Individual congressmen have proposed this, though neither the Eisenhower nor Kennedy administrations have.

QUOTED BELOW are positive GOP declarations pointed out to this reporter by the joint committee staff, followed by parenthetical summaries of similar Democratic objectives:

- "A thorough overhaul of the tax system to encourage production, build jobs and promote savings and investment is overdue." (President Kennedy made a similar statement to his press conference on the day this came out.)
- "Government should help develop skills that fit workers for new jobs in a swiftly changing economy." (A manpower retraining act has been passed and a similar adjustment program is part of the trade expansion bill.)
- "We advocate a shift in resources, encouraged by a massive voluntary long-term land retirement program . . ." (This is part of the Kennedy-Freeman farm program and part of the Kenndy-Udall natural resources and recreational program.)
- "Every American youth should have the opportunity to receive an education commensurate with his ability." (Representative Laird himself says there are now 37 or 38 aid-to-education bills before Congress.)
- "State and local governments must deal with the urgent problems of urbanized areas, or run the risk of federal control." (Democrats say local governments haven't dealt with the problems as they should and propose action now.)

IN FOUR OF THE MAJOR positive statements on labor-management and farm policy, foreign policy and aid, the Republican declaration sticks to what have been considered traditional conservative policies:

"Government should exercise impartiality and forbearance when the immediate economic interests of management and labor come into conflict.

"The ever-increasing red-tape fences across the farms of this land must be torn down.

"In foreign policy, the overwhelming national goal must be victory over Communism . . .

Kennedy Budget Ideas Likened to Those in '30s

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

President Kennedy may not have realized it, but some of the "new" and "sophisticated" ideas he expounded in his address last week at Yale University are throwbacks to proposals made and rejected in the 1930's.

The President perhaps decided anyway to advocate the changes in the system of auditing the government's expense and income which President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his "Brain Trust" sponsored. The scheme is to list only a part of the government's annual outlay as "expenses" and to set up a lot of inventories and properties as "investments" or capital assests. The purpose, of course, is to show less of a deficit, if not a surplus, in the principal statement of finance that gets public attenion. Such a change, it is argued, would be more like the methods of private business.

Daniel W. Bell, who was Director of the Budget for several years, beginning in 1935, and who now is head of the American Security & Trust Co. here, fought vigorously against the idea as unsound, and Congress didn't warm up to it either.

Again, in the early days of the Eisenhower administration, the plan received a big boost from the late Beardsley Ruml, who was finance chairman of Adlai Stevenson's presidential campaign in 1952 and who had gained fame in championing the present "pay-as-you-go" system of paying income taxes. But even Mr. Ruml didn't claim that the "capital budget" idea was original. He said to the House Ways and Means Committee on August 12, 1953:

"This change has been reccommended for years by students, organizations, and government agencies."

Called Fiscal Myth

President Kennedy in his speech at Yale denounced the present method of presenting the annual budget to the country as a "myth." He said:

"'For the great enemy of the truth is very often not the lie—deliberate, contrived and dishonest—but the myth—persistent, persuasive and unrealistic."

Turning to what he called "fiscal myths," Mr. Kennedy said:

"We persist in measuring our Federal fiscal integrity today by the conventional, or administrative budget with results which would be regarded as absurd in any business firm, in any country of Europe, or in any careful assessment of the reality of our national finances.

"The administrative budget has sound administrative uses. But for wider purposes it is less helpful. It omits our special trust funds and the effect they have on our economy. It neglects changes in assets or inventories. It cannot tell a loan from a straight expenditure. And worst of all, it cannot distinguish between operating expenditures and long-term investments."

The President may not be aware of it, but those very points were made in the 1930's. He said in his Yale speech that some of the things he had been hearing recently around the country "sound like old records, left over from the middle thirties" and that these "took place in a different world with different needs and different tasks."

But Mr. Kennedy may not know that the objective of the "capital budget" plan in the 1930's was exactly the same as he has in mind today—to get rid of the bad word "deficits" and to make a better political impression. Sometimes the "capital assets" on the books prove to be a myth. Thus, the true deficit of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation — an independent agency founded in 1932 — was not generally known for many years, but finally $2.8 billion had to be added to the public debt.

Sen. Byrd Opposed

This writer the other day asked Sen. Harry Byrd, D., Va., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, what he thought of the "capital budget" scheme. Sen. Byrd said:

"I am opposed to it. I think it's fantastic to try to take all the capital outlay and outright investments by the government in buildings and construction and appropriations for defense equipment and not charge them to regular expenditures. You would never know where you stood. It's just a way to cover up real deficits. We must not try to fool the people."

It would be hard, for instance, the Senator added, to classify a Polaris-bearing submarine of a missile base as an "investment" and to figure out what the "depreciation" would be, especially since the government spends so much on a big military machine that isn't comparable to the plant and equipment of private business which yields an annual earning. Also, the Treasury has a host of contingent liabilities and "guarantees" running into the billions. Trust funds would be subjected constantly to the temptations of "back door" borrowing and spending for unrelated purposes.

Four Speeches On It

The President and three high administration officials nevertheless delivered last week a total of four public speeches designed to prepare the country to accept the theory of a "capital budget." All this brings to mind the quip that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, head of the Conservation Party in Great Britain, made in 1959 during his campaign against the Socialist Lobar Party. He said:

"The opposition has some sound and original ideas are not sound and some of the sound ideas are not original."

The idea of a "capital budget" is not original with Mr. Kennedy, and it has been proved unsound every time it has been publicly debated from the days of FDR through the years of the Eisenhower administration.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Once upon a time, on Sept. 26, 1933, to be exact, James Roosevelt and his wife sailed for England, shipmates of Joseph P. Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy, and of Mason Day, a partner in Redmond and Co., of New York, investment brokers. Redmond included among their clients the great American liquor firm, National Distillers, which was crouching to spring on the stroke of Midnight Dec. 5, when repeal was to go into effect. Mr. Kennedy had been engaged in "corporation finance," as he demurely put it in Who's Who, from 1930 to 1934, when he became chairman of the Securities Exchange Commission. The crash of May, 1962, is not as bad as the 1929 crash, but there are some who say we ain't seen nothing yet.

Mason Day had sold the Overholt Distillery to National Distillers and he had enjoyed the distinction of a fracas with the Senate Committee which investigated Teapot Dome. The gentlemen parked the ladies in suitable surroundings, perhaps Dorchester House, and busied themselves with a committee of the Distillers' Company, Ltd., the British whiskey trust, which owned the outstanding brands of Scotch, and Gordon Gin, too. Gordon was moved to a new distillery in New Jersey in due course. For occult reasons it is impossible to make Scotch whiskey anywhere outside Scotland, but experience had taught Americans that gin could be made in a horse-trough, the kitchen sink or the bathtub. Not true Gordon but fairly quarrelsome imitations:

Two parts water, one part radiator fluid, five drops juniper juice, one spoonful of glycerine, age until the cloudy vapor goes away, drink and phone for (a) cops or (b) coroner.

James Roosevelt had not had any experience in liquor except as a consumer, and not to excess, either, but his father was President. To the Englishmen and Scotsmen it was a good deal as though their own Prince of Wales had come to the States with a delegation to establish control of the British import of American movies.

Already he was dealing out his old man's patronage in New England, receiverships and so forth, and granting or nixing contracts to dredge Cape Cod Canal — little odds and ends looking toward the "recovery." Jimmy had landed a colossal fire insurance contract with National Distillers in May of 1933 and this voyage began on Sept. 26, as I said in the beginning.

After these pleasant discussions, Jimmy et ux went down through France and Italy where there were oceans of wine, brandy and syrupy bust-head yearning for lawful admission to the United States. They got home Nov. 2, but meanwhile those Britishers had rushed over and holed up at our Waldorf to catch a glimpse of the Americans in agony under Prohibition.

Jimmy took them down to the White House, explained their mission and had them presented to the Alcohol Control Administration. Just a nice, hosty lad, our Eaglet. On Nov. 23, Joe, Mason Day and Jimmy organized Somerset Importers Ltd., which got a license right away from Federal Alcohol Control to bring in 25,000 cases just as a snifter. Somerset got the exclusive agency for Haig and Haig and Dewar's and the Eastern Agency for Gordon's. Old established companies could hardly get a pint. International Wine and Spirits got only 6,000 cases and therefore paid off its stockholders, took down the sign and went out of business. National Distillers was pretty darn lucky. National got Black and White and Thomas Buchanan Liqueur Scotch.

At a social do, Reginald MacDonald Buchanan remarked to David Bruce, then the son-in-law of Andy Mellon of Pittsburgh, "If the father is anything like the son, I am afraid you are in for rough going."

Brooklyn Director Named to New Post

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Health Department announced today the appointment of Dr. Julius A. Katzive as director of the Bureau of Hospital Review.

The bureau, recently established, is part of the department's Division of Hospital Review and Planning, which reviews plans for construction of hospitals in the state and administers any federal or state funds used in such construction.

Dr. Katzive has been executive director of Maimonides Hospital in Brooklyn since 1954. His new post pays $20,079 annually.

Scientists' Meeting Is Well Attended

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—More than 600 scientists from throughout the world are attending a week-long meeting of the International Ornithological Congress, which began at Cornell University Saturday.

The congress has been meeting every four years since it was formed 78 years ago. Previous meetings all have been held in Europe.

More than 150 papers on behaviour of birds have been submitted for presentation at the week-long meeting.

Comeback

During the 1840s, boat tonnage along the Mississippi River system accounted for more than half of all that registered in the United States. Railroads, highways and planes relegated the plodding river boat to the past but two world wars reversed the trend and, since 1945, Mississippi traffic has grown year by year.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Woodstock Now In 175th Year

Woodstock is 175 years old this year. During these years it has grown considerably in population, although it has shrunk in size, says Edgar C. Leaycraft, official historian of the Town of Woodstock. And, he predicts, the township is promised further extensive population growth as a result of its favorable residential location.

On Apr. 11, 1787 the New York State Legislature passed an act "erecting the settlements of Woodstock, Grate (Great) and Little Shandaken into a separate township." So reads the first entry in the Woodstock town records. The first official town meeting was held "the first Tuesday in June, 1787 at the house of Elias Hasbrouck in the township of Woodstock in the County of Ulster."

The township was created from land originally belonging to the town of Hurley. The very act of creating this new town indicated that the population had already grown in the Catskills to an extent that sheer distance and difficult communications required more localized government. The area of the township thus created is not indicated in these first town records. Woodstock consisted mainly from Chestnut Hill-Saugerties on the east to Lake Hill and Wittenberg on the west and Ohayo Mountain on the south. The northern line extended into Greene County. Little Shandaken was Lake Hill-Willow and Wittenberg. Great Shandaken was a vast area to the west, its size indicated by later towns created from it.

First Meeting

1797 Middletown, Delaware County; 1798, Windham, Greene County; 1804 Shandaken. (Zena joined Woodstock in 1879). The early town records show roads laid out in Schoharie and Middletown as well as Woodstock and Shandaken.

The first town meeting was held in the house of Elias Hasbrouck, who was Woodstock's most distinguished citizen as a captain of rangers and scouts during the Revolution. At that time his house in Lake Hill must have been virtually new because he had just moved up from Kingston. The house still stands, although stuccoed on the outside with the two end chimneys inside the walls and it must be one of the oldest houses in Woodstock still standing. During Hasbrouck's terms of office (he died in office in 1791) it served as the town hall, as it did at least once after his death.

At that first town meeting "the following Parsons (persons) ware (were) by Plurality of Voyces (Voices) chosen Town Officers for said Town viz: Elias Hasbrouck, Supervisor; John Row, Town Clerk; Petrus Short, Samuel Mowers, William Snyder, Assessors; Zachery Short, Collector; Samuel Mowers, Petrus Row, Constables; Andries Riselar, Barnet Lewis, Overseers of the poor; Petrus Short, William Snyder, Hendrick B. Krom, Commissioners of the Highways; Aurey Newkerk, John Carl, Hendrick B. Krom, John Longyard, Overseers of the Highways.

Most of these names are still to be found in Woodstock, although at the time at least three of them lived in Shandaken (Krom, Karl and Longyard). The rest are evenly divided between Little Shandaken and Woodstock.

Unfortunately, these town records give no information as to the personalities of these men. But, they should be highly honored as our most respected citizens 175 years ago and as our first town officers.

List Schedule For Rec Field

The schedule for the summer recreation program at Andy Lee Memorial Field has been announced as follows:

Swimming: the pool will be open 9-5 daily, Monday to Saturday; 10 to 10:40 advanced swimmers; 10:40-11:20 beginners. The pool will be closed from 12 to 1 daily.

Arts and crafts: there will be two areas—1. from 9 to 10:30 for children under the fourth grade; 10:30-12 for those children above the fourth grade or in the fourth grade.

Bearsville Store Reopens on June 21

The Bearsville Store will reopen on June 21, replacing the former landmark destroyed by fire several months ago. The new store is a sparkling, light, modern cement block structure to be known as the Bearsville Market.

The store will be under the management of Stanley and Viola Shultis. They will be assisted by their two children, Terry and Anala. The meat department will be run by Joe Cusack, former partner of the Saugerties meat market, "Jo and Al's."

Mrs. Shultis is a familiar face to Bearsville shoppers, as she was employed by Virgil Van Wagonen in the former store for more than three years.

As in the past, customers will again have the convenience of a post office in the same building. This move will follow shortly after the market's opening.

Sully's Bridge Still Shut Off

Although highway department work crews were on duty at the prolonged paint project at Sully's Bridge on Saturday morning, the busy intersection was sealed off to traffic for the second straight weekend.

The shutoff continues despite mounting protests by Ohayo Mountain residents. The closing of the bridge places unusually heavy pressure on the river road which has a dangerous curve near the Stowell property where grass has grown high on the highway edge restricting the view for eastbound cars.

There is no indication when the bridge will be opened to traffic.

Gladstone Sets Gallery Opening

Gladstone Galleries, on Lower Byrdcliffe Road, Woodstock, is opening the season's exhibits with a large group show on Saturday, June 23. The gallery will again show a wide range of the work of contemporary painters and sculptors. The paintings to be exhibited in the opening show include a number that have won awards this year in regional exhibits and competitions.

The program includes a number of one-man shows, with continued group showings of the artists on its roster. Special events and exhibits will be announced from time to time.

The spacious galleries, under the direction of Berta Gladstone, are expected to attract many visitors this year, as they did last summer. The gallery buildings are situated on a verdant hill overlooking Parnassus Square. Now in its second year, Gladstone Galleries is considered an important addition to the art scene in the Woodstock area.

The Real Hamlet; By Schimmerling

The Press Department of the Royal Danish Ministry of Foreign Affairs published an interesting book entitled "Amleth's Revenge." Amleth, of course, is none else than Hamlet.

"Feng has murdered his brother, the King of Denmark and Amleth's father, and has married the queen. Amleth, the heir to the throne, feels that his life is threatened. So begins this nearly 800-year-old short story."

800 years? Well, Shakespeare's Hamlet was "born" in 1602 (or 1603), that is about 360 years ago. How does history account for the difference of 440 more years? Saxo Grammaticus, a priest and assistant to archbishop Absalon, the founder of Copenhagen, was one of the great medieval historians. His master work "Gesta Danorum" (Latin for "The Exploits of the Danes") contains the Amleth story in the third book of his extensive historical work. It was written at about 1200 A.D.

The 1961 Danish Press Department edition mentions that "the presumed original manuscript of Gesta Danorum by Saxo exists in a few fragments only . . . found in 1877 in a library at Angers, France, where they had been used to fill out the binding of another book. . . ."

How could Shakespeare have used Saxo's story if it was discovered only in 1877? We find the answer on page 6 for the above mentioned Danish 1960 edition of Amleth's Revenge: The French author Belleforest retold it in his "Histoires Tragiques," published in 1570. Belleforest, apparently not important enough for being mentioned in such reference books as, for example, Edouard Herriot's "Precis de l'Histoire des Lettres Francaises," became indirectly responsible for Shakespeare's great drama; indirectly, because the latter must have read it in an English translation — published in 1608—of the original French text.

Of course, the Shakespearean Hamlet is not just a dramatization of Saxo's "short story." After having read Amleth's Revenge and compared it with Shakespeare's work, one must come to the conclusion that the latter used Amleth only as "the vehicle for personal problems of a genius," as so justly expressed by the author of the Danish booklet (English translation of the Danish edition of Jorgen Olrik by Reginald Spink).

Shakespeare changed some of the original names: Feng became Claudius; a nameless girl become Ophelia; and the final "h" in Amleth became the capital "H" in Hamlet. But these externally visible discrepancies are of less importance. What we do not find in the original is the profound characterization of "dramatis personae" and the psychological dilemmas. The original is bare of such profundity, it is rather primitive. Though prehistoric, Saxo's Amleth "is indeed of the same Danish royal blood as the princess who in the immortal fairy tale by Hans Christian Andersen feels a pea through a pile of eiderdowns."

Three Directors Are Named at Cornell

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Cornell University announced today appointment of a physicist, an astronomer and a businessman to the board of directors of its aeronautical laboratory at Buffalo.

They are Seville Chapman, director of the laboratory's physics division; Prof. Thomas Gold, chairman of Cornell's Astronomy Dept., and Donald McMaster of Rochester, a former vice president of the Eastman Kodak Co.

Woodstock Now In 175th Year

Woodstock is 175 years old this year. During these years it has grown considerably in population, although it has shrunk in size, says Edgar C. Leaycraft, official historian of the Town of Woodstock. And, he predicts, the township is promised further extensive population growth as a result of its favorable residential location.

On Apr. 11, 1787 the New York State Legislature passed an act "erecting the settlements of Woodstock, Grate (Great) and Little Shandaken into a separate township." So reads the first entry in the Woodstock town records. The first official town meeting was held "the first Tuesday in June, 1787 at the house of Elias Hasbrouck in the township of Woodstock in the County of Ulster."

The township was created from land originally belonging to the town of Hurley. The very act of creating this new town indicated that the population had already grown in the Catskills to an extent that sheer distance and difficult communications required more localized government. The area of the township thus created is not indicated in these first town records. Woodstock consisted mainly from Chestnut Hill-Saugerties on the east to Lake Hill and Wittenberg on the west and Ohayo Mountain on the south. The northern line extended into Greene County. Little Shandaken was Lake Hill-Willow and Wittenberg. Great Shandaken was a vast area to the west, its size indicated by later towns created from it.

First Meeting

1797 Middletown, Delaware County; 1798, Windham, Greene County; 1804 Shandaken. (Zena joined Woodstock in 1879). The early town records show roads laid out in Schoharie and Middletown as well as Woodstock and Shandaken.

The first town meeting was held in the house of Elias Hasbrouck, who was Woodstock's most distinguished citizen as a captain of rangers and scouts during the Revolution. At that time his house in Lake Hill must have been virtually new because he had just moved up from Kingston. The house still stands, although stuccoed on the outside with the two end chimneys inside the walls and it must be one of the oldest houses in Woodstock still standing. During Hasbrouck's terms of office (he died in office in 1791) it served as the town hall, as it did at least once after his death.

At that first town meeting "the following Parsons (persons) ware (were) by Plurality of Voyces (Voices) chosen Town Officers for said Town viz: Elias Hasbrouck, Supervisor; John Row, Town Clerk; Petrus Short, Samuel Mowers, William Snyder, Assessors; Zachery Short, Collector; Samuel Mowers, Petrus Row, Constables; Andries Riselar, Barnet Lewis, Overseers of the poor; Petrus Short, William Snyder, Hendrick B. Krom, Commissioners of the Highways; Aurey Newkerk, John Carl, Hendrick B. Krom, John Longyard, Overseers of the Highways.

Most of these names are still to be found in Woodstock, although at the time at least three of them lived in Shandaken (Krom, Karl and Longyard). The rest are evenly divided between Little Shandaken and Woodstock.

Unfortunately, these town records give no information as to the personalities of these men. But, they should be highly honored as our most respected citizens 175 years ago and as our first town officers.

List Schedule For Rec Field

The schedule for the summer recreation program at Andy Lee Memorial Field has been announced as follows:

Swimming: the pool will be open 9-5 daily, Monday to Saturday; 10 to 10:40 advanced swimmers; 10:40-11:20 beginners. The pool will be closed from 12 to 1 daily.

Arts and crafts: there will be two areas—1. from 9 to 10:30 for children under the fourth grade; 10:30-12 for those children above the fourth grade or in the fourth grade.

Bearsville Store Reopens on June 21

The Bearsville Store will reopen on June 21, replacing the former landmark destroyed by fire several months ago. The new store is a sparkling, light, modern cement block structure to be known as the Bearsville Market.

The store will be under the management of Stanley and Viola Shultis. They will be assisted by their two children, Terry and Anala. The meat department will be run by Joe Cusack, former partner of the Saugerties meat market, "Jo and Al's."

Mrs. Shultis is a familiar face to Bearsville shoppers, as she was employed by Virgil Van Wagonen in the former store for more than three years.

As in the past, customers will again have the convenience of a post office in the same building. This move will follow shortly after the market's opening.

Sully's Bridge Still Shut Off

Although highway department work crews were on duty at the prolonged paint project at Sully's Bridge on Saturday morning, the busy intersection was sealed off to traffic for the second straight weekend.

The shutoff continues despite mounting protests by Ohayo Mountain residents. The closing of the bridge places unusually heavy pressure on the river road which has a dangerous curve near the Stowell property where grass has grown high on the highway edge restricting the view for eastbound cars.

There is no indication when the bridge will be opened to traffic.

Gladstone Sets Gallery Opening

Gladstone Galleries, on Lower Byrdcliffe Road, Woodstock, is opening the season's exhibits with a large group show on Saturday, June 23. The gallery will again show a wide range of the work of contemporary painters and sculptors. The paintings to be exhibited in the opening show include a number that have won awards this year in regional exhibits and competitions.

The program includes a number of one-man shows, with continued group showings of the artists on its roster. Special events and exhibits will be announced from time to time.

The spacious galleries, under the direction of Berta Gladstone, are expected to attract many visitors this year, as they did last summer. The gallery buildings are situated on a verdant hill overlooking Parnassus Square. Now in its second year, Gladstone Galleries is considered an important addition to the art scene in the Woodstock area.

The Real Hamlet; By Schimmerling

The Press Department of the Royal Danish Ministry of Foreign Affairs published an interesting book entitled "Amleth's Revenge." Amleth, of course, is none else than Hamlet.

"Feng has murdered his brother, the King of Denmark and Amleth's father, and has married the queen. Amleth, the heir to the throne, feels that his life is threatened. So begins this nearly 800-year-old short story."

800 years? Well, Shakespeare's Hamlet was "born" in 1602 (or 1603), that is about 360 years ago. How does history account for the difference of 440 more years? Saxo Grammaticus, a priest and assistant to archbishop Absalon, the founder of Copenhagen, was one of the great medieval historians. His master work "Gesta Danorum" (Latin for "The Exploits of the Danes") contains the Amleth story in the third book of his extensive historical work. It was written at about 1200 A.D.

The 1961 Danish Press Department edition mentions that "the presumed original manuscript of Gesta Danorum by Saxo exists in a few fragments only . . . found in 1877 in a library at Angers, France, where they had been used to fill out the binding of another book. . . ."

How could Shakespeare have used Saxo's story if it was discovered only in 1877? We find the answer on page 6 for the above mentioned Danish 1960 edition of Amleth's Revenge: The French author Belleforest retold it in his "Histoires Tragiques," published in 1570. Belleforest, apparently not important enough for being mentioned in such reference books as, for example, Edouard Herriot's "Precis de l'Histoire des Lettres Francaises," became indirectly responsible for Shakespeare's great drama; indirectly, because the latter must have read it in an English translation — published in 1608—of the original French text.

Of course, the Shakespearean Hamlet is not just a dramatization of Saxo's "short story." After having read Amleth's Revenge and compared it with Shakespeare's work, one must come to the conclusion that the latter used Amleth only as "the vehicle for personal problems of a genius," as so justly expressed by the author of the Danish booklet (English translation of the Danish edition of Jorgen Olrik by Reginald Spink).

Shakespeare changed some of the original names: Feng became Claudius; a nameless girl become Ophelia; and the final "h" in Amleth became the capital "H" in Hamlet. But these externally visible discrepancies are of less importance. What we do not find in the original is the profound characterization of "dramatis personae" and the psychological dilemmas. The original is bare of such profundity, it is rather primitive. Though prehistoric, Saxo's Amleth "is indeed of the same Danish royal blood as the princess who in the immortal fairy tale by Hans Christian Andersen feels a pea through a pile of eiderdowns."

Three Directors Are Named at Cornell

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Cornell University announced today appointment of a physicist, an astronomer and a businessman to the board of directors of its aeronautical laboratory at Buffalo.

They are Seville Chapman, director of the laboratory's physics division; Prof. Thomas Gold, chairman of Cornell's Astronomy Dept., and Donald McMaster of Rochester, a former vice president of the Eastman Kodak Co.

869 Residents Served by X-ray Unit Wednesday

A total of 869 residents of the Town of Shandaken and surrounding area took advantage of the Free Chest X-ray Service, offered by the Mobile X-ray Unit which visited Phoenicia Wednesday at the Alamo Mobile Station.

Canvassing volunteers, appointed by the chairman, Supervisor Ralph Bush and co-chairman, Judge A. E. Hess, who contributed to the success of the survey were:

Phoenicia area, the Mmes. Aldert Kilmer, Tanya Smith, Leo Wood, Henry Bernstein, Henry Hanel, Lonnie Gale, James Short, Frank Hanigan, James Hefferan, George Meister, Chauncy Schoonmaker and Leonard Byer.

Many others served as registrars and hostesses through the Shandaken Public Health Nursing Committee. The names of these volunteers will appear in a later item.

Health for All

Poison!

A helpful husband was doing the family wash in an automatic laundry. He'd taken his two little girls along with him to get them off his wife's hands. While he was busy with the wash, the children asked him for a nickel each to buy soda pop. Without thinking, he gave them the money. After a few minutes something rang a bell in his mind and he went looking for his youngsters to find out where soda could be bought for only a nickel. He found the children holding unmarked paper cups containing a clear liquid. The liquid was chlorine bleach. It had come from a vending machine in the laundry. Fortunately only one child had taken a mouthful of her "drink" and she had spit it out because it tasted nasty. So in this case there were no casualties.

Household products account for 20 per cent of all reported poisoning cases. And most of these cases are among young children. The clearest labeling won't protect a child. It's up to the adults in the family to make sure that a youngster doesn't get his hands on something that can kill him.

Cleaning compounds, detergents, bleaches, waxes, insecticides, should all be kept way out of a child's reach. Remember that children can get into all floor level cabinets, unless they're kept locked. A tightly fitting door isn't enough. Very high up is best. Children climb on chairs to get to things.

Never, even for a minute, leave something poisonous in a glass, cup, pitcher or pop bottle. Keep all household products in their original containers. If a label comes loose, either stick it back on or prepare another label. Then, should an accident happen, despite your precautions, you can tell the doctor what the child has taken.

Tricks Hide in Strange Places

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When there is only one place to collect an important trick, that's the place to go after it. Don't give up merely because you don't see much chance to get it.

Had West opened a diamond, South's doubtful game conrtact would have collapsed immediately. But West was not clairvoyant and he opened a heart.

East took his ace and looked around for a way to set the hand. He could count on two sure trump tricks. Would repeated heart leads embarrass declarer?

They would if declarer had a four trump suit, but that was out of the question. He surely held five of them.

How about sitting back and waiting? Also hopeless! South surely held five spades and the ace and queen of clubs. Once South drew trumps he could drop his losing diamonds on dummy's club suit.

By a process of elimination, East had come down to the diamond suit as the only possible lead.

That did not look promising either, but East played his nine of diamonds hopefully. West did not hold any face cards, but he did hold the ten of diamonds and eventually East took a diamond trick and the contract was set.

KRIPPLEBUSH — The annual fair and food sale will be held Saturday afternoon, June 23 starting 1 o'clock at the old red schoolhouse.

Lorenzen Graduated

Nancy Lorenzen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Lorenzen of North Chestnut Street, New Paltz, received on June 10, from the State University College at Plattsburgh, a Bachelor of Science Degree in Nurse Education.

While in Plattsburgh, Nancy was active in Student Association, a member of the Clionian Sorority, and participated in the various nursing organizations.

Miss Lorenzen has accepted a school nurse-teacher position in Lake Ronkonkamo on Long Island beginning September of the new school year.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

According to an interesting newsletter called The Nose Print put out by the Ulster Dog Training Club, Inc., "In 1891 a group of prominent men in Ulster County recognized the need of a Humane Association, and on July 22 of that year met and organized the Ulster County SPCA." It is said they have no records of the organization until it was reactivated in 1950. Since then a shelter has been built on Maize Road, just off Brabrant Road, consisting of a modern concrete block building with some 56 separate pens, and even a maternity ward for dogs and their pups and cats and their kittens.

The local organization has a history of taking in lost, forgotten, unwanted or mistreated cats, dogs, and also goats, pigs, ducks, sheep, chickens and even skunks. For instance when a horse or cow is brought in it is boarded at nearby farms, with every animal there is a different problem. Many need a good home and love and understanding and the local SPCA trys to meet their needs.

The Vol. 1 No. 3 Nose Print contains some 14 pages of information of interest to pet owners, like "Up-to-date facts about distemper vaccination". The Ulster Dog Training classes no doubt will have their graduation exercises soon at the Downtown Community Center, under the directorship of Kathryn Seitz. The other evening I saw the dogs and owners do a square dance to music and I think the dogs really got into the spirit of it. Mary McDonald manages the refreshments on training nights with coffee, and delicious homemade cakes. The group is made up of charming people and trainable dogs, and usually an interested audience.

Youngsters hear about the soap and candlemaker in stories and poems. Looking back in our own Kingston-Rondout Directory of 1858 which was loaned to be my O. A. Goodsell I see we had two soap and candlemakers in Kingston. Alexander Gibson at 11 North Front Street and Joseph P. Ostrander on Kingston Avenue, near Maiden Lane. No doubt all cities had small manufacturers of this type but now soap makers are big business with tremendous advertising coverage.

In my time there were many music teachers, as most girls took piano lessons and boys played the violin. Back in 1858 I see Henry Hofer listed at Kingston Academy and George Goeller in Rondout on Hunter Street near Hone Street. There were so many individual craftsmen in those days, making a living only from what their two hands and talent could bring in. John W. Kerr, a saddler, at 10 North Front Street Timothy Ketcham, a gardener, Fair near Greenkill Avenue. Silas Keyser, a painter from Liberty Street Albert Kugler a gunsmith of 43 North Front Street. Edward P. Lasher a carpenter East Front near St. James Street. Andrew Layman, a shoemaker, Wall Street corner St. James. Marie Lee was a dressmaker, John near Fair Street. I wonder how much they could make an hour, in 1858.

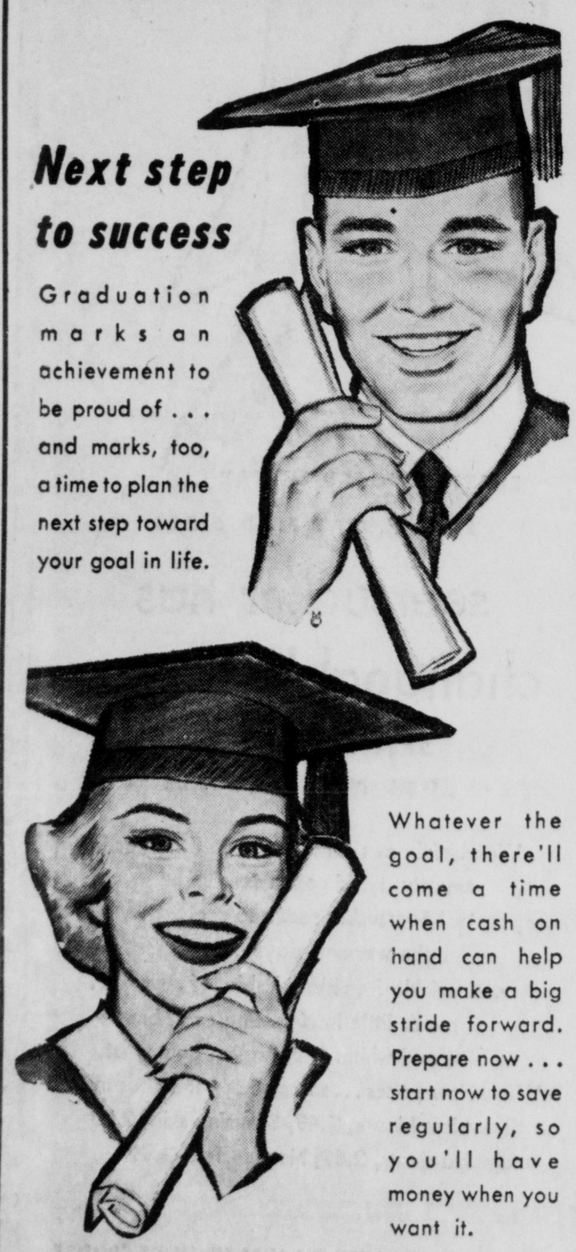

I wonder if anyone like Isaiah Clearwater, a cabinet maker, Bridge Street near Hurley Avenue pasted labels on their handmade furniture. Walter S. Buddington of St. James Street was a carriage trimmer. James Fitzgerald was a stonecutter. Alexander J. Forbes was a "segar maker." William H. Morgan was a "wagonmaker." Sandy Lutz, a basketmaker, lived near Golden Hill. No doubt many of these trades were handed down. Kingston and Rondout must have been a busy place with many trades necessary for folks in Ulster County and the Hudson Valley.

Three years, 7 months and 30 days elapsed between Pearl Harbor and explosion of the first atomic bomb on Hiroshima, Japan.

36 Accidental Deaths Reported During Weekend

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State recorded a grim toll of 36 accidental deaths over the weekend. The accidents included five in which more than one life was lost.

Traffic mishaps accounted for 24 of the deaths. One person died in a boating accident and eight drowned. Accidents of other types took three lives during the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday night.

The number of dead was unusually high for a non - holiday summer weekend. Last weekend, accidents took 28 lives, and on the weekend of June 3, 16 persons were killed.

The worst accident this weekend was a two-car head-on collision Friday night at West Carthage that claimed three lives. Albert G. Ryther, 77, of Copenhagen; his wife, Ruth, 57, and Richard S. Currier, 26, of Carthage, were killed.

At Long Beach, Providence LiMarcio, 14, and Emily Schiavine, 17, both of Oceanside, drowned while swimming in the Atlantic Ocean Sunday.

David J. Corser, 19, of Cortland, and Sally Huson, 19, of Homer, were killed Saturday when the automobile in which they were riding left a highway on a curve near Cortland and overturned.

Catherine A. Gerard, 17, of Southport, and Patricia Liles, 16, of Elmira, died when two cars collided Saturday and one of the cars struck a tree in Southport, an Elmira suburb.

In New York City Saturday, Keith Gentilcore, 18, of Syosset, and Allen Faber, 18, of Plainview, were killed when their car struck a concrete abutment.

Other fatal accidents, by community:

Wayne M. Rowe, airman recruit, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice N. Rowe of Route 1, West Hurley, returned to the Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J., recently from an eight-month deployment to the Antarctic.

Crewmembers of the helicopter detachment flew reconnaissance missions and established the first automatic weather station to be placed on Scott Island in the Antarctic Ocean. The station automatically transmits weather information to McMurdo Sound, 1,000 miles away.

AWARDED WINGS OF GOLD—Second Lieutenant Robert W. Pomeroy, (right) USMC, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon M. Pomeroy of Wawarsing, is congratulated by his commanding officer, Cmdr. W. G. Stearns Jr., after receiving his "Wings of Gold" during ceremonies held May 25, at Ellyson Field, Pensacola, Fla. He became a qualified Marine aviator and helicopter pilot after successfully completing the Naval Air Training Command flight training program with Helicopter Training Squadron at Ellyson Field.

A graduate of Cortland State Teachers College, Lt. Pomeroy entered the service in September 1960.

Aboard Dock Ship

Two Ulster County youths were aboard the dock landing ship USS Fort Snelling when it answered a Red Cross call to carry several tons of tents from Athens, Greece, to Tunis, Tunisia.

They were Walter Jensen, damage controlman third class, USN, son of Mrs. Nora Jensen, Route 1, Stone Ridge, and Michael J. Duffy, fireman, USN, son of Mrs. Ruth Nielson, Ulster Avenue, Kingston.

The Fort Snelling has been operating in the Mediterranean area as a unit of the U. S. Sixth Fleet. The ship is scheduled to return to Little Creek, Va., June 16.

Driver Is Hurt In Ellenville Sports Car Event

A 23-year-old Long Island man was critically injured at 4 p. m. Sunday when his car went out of control and overturned several times off Cathalia Road, east of Ellenville, during a sports car hill climbing event.

Ellenville State Trooper Michael Mahoney said Stephen Algins of 22 Nassau Street, Great Neck, L. I., owner and operator of the 1958 sports car, was taken to Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville. He suffered a possible skull fracture, lacerations of the face, arms and legs, a fractured left foot and left knee.

Troopers said Algins was pinned in the demolished vehicle and was extricated by Ellenville First Aid Squad and a wrecker crew.

Trooper Mahoney said Algins was participating in a hill climbing event when he lost control of the car, which overturned several times. The mishap occurred about one mile north of Route 52 east of Ellenville.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street and Washington seem to be talking to themselves these days. Most of the official figures coming out of the capital show the economy's health increasingly better. Most of the stock prices on the Wall Street tape were paler than the previous week despite Friday afternoon's strong rally.

Eyes on Statistics

Seasoned stock traders may give little heed to encouraging words as such, but they pay close attention to statistics.

But this time the figures seemed to faze the market little or not at all.

Statistics show industrial production hit a record high in May —despite a sharp decline in steel output. Personal income also rose, and so did employment, while the ratio of the jobless to the total labor force declined a bit more. Auto production gained in May and continued higher in early June — and healthy auto output and sales usually pep up the tone of the whole economy.

Wall Street didn't seem to hear —or only in passing—and then to forget.

Two reasons are given for the market's current deafness to cheerful statistics. First, the gains, except for those in autos, were only slight, or less than earlier expectations casting doubt on the strength of their momentum. Secondly the market looks well ahead, and the official figures usually show the situation some time back.

Still, past and especially the more nearly current statistics are usually good indicators of trends. This time many in Wall Street seem to interpret the indicators as pointing down—a view rejected by most Washington officials, at least publicly.

Uncertainty Confusing

Adding to the confusion of the conflicting views of the administration and many stock investors over the course the economy will take is the uncertainty in the market itself.

While the general course of the market has been down for several weeks, sharp fluctuations in prices from day to day, and even from hour to hour, point up one fact:

Many investors aren't buying the inevitability of another recession soon—but are buying up stocks they consider have dropped to bargain prices.

In such a market, what an individual investor feels in his bones may be more important than the cold statistics about production, sales, earnings and prices.

Official statistics in the next few months—the traditional season of slowdown in many lines—may give little help to repairing confidence. But just as Wall Street isn't paying too much attention to the pleasant statistics now, it could regain a measure of confidence if the slowdown isn't as marked as the more pessimistic are predicting.

Washington's enthusiasm at the turn of the year proved to have been overdone. Wall Street's pessimism of recent weeks could prove to be overdone, too.

Important ICCE Meeting June 21; Answers Given

NEW PALTZ—The Independent Citizens Committee on Education will hold its next regular meeting at 8 p. m., June 21 in the cafeteria of the New Paltz Central High School. This will be an open meeting to which the public is invited.

Plans for the new school will be discussed and the architects have been invited to attend.

As a service to the community, this question and answer report is offered by the ICCE in order that the voters of the New Paltz Central School District may get information concerning the proposed bond issue for the new school building.

Questions will be answered as promptly as possible. Some delay may be necessary on occasion to permit the ICCE to gather facts from all sources. Confine questions to the proposed new building and mail them to ICCE P. O. Box 434, New Paltz. Names will be withheld on request and questions may be edited for the sake of brevvity or clarity. An attempt will be made to give personal replies if requested.

Q. If the bond issue passes for construction of a 16-room elementary school, is there any assurance that the present school in Gardiner will be kept in operation? Mrs. R. Thieben.

A. Yes. The Board of Education has stated that with the construction of one elementary school in a centralized location, the district's present needs would be best served by continuing to operate the two room school in Gardiner. This is expected to be the board's attitude until another school is needed and approved by the voters.

Q. Can you estimate how much the state will contribute toward a new elementary school and how much money or local taxes must provide? . . . Bennett Bradt.

A. Under legislation recently passed, we may receive up to, but no more than, 27 per cent of the entire cost. The principal is $610,000 plus $231,000 interest making the total amount $841,880. State Building Aid of 37 per cent would be $311,495.60. This makes the district's share $530,384.40.

Q. How much will the cost of a 16-room school increase our present tax rate? Mrs. R. Thieben.

A. An estimated $6.35 per thousand of assessed valuation for the 1963-64 school year. This will gradually decrease each year. If you are assessed for $2,000 this means you would pay an additional $12.70.

Q. If the bond issue is passed do you think Gardiner stands a chance of ever having a new school in its vicinity? When? Mrs. Kenneth Brooks.

A. The Board of Education has stated that the search is continuing for an additional site south of the village in order to be ready to build when more space is necessary. This is estimated to be 1967. In the meantime, a 16-room school on the northern site will provide adequate space for educating all the children of the district, including the Gardiner children.

Two eight-room schools located on two sites would have provided 16 classrooms now. When more than 16 rooms were needed additions would have been made on either or both schools. The recent defeat of one site does not lessen the need for 16 rooms but makes it necessary to put them all in one location if we are to alleviate the current classroom shortage. The School Board anticipates future building to be on a different site preferably south of the village.

The ICCE has gone on record as being in favor of two elementary schools. It has also passed a motion stating that "The ICCE supports the Board of Education's proposal for a new 16-room elementary school and also calls for a referendum in the near future for an additional school site south of the village."

The ICCE has set up a subcommittee to help locate a site acceptable to all the voters in the district including the people of Gardiner.

On Dean's List

Jackie Jayne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jayne of 19 South Oakwood Terrace, New Paltz, has been placed on the Dean's List for the spring semester at Pratt Institute in Brooklyn.

Miss Jayne has completed her Freshman Foundation and will continue in Art Education program in the fall.

Awarded Degree

D. Bruce Campbell, son of Dr. and Mrs. Loren Campbell of 66 Prospect Street, New Paltz, received a Mechanical Engineering degree from Union College, Schenectady, at its 167th Commencement on June 10.

St. Andrew's Bake Sale

The Women of St. Andrew's Church will hold their annual Bake Sale Wednesday at 9 a. m. at the Empire Market on upper Main Street. Proceeds from the sale will go to the church camp fund.

The Mothers Mass will be held on Thursday instead of Wednesday, at 9:30 a. m.

Carroll Receives BA

Merwyn A. Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvyn Carroll of 8 Ridge Road, received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Colgate University at commencement exercises on June 11.

Merwyn, a pre-dental student, majored in zoology. A 1958 graduate of New Paltz Central School, he was co-treasurer of Tau Kappa Epilson, national social fraternity.

The New Paltz Playground Committee has been working on a program they hope will meet the recreational needs and interests of people of all ages in the community.

The morning program will remain much the same as last year's, including boys' baseball team games for the older children, elementary games for the younger children, and a crafts program. It is also hoped to include opportunity for instruction in tennis and archery if enough interest is indicated by the older children.

The additional hours of 1-4 p. m. this year provide time for special attention to be given to children ages 4-8. During these afternoon hours the program devoted to the younger children will include story telling, crafts especially for this age level, games, and organized and supervised play. Older children are also encouraged to attend in the afternoon to partake in the fun of activities planned for them. Recreational activities for these children will be planned according to their interests.

The committee also hopes to include in their program girls' softball. Any girls twelve years or older who are interested should contact Marlene Winnie.

Tannenbaum Gets BA

Robert Tannenbaum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Tannenbaum of 6 Lincoln Place, New Paltz, was granted the degree of Bachelor of Arts at the commencement exercises held at Haverford College, Haverford, Pa., Friday.

He was one of 98 graduates. Tannenbaum is a graduate of New Paltz Central High School and the Campus School.

At Haverford, Tannenbaum majored in chemistry and was active in the Chemistry Club, the Glee Club, the orchestra, and various student Council committees. He was the chairman of the committee on Orienting Incoming Freshmen, and participated in intercollegiate basketball and golf.

In September, he will attend the Graduate School of Education at the University of Chicago where he has been granted an Advancement of Learning by the Board of Trustees. He plans to work for his Ph. D. in Science Education.

Twenty-three per cent of the 13,000 U.S. philanthropic foundations are located in New York City.

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street and Washington seem to be talking to themselves these days. Most of the official figures coming out of the capital show the economy's health increasingly better. Most of the stock prices on the Wall Street tape were paler than the previous week despite Friday afternoon's strong rally.

Eyes on Statistics

Seasoned stock traders may give little heed to encouraging words as such, but they pay close attention to statistics.

But this time the figures seemed to faze the market little or not at all.

Statistics show industrial production hit a record high in May —despite a sharp decline in steel output. Personal income also rose, and so did employment, while the ratio of the jobless to the total labor force declined a bit more. Auto production gained in May and continued higher in early June — and healthy auto output and sales usually pep up the tone of the whole economy.

Wall Street didn't seem to hear —or only in passing—and then to forget.

Two reasons are given for the market's current deafness to cheerful statistics. First, the gains, except for those in autos, were only slight, or less than earlier expectations casting doubt on the strength of their momentum. Secondly the market looks well ahead, and the official figures usually show the situation some time back.

Still, past and especially the more nearly current statistics are usually good indicators of trends. This time many in Wall Street seem to interpret the indicators as pointing down—a view rejected by most Washington officials, at least publicly.

Uncertainty Confusing

Adding to the confusion of the conflicting views of the administration and many stock investors over the course the economy will take is the uncertainty in the market itself.

While the general course of the market has been down for several weeks, sharp fluctuations in prices from day to day, and even from hour to hour, point up one fact:

Many investors aren't buying the inevitability of another recession soon—but are buying up stocks they consider have dropped to bargain prices.

In such a market, what an individual investor feels in his bones may be more important than the cold statistics about production, sales, earnings and prices.

Official statistics in the next few months—the traditional season of slowdown in many lines—may give little help to repairing confidence. But just as Wall Street isn't paying too much attention to the pleasant statistics now, it could regain a measure of confidence if the slowdown isn't as marked as the more pessimistic are predicting.

Washington's enthusiasm at the turn of the year proved to have been overdone. Wall Street's pessimism of recent weeks could prove to be overdone, too.

Important ICCE Meeting June 21; Answers Given

NEW PALTZ—The Independent Citizens Committee on Education will hold its next regular meeting at 8 p. m., June 21 in the cafeteria of the New Paltz Central High School. This will be an open meeting to which the public is invited.

Plans for the new school will be discussed and the architects have been invited to attend.

As a service to the community, this question and answer report is offered by the ICCE in order that the voters of the New Paltz Central School District may get information concerning the proposed bond issue for the new school building.

Questions will be answered as promptly as possible. Some delay may be necessary on occasion to permit the ICCE to gather facts from all sources. Confine questions to the proposed new building and mail them to ICCE P. O. Box 434, New Paltz. Names will be withheld on request and questions may be edited for the sake of brevvity or clarity. An attempt will be made to give personal replies if requested.

Q. If the bond issue passes for construction of a 16-room elementary school, is there any assurance that the present school in Gardiner will be kept in operation? Mrs. R. Thieben.

A. Yes. The Board of Education has stated that with the construction of one elementary school in a centralized location, the district's present needs would be best served by continuing to operate the two room school in Gardiner. This is expected to be the board's attitude until another school is needed and approved by the voters.

Q. Can you estimate how much the state will contribute toward a new elementary school and how much money or local taxes must provide? . . . Bennett Bradt.

A. Under legislation recently passed, we may receive up to, but no more than, 27 per cent of the entire cost. The principal is $610,000 plus $231,000 interest making the total amount $841,880. State Building Aid of 37 per cent would be $311,495.60. This makes the district's share $530,384.40.

Q. How much will the cost of a 16-room school increase our present tax rate? Mrs. R. Thieben.

A. An estimated $6.35 per thousand of assessed valuation for the 1963-64 school year. This will gradually decrease each year. If you are assessed for $2,000 this means you would pay an additional $12.70.

Q. If the bond issue is passed do you think Gardiner stands a chance of ever having a new school in its vicinity? When? Mrs. Kenneth Brooks.

A. The Board of Education has stated that the search is continuing for an additional site south of the village in order to be ready to build when more space is necessary. This is estimated to be 1967. In the meantime, a 16-room school on the northern site will provide adequate space for educating all the children of the district, including the Gardiner children.

Two eight-room schools located on two sites would have provided 16 classrooms now. When more than 16 rooms were needed additions would have been made on either or both schools. The recent defeat of one site does not lessen the need for 16 rooms but makes it necessary to put them all in one location if we are to alleviate the current classroom shortage. The School Board anticipates future building to be on a different site preferably south of the village.

The ICCE has gone on record as being in favor of two elementary schools. It has also passed a motion stating that "The ICCE supports the Board of Education's proposal for a new 16-room elementary school and also calls for a referendum in the near future for an additional school site south of the village."

The ICCE has set up a subcommittee to help locate a site acceptable to all the voters in the district including the people of Gardiner.

On Dean's List

Jackie Jayne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jayne of 19 South Oakwood Terrace, New Paltz, has been placed on the Dean's List for the spring semester at Pratt Institute in Brooklyn.

Miss Jayne has completed her Freshman Foundation and will continue in Art Education program in the fall.

Awarded Degree

D. Bruce Campbell, son of Dr. and Mrs. Loren Campbell of 66 Prospect Street, New Paltz, received a Mechanical Engineering degree from Union College, Schenectady, at its 167th Commencement on June 10.

St. Andrew's Bake Sale

The Women of St. Andrew's Church will hold their annual Bake Sale Wednesday at 9 a. m. at the Empire Market on upper Main Street. Proceeds from the sale will go to the church camp fund.

The Mothers Mass will be held on Thursday instead of Wednesday, at 9:30 a. m.

Carroll Receives BA

Merwyn A. Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvyn Carroll of 8 Ridge Road, received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Colgate University at commencement exercises on June 11.

Merwyn, a pre-dental student, majored in zoology. A 1958 graduate of New Paltz Central School, he was co-treasurer of Tau Kappa Epilson, national social fraternity.

The New Paltz Playground Committee has been working on a program they hope will meet the recreational needs and interests of people of all ages in the community.

The morning program will remain much the same as last year's, including boys' baseball team games for the older children, elementary games for the younger children, and a crafts program. It is also hoped to include opportunity for instruction in tennis and archery if enough interest is indicated by the older children.

The additional hours of 1-4 p. m. this year provide time for special attention to be given to children ages 4-8. During these afternoon hours the program devoted to the younger children will include story telling, crafts especially for this age level, games, and organized and supervised play. Older children are also encouraged to attend in the afternoon to partake in the fun of activities planned for them. Recreational activities for these children will be planned according to their interests.

The committee also hopes to include in their program girls' softball. Any girls twelve years or older who are interested should contact Marlene Winnie.

Tannenbaum Gets BA

Robert Tannenbaum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Tannenbaum of 6 Lincoln Place, New Paltz, was granted the degree of Bachelor of Arts at the commencement exercises held at Haverford College, Haverford, Pa., Friday.

He was one of 98 graduates. Tannenbaum is a graduate of New Paltz Central High School and the Campus School.

At Haverford, Tannenbaum majored in chemistry and was active in the Chemistry Club, the Glee Club, the orchestra, and various student Council committees. He was the chairman of the committee on Orienting Incoming Freshmen, and participated in intercollegiate basketball and golf.

In September, he will attend the Graduate School of Education at the University of Chicago where he has been granted an Advancement of Learning by the Board of Trustees. He plans to work for his Ph. D. in Science Education.

Twenty-three per cent of the 13,000 U.S. philanthropic foundations are located in New York City.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF

History repeats itself. On Oct. 29, 1929, more than 16,000,000 shares were traded on the New York Stock Exchange. On May 29, 1962, 14,750,000 shares exchanged hands.

Both days are significant in economic history since they uncovered many things of explosive nature. The social, political and economic world was shaken by these events.

Thousands of investors lost millions of dollars. Some got scared; others whose financial foundations were built on sand were wiped out. Many were speculating when they should have been investing.

Take an average case. American Telephone and Telegraph is the most widely held stock in the world. It is a premier equity. Early in 1962 a small investor who could have bought 10 shares for cash at $130 a share purchased 50 shares on margin. The stock went to $136 a share and he was happy.

But when, in May 1962, it went tumbling down in price, he became panicky. He was called for more margin, which he couldn't raise. And on the morning of May 29th, 1962, he was sold out at $98¼ a share. His precious savings were lost and gloom has settled over his household.

The irony of this situation is that on the day he sold he should have bought. For 341,900 shares of American Telephone exchanged hands in 5½ hours and when the weak-positioned holders were sold out, the stock rallied to $109⅜. And on the next trading day May 31, it hit $115.

* * *

Financial planning with millions of investors is a jumbled matter. And it will continue to be. The vast powers in the universe which influence material values and prices are daily becoming more complex. A dozen plausible reasons can be given for the 14¾-million-share day.

If a person builds a home in a community where torrential storms blow up and tornado-like winds ensue, he had better put in a firm foundation and use the best and strongest materials available.

Share days of 14 and 16 million on the New York Stock Exchange uncover the unsound and weak financial foundations of millions of investors.

Well, what constitutes a good foundation for the average investor? There are five such foundations from which to choose and they come in this order:

1. Cash in banks and savings institutions.
2. Adequate insurance.
3. Bonds and other fixed-dollar values.
4. Premier ('Blue-Chip') common stocks.
5. Equities bought for appreciation rather than for income.

Far, far too often one will find that investors with a few thousand dollars are speculating (foundation five) with almost all their money. They are among the people who are sold out on 14 and 16-million share days.

No investor should speculate until he has ample cash reserves, a good insurance program and an appropriate group of fourth foundation equities that are not pledged for loans.

If the investor who bought 50 shares of Telephone at $130 on margin had followed these rules, he might have bought 10 additional shares for cash at $100 a share.

Stormy markets lie ahead. And more people will lose again if they don't establish sound financial foundations.

Collect $4,396 As Underpay for 206 in Ulster

The State Labor Department's minimum wage protection for low-paid workers continued to operate at record levels during the first quarter of 1962, it was announced today.

The Department collected $249,130 in minimum wage underpayments during this three-month period from 2,216 establishments throughout the state. The money is turned over to the 7,460 workers who were underpaid.

In Ulster County, a total of $4,396 was collected from 13 establishments for 260 workers.

Enforcement of the minimum wage standards is a responsibility of the State Labor Department's Division of Industrial Relations. The Divisions's field investigators make periodic visits to establishments throughout the state. Where an employe is found to be receiving less than the minimum wage required by state law, the Department has authority to collect such underpayments from the employer and turn them over to the employes involved.

Last year, for the first time in its history, the State Labor Department's underpayment collections topped a million dollars, the result of improved state minimum wage laws and orders during the last three years which provided higher minimums and wider coverage of workers.

Compared to the first quarter of 1961, the 1962 figures show increases in all three factors — money collected (up $28,920), establishments involved (up 462) and workers benefitted (up 2,012).

Financial planning with millions of investors is a jumbled matter. And it will continue to be. The vast powers in the universe which influence material values and prices are daily becoming more complex. A dozen plausible reasons can be given for the 14¾-million-share day.

If a person builds a home in a community where torrential storms blow up and tornado-like winds ensue, he had better put in a firm foundation and use the best and strongest materials available.

Share days of 14 and 16 million on the New York Stock Exchange uncover the unsound and weak financial foundations of millions of investors.

Well, what constitutes a good foundation for the average investor? There are five such foundations from which to choose and they come in this order:

1. Cash in banks and savings institutions.
2. Adequate insurance.
3. Bonds and other fixed-dollar values.
4. Premier ('Blue-Chip') common stocks.
5. Equities bought for appreciation rather than for income.

Far, far too often one will find that investors with a few thousand dollars are speculating (foundation five) with almost all their money. They are among the people who are sold out on 14 and 16-million share days.

No investor should speculate until he has ample cash reserves, a good insurance program and an appropriate group of fourth foundation equities that are not pledged for loans.

If the investor who bought 50 shares of Telephone at $130 on margin had followed these rules, he might have bought 10 additional shares for cash at $100 a share.

Stormy markets lie ahead. And more people will lose again if they don't establish sound financial foundations.

Collect $4,396 As Underpay for 206 in Ulster

The State Labor Department's minimum wage protection for low-paid workers continued to operate at record levels during the first quarter of 1962, it was announced today.

The Department collected $249,130 in minimum wage underpayments during this three-month period from 2,216 establishments throughout the state. The money is turned over to the 7,460 workers who were underpaid.

In Ulster County, a total of $4,396 was collected from 13 establishments for 260 workers.

Enforcement of the minimum wage standards is a responsibility of the State Labor Department's Division of Industrial Relations. The Divisions's field investigators make periodic visits to establishments throughout the state. Where an employe is found to be receiving less than the minimum wage required by state law, the Department has authority to collect such underpayments from the employer and turn them over to the employes involved.

Last year, for the first time in its history, the State Labor Department's underpayment collections topped a million dollars, the result of improved state minimum wage laws and orders during the last three years which provided higher minimums and wider coverage of workers.

Compared to the first quarter of 1961, the 1962 figures show increases in all three factors — money collected (up $28,920), establishments involved (up 462) and workers benefitted (up 2,012).

A SHIP WITH WINGS—The first American-designed hydrofoil ship rests on Oyster Bay, Long Island, following its launching. A joint project of the Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. and the Maritime Commission, the 90-ton HS (Hydrofoil Ship) Denison will be the first operational, ocean-going vessel of this type in the world. The two main foils, weighing 5½ tons each, are in retracted position, as is a foil in the stern. The ship will "fly" in a manner similar to an airplane. At a speed of about 26 knots, the underwater wings will lift the hull of the ship about five feet out of the water, resulting in a smooth, frictionless ride. The ship will be capable of speeds up to 60 knots. After a thorough test program by Grumman, it will be turned over to the Maritime Commission, which plans to charter the 104-foot-long ship to Grace Lines. The Denison will be employed in actual passenger operation in 1963 on a tourist route between Port Everglades, Fla., and the Bahamas, carrying about 60 passengers.

Fire in Heating Duct Drives 100 From Hotel

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—About 100 guests were evacuated from the Hotel Syracuse when a fire broke out in a heating duct as a rabbi cleaned a stove on which a Kosher meal was to be cooked.

The guests were evacuated from the tenth and eleventh floors. Two firemen suffered minor burns, but no other injuries were reported.

The kitchen, on the tenth floor, was used as scheduled to cook a meal served after a wedding.

Damage was confined to the duct.

Asst. Fire Marshal Fred A. Petuna said the fire started Sunday after Rabbi Stanley Wexler of the Young Israel Congregation raised the temperature in the oven of the stove to burn off grease.

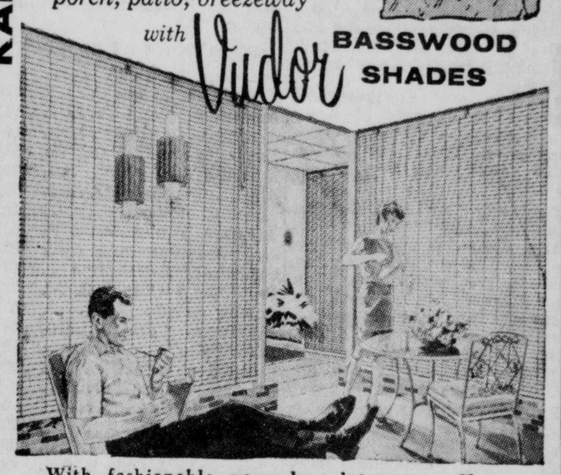

Body Recovered

POULTNEY, Vt. (AP) — Skin-divers record the body of Stanley Saner, 19, of Whitehall, N.Y., Sunday from Lake St. Catherine. Police said the youth's outboard motorboat had overturned Saturday as he operated it in a tight circle.

Reading Program To Begin July 2 At City Library

A patriotic atmosphere will prevail in the Children's Room at the Kingston City Library beginning next week with the opening of the library's summer reading club.

For the fifth summer since the opening of the children's room in 1958, the library will sponsor a reading program for children of grades 3 through 6. All children in these grades may become members.

The program designed to promote and sustain the reading of books during the summer vacation period, is named Presidents' Reading Club.

Registration for the reading club will continue through June 30. A chart listing Presidents of the United States will be given to each club member to illustrate reading progress.

Illustrations of all Presidents have been used to decorate the children's room. Achievement ribbons will be awarded to a boy and girl reading the most books in each grade.

"Parents need not look upon the summer months as a period for neglecting the reading their children do," said Mabel E. Markle, children's librarian.

"So many good books have been published during recent years, that it would be a disservice to the child to deprive him of this interesting reading," she said.

The Presidents' Reading Club officially starts July 2. Credit for books read will be given this week. In operation through Aug. 25, the reading club will be in existence for a total of eight weeks.

The children's room of the library will continue to be open from 1 to 5 p. m. Monday through Saturday.

Housing for Aged Needed Study Shows

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—A Cornell University professor says government and private programs are not meeting the housing needs of the nation's aged persons.

Prof. Glen H. Beyer, director of a study conducted by Cornell's Center for Housing and Environmental Studies, said the study revealed that nearly 45 per cent of persons over 65 need better housing.

He said:

"While the government has instituted several programs to improve housing for the aged, a substantial group of people have needs not being met by these programs."

The study showed that the housing needs of older persons vary greatly and are growing rapidly, Beyer said.

Police Say Woman Admits Shooting

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 37-year-old bookkeeper has admitted the fatal shooting of her husband, police report.

Police said Mrs. Mary Louise Blood of Cleveland said in a signed statement that she shot her husband, Horatio A. Blood, 47, four times with a pistol Sunday as he chased her with a 14-inch bread knife in their home.

Blood, who formerly lived in Amsterdam, N.Y., died about two hours later.

The two had been arguing, police said. They had no children.

Dutchess Records Highway Deaths 18 and 19 Sunday

Dutchess County authorities recorded the county's 18th and 19th highway fatalities over the weekend, when two persons were killed in separate highway accidents involving one car in each mishap.

Dead were identified as:

Mrs. Eva Kapewich, 59, of 172 Colonial Avenue, Albany, wife of Arthur S. Kapewich, 73, same address, former chief chemist at the Nitro Powder Co. plant, and Eugene Ira Risberg, 17, of 26 Fountain Place, Poughkeepsie.

Hyde Park State Trooper Joseph Bolander said Risberg was a passenger in a car driven by John George Sharkey, 19, of Salt Point Turnpike, Town of Poughkeepsie. Risberg died of a skull fracture and brain injury, according to Dr. Chester H. Golding, Wappingers Falls, Dutchess County medical examiner. The accident happened at 1:30 a. m. Sunday.

Troopers said Sharkey and Risberg had just left the Roosevelt Drive-In Theater, Hyde Park, and were heading south on Route 9, when the driver lost control and the car overturned. The mishap is still under investigation.

Troopers said Sharkey was taken to St. Francis' Hospital, Poughkeepsie, suffering lacerations of the head and body, a dislocated hip and other injuries.

Dr. Golding withheld a verdict pending further investigation.

Mrs. Kapewich was a passenger in a 1960 car driven by her husband and headed north on the Taconic State Parkway about 800 feet south of Jackson Corners Road, Town of Milan, when the left front tire of the car blew out, causing the operator to lose control.

Putnam Valley State Police told The Freeman the car left the highway, crossed the center mall to the southbound lane, went up an embankment, swerved to the right, slid down a steep hill into a culvert and overturned.

Troopers said Mrs. Kapewich died of shock, a lacerated brain and hemorrhages, according to Dr. William G. Thompson, Rhinebeck, an assistant Dutchess County medical examiner. Kapewich was taken to the Northern Dutchess Hospital, Rhinebeck, suffering rib fractures and lacerations.

Authorities said the accident happened at 6:05 p. m. Sunday. Mrs. Kapewich died at the Rhinebeck hospital at 8:50 p. m.

The Ulster County Department of Health is then responsible for the planned "follow-up". The director of public health nurses, and the nursing staff work with the commissioner. The private physicians and Dr. Schwartz of the Tuberculosis Hospital to help the individuals whose survey X-ray indicated need for the chest X-ray to be repeated. In those instances where further diagnostic studies are indicated and treatment needed, these departments and physicians work together to provide the services needed.

Individual reports for persons X-rayed in the survey may be received in 2-4 weeks but may take longer depending on the work load at the point of interpretation. Statistical data and over-all survey reports will be evaluated and reports made by the Health Commissioner when they become available.

Keogh Lawyers

victed of having shared a $35,000 bribe, supplied by Corallo, in return for promising to influence U.S. Dist. Judge Leo F. Rayfiel to give a light sentence to Sanford J. Moore, a Long Island jukebox operator. Moore had pleaded guilty to defrauding a bankruptcy trustee.

Rayfiel heard rumors of a fix attempt and sentenced Moore to three years. The sentence was reduced to one year when Moor agred to cooperate with the government in the fix case.

Moore and Dr. Robert M. Erdman, 43, Manhattan orthopedic surgeon and confessed go-between in the fix attempt, were indicted with Keogh, Kahaner and Corallo but obtained separate trials.

Erdman testified that he paid Keogh $22,500 and Kahaner $12,500 to use their influence on behalf of Moore.

Mrs. New York Reigns at Show Of Island Dock

Pretty hazel-eyed "Mrs. New York", who is Mrs. Janet Brown of Buffalo, can well claim the distinction of being "the State's Number One Homemaker", so wide and diversified are her homemaking activities.

"Mrs. New York", who first won the title of Mrs. Niagara Frontier", served as official greeter at the Island Dock annual Urban Renewal and Home Modernization Festival Saturday. The second annual festival, which will be continued Saturday and Sunday, June 23 and 24, at Island Dock, was officially opened Saturday afternoon by Mayor John J. Schwenk and "Mrs. New York".

Hundreds Attend

Hundreds visited the festival from 1 to 6 p. m. to inspect the modern home.

To say that "Mrs. New York" is a busy homemaker is an understatement of facts.

In an interview Saturday prior to her attending the opening of the Island Dock Festival, she modestly outlined many of the accomplishments in her busy life which won for her the title of "Mrs. New York of 1962".

In addition to caring for her family of five, which includes two healthy active boys, Tommy Jr., age 10; Terry, age 8, and a five-year-old daughter, Tracy, she finds time to participate in numerous civic affairs and during the past summer when there was need for an "expanded family room" she donned overalls and assisted the carpenter and mason in building the room and an outside patio".

Became Enthusiastic

She admitted she had actually handled a hammer and saw and became so enthusiastic over the work that she and a neighbor are contemplating a course in carpentry "just to be able to do those many 'do it yourself' chores about the house which go to make a modern home."

An accomplished muscian, "Mrs. New York" hopes to shape a musical career for her children.

"Tommy Jr., and Tracy recently took part in a recital which went off very well. Terry plays the guitar," but she said she hoped Terry would not turn out to be a "cowboy" but grow up to "be more like Ricky Nelson."

Among her hobbies is swimming, but she admitted she had not tackled water skiing.

Was a Tomboy

"When I was a little girl I was a regular 'tomboy', yes I played tackle on a football team when I was in fourth grade" but today she looks little like she ever followed that game as a profession.

"I do not like to do anything unless I do it well," she remarked, and said among her hobbies was baking and dressmaking, and she admitted she made many of her own dresses and those of her daughter.

"I love to make sweet rolls and while I do not bake bread as a usual thing, I do make bread on occasions."

All this homemaking comes to her as a result of a home economics course at Cornell University from which she was graduated, and, later when she was employed as home economist by a Buffalo Utility Company where her husband was "a kitchen planning" expert.

Gardening Her Hobby

Gardening also is one of her hobbies, as are many civic activities, including parent-teacher activities and activities in the "Cornell Club."

One of her delights are the frequent luncheons for the elderly blind men of the area, sponsored by her sorority. At these luncheons she cooks and serves luncheon for from 18 to 20 blind men, a service which she said gives her "great pleasure."

"I love to cook and bake, but with so many family duties, I have to stop somewhere and give a lot of time to my wonderful family." She explained her husband, Thomas H. Brown, is engaged as a partner in an auto parts firm and "works 12 or more hours a day" leaving little time for assistance about the home and he "plays golf on weekends", she remarked.

Asked about the unsual name of Tracy for a girl she remarked, "well it is a boy's name, but I was so sure she was going to be a boy we selected the name and when it turned out to be a girl, well, we just stuck by the name."

Wins Title

Mrs. Brown won the title "Mrs. New York" last fall after first winning the Niagara Frontier contest.

"I had talked two friends out of submitting my name, but a third did it without my knowledge. When I received the application, I thought it would be fun to follow it through."

She went on to win the title and then in 1961 the "Mrs. New York" title which she will hold until her successor is elected this coming fall.

Commenting on the City of Kingston, she said she toured the streets and found Kingston to be a very "pleasant" town and she commented "you have a very large shopping area."

Cable Failure Cuts Out Power On 900 Places

An electric service disruption due to a cable failure affected some 900 subscribers in the southeastern end of the city and along Route 32 to the Bloomington area early this afternoon, an official of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. said.

Service was cut off at about 12:30 p. m. in the area and was restored at 1:05 p. m. he said. Temporary repair was made first and workmen continued this afternoon to complete permanent repair.

The disruption affected areas along the Boulevard, Greenkill Avenue and the ends of streets leading into them.

Bridge Approach Reconstruction Plans Announced

Dr. John Edwards, of Hudson, chairman of the State Bridge Authority, announced Saturday night a project for reconstruction of a mile of the west shore approach to the Mid-Hudson Bridge from three to four lanes, and relocation of toll booths from the Poughkeepsie side of the span to the Highland side.

Dr. Edwards noted that the sharp turn off the west approach to the bridge has been the scene of many traffic accidents. He also pointed out that two additional toll booths are included in the project.

The west section of Route 44-55 will be widened from the Poughkeepsie bridge to the Highland traffic circle. The cost will be more than $1,000,000.

Two of the three lanes in the present highway are used for westbound traffic now, and only one lane is open to eastbound traffic.

Chairman Edwards said the project has been under consideration by the Bridge Authority the last several years, but work on the project was deferred because of the Newburgh-Beacon bridge and the north - south artery in Poughkeepsie.

Dr. Edwards confirmed reports that legislation will be needed to transfer ownership of the one-mile approach from the State Public Works Deptrtment to the Bridge Authority. This action will be requested at next year's session.

Dr. Edwards pointed out the Authority still has a $14,000,000 debt from the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge of 1955. He noted that the bridge authority would not begin the new construction until the Newburgh-Beacon bridge is completed. Funds for Mid-Hudson bridge project will be included in a new bond issue.

According to Supervisor Joseph Martorana (R-Plattekill), State Superintendent of Public Works J. Burch McMorran, informed the Ulster County Board of Supervisors in a recent communication, that the portion of Route 44-55 through Highland and the approach to the Poughkeepsie bridge is not satisfactory for the increasing flow of traffic.

The Ulster board has approved a resolution offered by Martorana calling for the repair, reconstruction and improvement of Route 44-45 in southern Ulster County.

Despondent Writer Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Conrad Salinger, 59, writer of the music for "Bachelor Father" on television, died Sunday, apparently from an overdose of sleeping pills.

Police said Salinger lost his house in last winter's BelAir brush fire and had been despondent.

Low Yield to Be Expected Buying Growth Stocks

Q) "The market's recent drop caused the yields of many growth issues to rise quickly. In spite of the sell-off, though, the yields are still below the general run of most mature stocks. Will disparity remain?" —A. I.

A) I personally think it will.

A major characteristic of growth stocks is that they pay out relatively little of their earnings in the form of dividends. Because of this, yields are small and the group is more susceptible to decline than other thoroughly seasoned categories.

However, it must be realized that the market discounts not only the prospective earnings gains of growth stocks but also the time when the companies will mature and pay out say 60 or 70 per cent of a higher earnings base. As a result, a growth situation yielding only 2 per cent today may actually yield the investor 8 or 9 per cent on his original cost several years from now.

Since matured stocks have no potentials, I think that the disparity you speak of will certainly continue to persist. To what extent, however, it is impossible to tell.

Q) "I'm 27 years old and have held Minnesota Mining for about five years. I've made a good profit. Should I take it?"—J. H.

A) Under the circumstances, I would. Minnesota Mining is fundamentally a very strong stock, and there is little doubt in my mind but that the firm will steadily build its earning power in the years ahead.

Nevertheless, the question of the rate of growth is very important, and I believe that an average of between 10 and 15 per cent a year is the most you could expect. This growth rate is being valued at a relatively high price-earnings multiple, which leads me to believe that 3-M shares may have entered a plateau period. As such, the issue has only limited appeal, particularly for a young man who should be trying to increase his capital.

I advise you to switch to Avco (NYSE), which I regard as a far more promising situation.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

The governor said that on the basis of the 1950 census, New York City had 46 per cent of the state's population and 43 per cent of the vote in the Legislature.

Rockefeller also defended Sen. Robert C. McEwen, R-Ogdensburg, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on reapportionment.

Michael H. Prendergast, ousted Democratic state chairman charged Saturday night that Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City had "ushered in a government by fear, threat and economic reprisals."

Prendergast spoke to the Haverstraw Young Democratic Club.

In his speech at Saratoga Springs today, Rockefeller cited statistics published by the magazine, Industrial Development and Manufacturers' Record, that he said showed 521 new plants for New York State since Jan. 1, 1961.

Charged With Speeding

Robert Garcia, 20, Hewitt Place, was arrested Saturday by deputy sheriffs Jack Seaholm and Emil Kuhnen on a charge of speeding. The officers reported Garcia was apprehended in the Town of Rosendale after a 70-mile an hour chase. He will have a hearing before Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky on June 20.

Mrs. New York Reigns at Show Of Island Dock

Pretty hazel-eyed "Mrs. New York", who is Mrs. Janet Brown of Buffalo, can well claim the distinction of being "the State's Number One Homemaker", so wide and diversified are her homemaking activities.

"Mrs. New York", who first won the title of Mrs. Niagara Frontier", served as official greeter at the Island Dock annual Urban Renewal and Home Modernization Festival Saturday. The second annual festival, which will be continued Saturday and Sunday, June 23 and 24, at Island Dock, was officially opened Saturday afternoon by Mayor John J. Schwenk and "Mrs. New York".

Hundreds Attend

Hundreds visited the festival from 1 to 6 p. m. to inspect the modern home.

To say that "Mrs. New York" is a busy homemaker is an understatement of facts.

In an interview Saturday prior to her attending the opening of the Island Dock Festival, she modestly outlined many of the accomplishments in her busy life which won for her the title of "Mrs. New York of 1962".

In addition to caring for her family of five, which includes two healthy active boys, Tommy Jr., age 10; Terry, age 8, and a five-year-old daughter, Tracy, she finds time to participate in numerous civic affairs and during the past summer when there was need for an "expanded family room" she donned overalls and assisted the carpenter and mason in building the room and an outside patio".

Became Enthusiastic

She admitted she had actually handled a hammer and saw and became so enthusiastic over the work that she and a neighbor are contemplating a course in carpentry "just to be able to do those many 'do it yourself' chores about the house which go to make a modern home."

An accomplished muscian, "Mrs. New York" hopes to shape a musical career for her children.

"Tommy Jr., and Tracy recently took part in a recital which went off very well. Terry plays the guitar," but she said she hoped Terry would not turn out to be a "cowboy" but grow up to "be more like Ricky Nelson."

Among her hobbies is swimming, but she admitted she had not tackled water skiing.

Was a Tomboy

"When I was a little girl I was a regular 'tomboy', yes I played tackle on a football team when I was in fourth grade" but today she looks little like she ever followed that game as a profession.

"I do not like to do anything unless I do it well," she remarked, and said among her hobbies was baking and dressmaking, and she admitted she made many of her own dresses and those of her daughter.

"I love to make sweet rolls and while I do not bake bread as a usual thing, I do make bread on occasions."

All this homemaking comes to her as a result of a home economics course at Cornell University from which she was graduated, and, later when she was employed as home economist by a Buffalo Utility Company where her husband was "a kitchen planning" expert.

Gardening Her Hobby

Gardening also is one of her hobbies, as are many civic activities, including parent-teacher activities and activities in the "Cornell Club."

One of her delights are the frequent luncheons for the elderly blind men of the area, sponsored by her sorority. At these luncheons she cooks and serves luncheon for from 18 to 20 blind men, a service which she said gives her "great pleasure."

"I love to cook and bake, but with so many family duties, I have to stop somewhere and give a lot of time to my wonderful family." She explained her husband, Thomas H. Brown, is engaged as a partner in an auto parts firm and "works 12 or more hours a day" leaving little time for assistance about the home and he "plays golf on weekends", she remarked.

Asked about the unsual name of Tracy for a girl she remarked, "well it is a boy's name, but I was so sure she was going to be a boy we selected the name and when it turned out to be a girl, well, we just stuck by the name."

Wins Title

Mrs. Brown won the title "Mrs. New York" last fall after first winning the Niagara Frontier contest.

"I had talked two friends out of submitting my name, but a third did it without my knowledge. When I received the application, I thought it would be fun to follow it through."

She went on to win the title and then in 1961 the "Mrs. New York" title which she will hold until her successor is elected this coming fall.

Commenting on the City of Kingston, she said she toured the streets and found Kingston to be a very "pleasant" town and she commented "you have a very large shopping area."

Cable Failure Cuts Out Power On 900 Places

An electric service disruption due to a cable failure affected some 900 subscribers in the southeastern end of the city and along Route 32 to the Bloomington area early this afternoon, an official of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. said.

Service was cut off at about 12:30 p. m. in the area and was restored at 1:05 p. m. he said. Temporary repair was made first and workmen continued this afternoon to complete permanent repair.

The disruption affected areas along the Boulevard, Greenkill Avenue and the ends of streets leading into them.

Bridge Approach Reconstruction Plans Announced

Dr. John Edwards, of Hudson, chairman of the State Bridge Authority, announced Saturday night a project for reconstruction of a mile of the west shore approach to the Mid-Hudson Bridge from three to four lanes, and relocation of toll booths from the Poughkeepsie side of the span to the Highland side.

Dr. Edwards noted that the sharp turn off the west approach to the bridge has been the scene of many traffic accidents. He also pointed out that two additional toll booths are included in the project.

The west section of Route 44-55 will be widened from the Poughkeepsie bridge to the Highland traffic circle. The cost will be more than $1,000,000.

Two of the three lanes in the present highway are used for westbound traffic now, and only one lane is open to eastbound traffic.

Chairman Edwards said the projeet has been under consideration by the Bridge Authority the last several years, but work on the project was deferred because of the Newburgh-Beacon bridge and the north - south artery in Poughkeepsie.

Dr. Edwards confirmed reports that legislation will be needed to transfer ownership of the one-mile approach from the State Public Works Deptrtment to the Bridge Authority. This action will be requested at next year's session.

Dr. Edwards pointed out the Authority still has a $14,000,000 debt from the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge of 1955. He noted that the bridge authority would not begin the new construction until the Newburgh-Beacon bridge is completed. Funds for Mid-Hudson bridge project will be included in a new bond issue.

According to Supervisor Joseph Martorana (R-Plattekill), State Superintendent of Public Works J. Burch McMorran, informed the Ulster County Board of Supervisors in a recent communication, that the portion of Route 44-55 through Highland and the approach to the Poughkeepsie bridge is not satisfactory for the increasing flow of traffic.

The Ulster board has approved a resolution offered by Martorana calling for the repair, reconstruction and improvement of Route 44-45 in southern Ulster County.

Despondent Writer Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Conrad Salinger, 59, writer of the music for "Bachelor Father" on television, died Sunday, apparently from an overdose of sleeping pills.

Police said Salinger lost his house in last winter's BelAir brush fire and had been despondent.

Low Yield to Be Expected Buying Growth Stocks

Q) "The market's recent drop caused the yields of many growth issues to rise quickly. In spite of the sell-off, though, the yields are still below the general run of most mature stocks. Will disparity remain?" —A. I.

A) I personally think it will. A major characteristic of growth stocks is that they pay out relatively little of their earnings in the form of dividends. Because of this, yields are small and the group is more susceptible to decline than other thoroughly seasoned categories.

However, it must be realized that the market discounts not only the prospective earnings gains of growth stocks but also the time when the companies will mature and pay out say 60 or 70 per cent of a higher earnings base. As a result, a growth situation yielding only 2 per cent today may actually yield the investor 8 or 9 per cent on his original cost several years from now.

Since matured stocks have no potentials, I think that the disparity you speak of will certainly continue to persist. To what extent, however, it is impossible to tell.

Q) "I'm 27 years old and have held Minnesota Mining for about five years. I've made a good profit. Should I take it?"—J. H.

A) Under the circumstances, I would. Minnesota Mining is fundamentally a very strong stock, and there is little doubt in my mind but that the firm will steadily build its earning power in the years ahead.

Nevertheless, the question of the rate of growth is very important, and I believe that an average of between 10 and 15 per cent a year is the most you could expect. This growth rate is being valued at a relatively high price-earnings multiple, which leads me to believe that 3-M shares may have entered a plateau period. As such, the issue has only limited appeal, particularly for a young man who should be trying to increase his capital.

I advise you to switch to Avco (NYSE), which I regard as a far more promising situation.

The governor said that on the basis of the 1950 census, New York City had 46 per cent of the state's population and 43 per cent of the vote in the Legislature.

Rockefeller also defended Sen. Robert C. McEwen, R-Ogdensburg, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on reapportionment.

Michael H. Prendergast, ousted Democratic state chairman charged Saturday night that Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City had "ushered in a government by fear, threat and economic reprisals."

Prendergast spoke to the Haverstraw Young Democratic Club.

In his speech at Saratoga Springs today, Rockefeller cited statistics published by the magazine, Industrial Development and Manufacturers' Record, that he said showed 521 new plants for New York State since Jan. 1, 1961.

Charged With Speeding

Robert Garcia, 20, Hewitt Place, was arrested Saturday by deputy sheriffs Jack Seaholm and Emil Kuhnen on a charge of speeding. The officers reported Garcia was apprehended in the Town of Rosendale after a 70-mile an hour chase. He will have a hearing before Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky on June 20.

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"This was the scene of my failure. That's why I was hesitant to come back."

Polly Bergen was talking about her two Hollywood careers — a dozen years ago as a starlet and today as an accomplished actress.

The first time around started when she was barely 17. Discovered as a night club singer—she lied about her age, in reverse to what most women do—she was signed for movies by Hal Wallis. She was leading lady for Martin and Lewis back in the days when they were Martin and Lewis, then moved to MGM.

"In both cases, I quit the studios; they didn't drop me," she recalled. "In the last year I did five pictures at MGM, and I was bad in all of them. I was too young. I didn't know the first thing about acting.

"I hurried off to New York; I wouldn't even return for dubbing on the last picture. I didn't know what the future held, but I thought acting was not for me.

"One of the first jobs I had in New York was in an original musical-comedy on a television show. It was the first time I had ever played a role in sequence; in films I had always played the last scene first, etc. I discovered I could act after all."

She made her biggest advance as an actress in "The Helen Morgan Story" on Playhouse 90. The movie offers started coming.

"But I didn't take them," she said. "I was married again (to agent Freddie Fields). My first marriage (to actor Jerome Courtland) never had a chance because we were always apart on movie locations. I didn't want to be separated again. I also had a stepdaughter, with whom I wanted to establish a good relationship. It's hard enough to do that without repeated absences."

So Polly stayed home in New York. But then the situation changed. Her husband left his agency to manage Judy Garland, Henry Fonda, Paul Newman Joanne Woodward, Marlene Dietrich and other stars. That meant much of his work could be done in Hollywood. When Polly got an offer to appear in "Cape Fear" with Gregory Peck and Robert Mitchum, the family moved west.

"I'll admit I was uneasy about returning here," she said. "I felt I had failed in Hollywood. Besides, I am a goer, and the pace of New York living fitted my temperament. For the first six months I didn't think I would be able to stand it here. Now I'm a confirmed Californian."

Her second film career is progressing well, along dramatic lines. She is now playing a "homicidal schizophrenic" in "The Caretakers," and that's about as dramatic as you would want to get.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

WHOSE WOODS ARE THESE?

SMOKEY BEAR hopes you ask yourself this question the next time you go camping, or fishing, or driving through the woods.

Folks forget, sometimes, that they are guests when they visit the woods. Because they forget, they use a different set of rules than they use at home.

So, folks, won't you remember your woodland manners? Leave a clean camp or picnic spot. Use a litter bag in your car. Don't cut green trees. Be careful with matches, smokes, and open fires.

Tillson Troop Receives Awards

Friday evening the Girl Scouts of Troop 56, held their second Court of Awards. They are sponsored by the Ladies Aid of the Tillson Reformed Church. Leader is Mrs. Hal Theiss.

The entire troop worked for the pottery badge under the direction of Mrs. Ernest Hopper. Scouts who completed two pieces of pottery and passed the written test are: Hope Winfield, Gale Grafe, Kathy Chizick, Linda DePuy, Kathy Joule, Christine Banack, Sonia Cables, Alice Brown, Charlene Goss, Marilyn Winfield, Sandra Grothkopp, Susan Thesiss, Joyce Crans, Grace Christensen, Sue Kauffman, Irene Evory and Belinda VanBuren.

The troop is divided into three patrols. Each patrol worked on different badges. The badges they completed are: cook, dabbler, back yard camper, puppeteer, garden, child care, insect, world trefoil, star, mammal and poultry raiser.

Sandra Grothkopp, Charlene Goss, Susan Theiss, Marilyn Winfield, and Alice Brown became first class scouts. They presented a play for the parents and guests with puppets they made themselves.

The girls will give another performance of the play July 21, at the fair of the Tillson Reformed Church. The public may attend.

June 21, the girl scouts will go on a scavenger hunt and then have a party. On June 28, the troop is going to Freedom Land.

100 Men Battle Fire In Massena 8 Hours

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — Ten fire companies and about 100 men battled for more than eight hours Sunday to halt a wind-whipped fire that raged over 1,200 wooded acres about 10 miles south of here.

George Briggs, St. Lawrence County fire coordinator, said Sunday night the flames appeared to have been brought under control.

The fire reached to within a mile of the small community of Norfolk. Winds of 35 miles an hour were reported in the area.

Briggs said the fire had been burning underground for three days. Several earlier outbreaks above ground had been controlled easily.

Machinists Vote For Strike At 12 Missile Sites

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Members of the International Association of Machinists working on 12 launching sites for Atlas Missiles have authorized union officers to call a strike to support contract demands.

A spokesman for Local 2242 said 90 per cent of the local's 342 members attended the meeting Sunday at which the authorization was given. Only one voted against it.

The men are employed by General Dynamics Corp., prime contractor on the underground launching sites in Northern New York and Vermont.

The local spokesman said the workers would wait 10 days after the current contract expires June 23 before voting whether to go on strike.

The association and General Dynamics have been negotiating on a national contract for about two and a half months.

The union spokesman here said contract demands included a union shop, travel pay to the hiring point for workers who are laid off, hospitalization insurance paid by the company, and an allowance of 55 cents an hour from the federal government.

The spokesman said workers were entitled to the allowance because they worked outside the San Diego, Calif., area.

Meeting at Hospital

The Junior Volunteers of Benedictine Hospital will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the nurse's cafeteria. Those attending are asked to bring uniforms.

Crusade Just Started, Says Billy Graham

By RICHARD CICCONE

CHICAGO (AP)—Billy Graham capped his Chicago "Crusade for Christ" Sunday by telling the largest American audie of his evangelistic career, "The crusade has just begun."

Some 116,000 persons—jammed elbow-to-elbow in Soldier Field in 90-degree heat — heard Graham give his final sermon of the 19-day crusade.

Graham has addressed larger crowds only twice in 15 years of evangelistic crusading, both times in Australia in 1959. He spoke to 140,000 in Melbourne and 125,000 in Sydney. More than 100,000 persons heard the evangelist preach in New York City's Yankee Stadium in 1957.

He urged members of his Chicago audience to dedicate their lives to God, to put religion into their social, economic and civic lives, and to fight what he termed, "internal decadence of the culture."

"This crusade doesn't end today. It is only the beginning. Now you have heard the Gospel and you must go out and live as Christians. You are held responsible by God."

Graham said America is backsliding morally in a manner similar to ancient Rome.

"Rome was not defeated by military superiority," said Graham. "It was defeated by its moral and religious decay. Here in America we also have a decaying religion."

At the sermon's conclusion 1,729 persons made their way through the crowded aisles to the speaker's podium to make what Graham calls decisions for Christ.

A total of 16,451 decisions were reported by the Graham organization during the crusade which started Memorial Day. The estimated total attendance was 703,000.

Graham said he will go to his home in Montreat, N.C., for a rest before conducting a special one-day rally, July 8 at the World's Fair in Seattle, Wash.

Brother of Senator Douglas Dies At 77

MILWAUKEE (AP) — John F. H. Douglas, professor emeritus at Marquette University and brotner of Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., died Saturday of lung congestion and heart failure. He was 77.

Douglas, who joined the Marquette faculty in 1920, taught electrical engineering. He became professor-emeritus in 1955 but had continued to teach part time.

He was on the Cornell University faculty from 1914 to 1917, and had also taught at Iowa University and Texas A & M.

Burial will be in Rotterdam Junction, N.Y.

Polly Bergen was talking about her two Hollywood careers — a dozen years ago as a starlet and today as an accomplished actress.

The first time around started when she was barely 17. Discovered as a night club singer—she lied about her age, in reverse to what most women do—she was signed for movies by Hal Wallis. She was leading lady for Martin and Lewis back in the days when they were Martin and Lewis, then moved to MGM.

"In both cases, I quit the studios; they didn't drop me," she recalled. "In the last year I did five pictures at MGM, and I was bad in all of them. I was too young. I didn't know the first thing about acting.

"I hurried off to New York; I wouldn't even return for dubbing on the last picture. I didn't know what the future held, but I thought acting was not for me.

"One of the first jobs I had in New York was in an original musical-comedy on a television show. It was the first time I had ever played a role in sequence; in films I had always played the last scene first, etc. I discovered I could act after all."

She made her biggest advance as an actress in "The Helen Morgan Story" on Playhouse 90. The movie offers started coming.

"But I didn't take them," she said. "I was married again (to agent Freddie Fields). My first marriage (to actor Jerome Courtland) never had a chance because we were always apart on movie locations. I didn't want to be separated again. I also had a stepdaughter, with whom I wanted to establish a good relationship. It's hard enough to do that without repeated absences."

So Polly stayed home in New York. But then the situation changed. Her husband left his agency to manage Judy Garland, Henry Fonda, Paul Newman Joanne Woodward, Marlene Dietrich and other stars. That meant much of his work could be done in Hollywood. When Polly got an offer to appear in "Cape Fear" with Gregory Peck and Robert Mitchum, the family moved west.

"I'll admit I was uneasy about returning here," she said. "I felt I had failed in Hollywood. Besides, I am a goer, and the pace of New York living fitted my temperament. For the first six months I didn't think I would be able to stand it here. Now I'm a confirmed Californian."

Her second film career is progressing well, along dramatic lines. She is now playing a "homicidal schizophrenic" in "The Caretakers," and that's about as dramatic as you would want to get.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

WHOSE WOODS ARE THESE?

SMOKEY BEAR hopes you ask yourself this question the next time you go camping, or fishing, or driving through the woods.

Folks forget, sometimes, that they are guests when they visit the woods. Because they forget, they use a different set of rules than they use at home.

So, folks, won't you remember your woodland manners? Leave a clean camp or picnic spot. Use a litter bag in your car. Don't cut green trees. Be careful with matches, smokes, and open fires.

Remember—Only you can PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

Tillson Troop Receives Awards

Friday evening the Girl Scouts of Troop 56, held their second Court of Awards. They are sponsored by the Ladies Aid of the Tillson Reformed Church. Leader is Mrs. Hal Theiss.

The entire troop worked for the pottery badge under the direction of Mrs. Ernest Hopper. Scouts who completed two pieces of pottery and passed the written test are: Hope Winfield, Gale Grafe, Kathy Chizick, Linda DePuy, Kathy Joule, Christine Banack, Sonia Cables, Alice Brown, Charlene Goss, Marilyn Winfield, Sandra Grothkopp, Susan Thesiss, Joyce Crans, Grace Christensen, Sue Kauffman, Irene Evory and Belinda VanBuren.

The troop is divided into three patrols. Each patrol worked on different badges. The badges they completed are: cook, dabbler, back yard camper, puppeteer, garden, child care, insect, world trefoil, star, mammal and poultry raiser.

Sandra Grothkopp, Charlene Goss, Susan Theiss, Marilyn Winfield, and Alice Brown became first class scouts. They presented a play for the parents and guests with puppets they made themselves.

The girls will give another performance of the play July 21, at the fair of the Tillson Reformed Church. The public may attend.

June 21, the girl scouts will go on a scavenger hunt and then have a party. On June 28, the troop is going to Freedom Land.

100 Men Battle Fire In Massena 8 Hours

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — Ten fire companies and about 100 men battled for more than eight hours Sunday to halt a wind-whipped fire that raged over 1,200 wooded acres about 10 miles south of here.

George Briggs, St. Lawrence County fire coordinator, said Sunday night the flames appeared to have been brought under control.

The fire reached to within a mile of the small community of Norfolk. Winds of 35 miles an hour were reported in the area.

Briggs said the fire had been burning underground for three days. Several earlier outbreaks above ground had been controlled easily.

Machinists Vote For Strike At 12 Missile Sites

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Members of the International Association of Machinists working on 12 launching sites for Atlas Missiles have authorized union officers to call a strike to support contract demands.

A spokesman for Local 2242 said 90 per cent of the local's 342 members attended the meeting Sunday at which the authorization was given. Only one voted against it.

The men are employed by General Dynamics Corp., prime contractor on the underground launching sites in Northern New York and Vermont.

The local spokesman said the workers would wait 10 days after the current contract expires June 23 before voting whether to go on strike.

The association and General Dynamics have been negotiating on a national contract for about two and a half months.

The union spokesman here said contract demands included a union shop, travel pay to the hiring point for workers who are laid off, hospitalization insurance paid by the company, and an allowance of 55 cents an hour from the federal government.

The spokesman said workers were entitled to the allowance because they worked outside the San Diego, Calif., area.

Meeting at Hospital

The Junior Volunteers of Benedictine Hospital will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the nurse's cafeteria. Those attending are asked to bring uniforms.

Crusade Just Started, Says Billy Graham

By RICHARD CICCONE

Some 116,000 persons—jammed elbow-to-elbow in Soldier Field in 90-degree heat — heard Graham give his final sermon of the 19-day crusade.

Graham has addressed larger crowds only twice in 15 years of evangelistic crusading, both times in Australia in 1959. He spoke to 140,000 in Melbourne and 125,000 in Sydney. More than 100,000 persons heard the evangelist preach in New York City's Yankee Stadium in 1957.

He urged members of his Chicago audience to dedicate their lives to God, to put religion into their social, economic and civic lives, and to fight what he termed, "internal decadence of the culture."

"This crusade doesn't end today. It is only the beginning. Now you have heard the Gospel and you must go out and live as Christians. You are held responsible by God."

Graham said America is backsliding morally in a manner similar to ancient Rome.

"Rome was not defeated by military superiority," said Graham. "It was defeated by its moral and religious decay. Here in America we also have a decaying religion."

At the sermon's conclusion 1,729 persons made their way through the crowded aisles to the speaker's podium to make what Graham calls decisions for Christ.

A total of 16,451 decisions were reported by the Graham organization during the crusade which started Memorial Day. The estimated total attendance was 703,000.

Graham said he will go to his home in Montreat, N.C., for a rest before conducting a special one-day rally, July 8 at the World's Fair in Seattle, Wash.

Brother of Senator Douglas Dies At 77

MILWAUKEE (AP) — John F. H. Douglas, professor emeritus at Marquette University and brotner of Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., died Saturday of lung congestion and heart failure. He was 77.

Douglas, who joined the Marquette faculty in 1920, taught electrical engineering. He became professor-emeritus in 1955, but had continued to teach part time.

He was on the Cornell University faculty from 1914 to 1917, and had also taught at Iowa University and Texas A & M.

Burial will be in Rotterdam Junction, N.Y.

Difference

The American cabinet differs from the British in that it does not act as a unit, has no responsibility as such and plays little or no part in making the laws.

How Named

The name of "date" for the fruit of the palm tree is from the Greek "dactylos," meaning "a finger," because of the date's resemblance to a finger.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

NEW YORK (AP)—A prospector, hunting uranium in the Andes Mountains, is trapped in an avalanche and regains consciousness in an inaccessible valley inhabited by a race of blind people.

That was the kick-off to Sunday night's NBC production "The Richest Man in Bogota." It began as a fantasy—a rare television commodity — and appeared ready to explore the adage about a one-eye. man being king in a country of the blind. But as adapted for television from an H. G. Wells tale, it soon turned into a wild and wooly adventure story with Lee Marvin pursued by groping blind men eager to make him "normal" by removing his deformities—eyes.

It was all rather silly and slightly eerie, but the snapper ending was telegraphed almost from the first scenes.

The weekend's most thrilling drama was the real life duel between Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer Sunday for the National Open golf championship. The playoff of Saturday's tie was a real cliff-hanger right up to the putts on the last hole, when Nicklaus was able to hold onto his two-stroke lead.

NBC's staff photographed the match well, but the commentators felt, apparently, that they had to chatter every second, even when the situation was self-explanatory.

Highlight of Friday's news special—also on NBC—on Germany was a remarkable innovation: the program actually used Germans who could not speak English for interviews. It used instantaneous translations and it was a good idea. Television usually confines its overseas interviews to people who speak fluent English rather than to the best or most intelligent sources.

If you are a Don Knotts fan, Tuesday is your night. Don will be the guest star on the Red Skelton repeat show, followed by an appearance on the "Garry Moore Show." He is visible tonight in his regular comedy role on "The Andy Griffith Show."

"To Tell the Truth" is being launched this afternoon as a Monday through Friday afternoon show (CBS, 3:30-3:55). The panelists will be changed weekly.

Recommended tonight: "I've got a Secret," CBS, 10:30-11 (EDT)—10th anniversary of the popular panel show hosted by Garry Moore.

Deer Visits Ithaca Pool Hall and Bank

The deer wandered past Police headquarters in this Central New York city of 29,000 Sunday. Police tried to lasso it but missed.

With police in pursuit, the deer then jumped through the rear window of a billiard parlor and out a front window, and headed for the bank, where it jumped in and out again through the same window.

When last reported it was headed down Tioga Street. It disappeared in a wooded area.

Refreshment committee will be Mary McDonald, Eileen Savage, Florence Hommel and Greta Port. Guests may attend.

Runaway Freight Cars Smash Wall

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Three cars of a New York Central freight train rolled down a spur Sunday and smashed through the wall of a bakery on the city's west side.

Two workmen in the plant escaped uninjured.

The cars were part of a train being put together on a siding near the National Biscuit Co. The lead car tore through a loading dock before it hit the wall.

Police said a switching mixup apparently allowed the cars to roll down the spur.

Hourly Workers Strike Dunlop Tire and Rubber

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — More than 900 hourly workers, members of the United Rubber Workers Union, today struck the Dunlop Tire & Rubber Corp. plant in suburban Tonawanda after Dunlop refused to meet their wage demands.

Pickets began patrolling the plant gates shortly after the strike was called at midnight but the union said it would not interfere with 450 salaried non-union employes reporting for work.

Federal Mediator Clarence M. LaMotte called Dunlop representatives and those of URW Local 135 together Sunday to try to iron out a last-minute settlement but both sides were reported farther apart after the meeting.

Dunlop told its workers it could not afford pay raises!

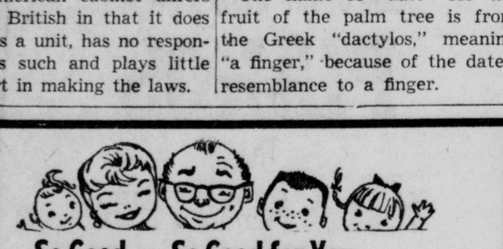

There was no immediate comment on the strike from the company.

A union representative said the local proposed a scaled-down hourly increase of 10 cents during negotiations but was reverting to its original 17½-cent demand.

He said the increase would have cost the company $100,000 this year but "the strike will cost them $150,000 a week."

Combined Population

Both the United States and Canada recorded large population gains during 1961 and their combined population reached 203,600,000. Total U.S. population (including armed forces personnel at home and abroad) was 185,210,000, or an increase of more than 2,950,000 in 1961; Canada boosted its population to 18,290,000 by adding 350,000 new inhabitants.

Homely?
So is our popular little beetle: the Volkswagen Sedan.
Pug-nosed?
You might call it that. The engine's in the back: over the rear wheels to give you traction.
It's the famous VW air-cooled engine. No water to stall it on freezing winter mornings. Or boil over in stop-and-go summer traffic.
Boxy?
Yet it holds 60% more than the longest station wagon.
You can seat 8 grownups.
Or use it as a nursery on wheels. Through the wide double doors on the side, it's easy to slide in an open playpen, a made-up crib or even a twin baby carriage.

There was no immediate comment on the strike from the company.

A union representative said the local proposed a scaled-down hourly increase of 10 cents during negotiations but was reverting to its original 17½-cent demand.

He said the increase would have cost the company $100,000 this year but "the strike will cost them $150,000 a week."

Combined Population

Both the United States and Canada recorded large population gains during 1961 and their combined population reached 203,600,000. Total U.S. population (including armed forces personnel at home and abroad) was 185,210,000, or an increase of more than 2,950,000 in 1961; Canada boosted its population to 18,390,000 by adding 350,000 new inhabitants.

A face only a mother could love.

Homely?
So is our popular little beetle: the Volkswagen Sedan.
Pug-nosed?
You might call it that. The engine's in the back: over the rear wheels to give you traction.
It's the famous VW air-cooled engine. No water to stall it on freezing winter mornings. Or boil over in stop-and-go summer traffic.
Boxy?
You can seat 8 grownups.
Or use it as a nursery on wheels. Through the wide double doors on the side, it's easy to slide in an open playpen, a made-up crib or even a twin baby carriage.
Not much to look at?
But great to look out of. (23 windows. A sunroof, too.)
Come in and fall in love at first ride. $2095* to $2495* (Sliding Roof Extra)

Musical Society Enters Porject At State Exposition

The Musical Society of Kingston has entered its project in the 11th Annual Community Service Awards contest sponsored by the Women's Division of the New York State Exposition, announced Mrs. J. Edwin Yarwood, awards chairman.

The 1962 expcsition opens Tuesday, August 28 in Syracuse, for seven days and nights.

The group's program chairman, Collette M. Sonnenberg, 75 Millers Lane, said the society established a phonograph lending service at the city library in Kingston. The purpose of the service was to bring to area citizens the opportunity of having available good music that may be taken home for study and listening, she said.

Records were collected by society members from area merchants and residents. Each member also donated records for the library.

The program chairman noted that "circulation of records has tripled" since the service was started in April, 1961.

President of the Musical Society is Mrs. Ralph Harper, 224 Fair Street.

AAUW Scholarship Winner Will Study At Adelphi College

SUE TABAKMAN

Sue Tabakman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Tabakman of 41 Catskill Avenue was the recent AAUW scholarship winner, and special guest at the annual picnic on June 12.

She plans to attend Adelphi College in Garden City, Long Island, where she would like to pursue a pre-medical course.

Miss Tabakman moved to Kingston with her family when she was five years old. She has four younger sisters, Martha 15, Barbara 10, Diane 8, and Nadine 6. She attended Kingston public schools and her high school years have been active ones. Her academic major was science, which included general science, general biology, chemistry, and advanced biology. She is graduating with Magna Cum Laude honors, being sixth in her class. She also found time for a number of extra-curricular activities. They included Leaders Club, French Honor Society, National Honor Society, Debating Team and president of the Latin Club. Miss Tabakman was also active in intramural sports, basketball and volleyball. She is an active member of B'nai B'rith.

In her freshman year, she was presented with the Lion's Club Award for service to community and school.

In addition to the AAUW scholarship, she was also the recipient of the Prisma scholarship and the Lions Club scholarship. The DAR Award was presented to her on the basis of nomination by her class and the faculty. She is also an alternate for a Regents scholarship.

Sue enjoys playing tennis, and sketching, when she can fit it in her busy schedule, since she also works at the Grand Union on Albany Avenue. Sue likes to collect travel folders and hopes some day to visit Italy and Israel.

This summer she hopes to gain experience in her field of study by working in a pharmacy in Fleischmanns.

WHEN THE USHERS ARE MARRIED

Q:.Our son is soon to be married and my husband and I are planning to give the rehearsal dinner. The attendants include four bridesmaids and four ushers plus the maid of honor and best man. All of the ushers are married but the bridemaids are not. The best man and maid of honor are also unmarried. Is it necessary to invite the wives of the ushers to the rehearsal dinner? If we do, there will be nine women and only five men which I feel will be very awkward. May the wives be omitted and just the actual wedding attendants be invited?

A: Correctly, you should invite the wives. To overcome the difficulty of too many women, you might change your dinner to a buffet and invite extra young men for the bridesmaids.

Wedding Veil in Public

Q: I am going to have my wedding reception at a hotel. We will not have a private room as the number of guests we are having does not warrant one. Instead, there will be one large table set up in the corner of the dining room. I would like to know, since the reception will be in a public dining room, if it would be in bad taste to leave my wedding veil on?

A: You keep your veil on for as long as you wear your wedding dress and take it off when you change into your going-away clothes.

Thanking a Group for Flowers

Q: My father died recently and my fellow employes (25 in all) sent a beautiful flower piece to the funeral. Will you please tell me to whom I should address a note of thanks and also how to word it?

A: You address your note to "The Employes of Blank Company" (or Department) and you need say no more than, "Thank you all for your sympathy and the beautiful flowers. I can't begin to tell you how much they meant to me."

June Program Is Given By Members Of Musical Society

The Musical Society of Kingston met at the home of Mrs. Roland Tonnesen, Mt. Marion on Wednesday, June 13.

Miss Barbara Cohn, daughter of Mrs. Hilda Cohn and the late Dr. Hans Cohn of Woodstock, winner of the annual music award given by the Musical Society was present at the meeting.

Mrs. Clarence Beehler, member of the board, Federated Music Clubs, gave a report on the recent convention of the New York State Music Clubs held in Rochester. During the convention Mrs. Beehler accepted the Citation of Outstanding Merit for the Musical Society. The Citation was awarded for a program in 1961, "Woodstock Composers."

Miss Alberta Davis arranged the June program. Numbers were from the romantic, impressionistic and expressionistic periods. They included "Rhapsody in C Minor," Brahms, by Mrs. Roland Tonnesen, piano; The Trout," Schubert, by Mrs. Edward Flick, soprano and Mrs. William Rylance, accompanist; "Nocturne in D Flat," Debussy, Miss Mildred Brady, Violin and Mrs. John Erickson, accompanist; "Two Pieces for Clarinet and Piano," Alban Berg, Mrs. Amos Newcombe, clarinet and Mrs. Clarence Beehler, accompanist; "Sonata for Harp," Hindemith, Mrs. Charles Dedrick Jr.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Harry Kennedy and Miss Mildred Brady.

Dear Kathy: I know a girl shouldn't order the most expensive thing on the menu when a boy takes her out and is supposed to be thoughful enough so that a boy doesn't go broke on a date. My problem is a boy who is so generous that he WANTS to give me everything. We date fairly often and I know he spends too much money on me. Every time there is the slightest excuse, he buys me a present.

His birthday is coming and I'd like to give him something terrific but my mother says it isn't right to give expensive presents unless you are engaged. She feels this is a good time to explain things to him and let him know I can't accept any more gifts. Since he has been so nice, shouldn't I give him something terrific just this time? Do you think I have to talk to him about the money he spends? It might hurt his feelings. I know he does it just because he enjoys being generous. — Jan H.

Dear Jan: It's fun to feel pampered because you have your own Sir Galahad but he should make you feel special by being well mannered and attentive, not because you are showered with expensive things. Etiquette very firmly dictates that costly gifts are out of order.

You really do have to talk to him about the money he spends. There shouldn't be hurt feelings if you emphasize how much you appreciate his thoughfulness. In refusing the gifts but continuing to date, you show him that his company itself is important to you. This should be flattering and reassuring.

You should plan a birthday present that involves time, effort and thoughtfulness instead of great expense. Listen hard to everything he says and pay attention to everything he does until you find exactly the right thing.

There aren't any rules that prevent planning a party for him. The carefully selected gift would be enough but if you really want to add a special touch, this could be the way.

Modica Also Among Those With Shaw Chorale

On Thursday, June 14, The Freeman announced the selection of Miss Jane Gunter to sing with the Robert Shaw Chorale.

The article also listed the names of other area residents who appeared with the famous singing group. To that list should be added the name of Frank Modica who, as an undergraduate at Kingston High School, also participated in the voice classes taught by Leonard Stine. Mr. Modica, therefore, also holds the distinction of having been a member of the well known Robert Shaw Chorale.

June Program Is Given By Members Of Musical Society

The Musical Society of Kingston met at the home of Mrs. Roland Tonnesen, Mt. Marion on Wednesday, June 13.

Miss Barbara Cohn, daughter of Mrs. Hilda Cohn and the late Dr. Hans Cohn of Woodstock, winner of the annual music award given by the Musical Society was present at the meeting.

Mrs. Clarence Beehler, member of the board, Federated Music Clubs, gave a report on the recent convention of the New York State Music Clubs held in Rochester. During the convention Mrs. Beehler accepted the Citation of Outstanding Merit for the Musical Society. The Citation was awarded for a program in 1961, "Woodstock Composers."

Miss Alberta Davis arranged the June program. Numbers were from the romantic, impressionistic and expressionistic periods. They included "Rhapsody in C Minor," Brahms, by Mrs. Roland Tonnesen, piano; The Trout," Schubert, by Mrs. Edward Flick, soprano and Mrs. William Rylance, accompanist; "Nocturne in D Flat," Debussy, Miss Mildred Brady, Violin and Mrs. John Erickson, accompanist; "Two Pieces for Clarinet and Piano," Alban Berg, Mrs. Amos Newcombe, clarinet and Mrs. Clarence Beehler, accompanist; "Sonata for Harp," Hindemith, Mrs. Charles Dedrick Jr.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Harry Kennedy and Miss Mildred Brady.

Dear Kathy: I know a girl shouldn't order the most expensive thing on the menu when a boy takes her out and is supposed to be thoughful enough so that a boy doesn't go broke on a date. My problem is a boy who is so generous that he WANTS to give me everything. We date fairly often and I know he spends too much money on me. Every time there is the slightest excuse, he buys me a present.

His birthday is coming and I'd like to give him something terrific but my mother says it isn't right to give expensive presents unless you are engaged. She feels this is a good time to explain things to him and let him know I can't accept any more gifts. Since he has been so nice, shouldn't I give him something terrific just this time? Do you think I have to talk to him about the money he spends? It might hurt his feelings. I know he does it just because he enjoys being generous. — Jan H.

Dear Jan: It's fun to feel pampered because you have your own Sir Galahad but he should make you feel special by being well mannered and attentive, not because you are showered with expensive things. Etiquette very firmly dictates that costly gifts are out of order.

You really do have to talk to him about the money he spends. There shouldn't be hurt feelings if you emphasize how much you appreciate his thoughfulness. In refusing the gifts but continuing to date, you show him that his company itself is important to you. This should be flattering and reassuring.

You should plan a birthday present that involves time, effort and thoughtfulness instead of great expense. Listen hard to everything he says and pay attention to everything he does until you find exactly the right thing.

There aren't any rules that prevent planning a party for him. The carefully selected gift would be enough but if you really want to add a special touch, this could be the way.

Modica Also Among Those With Shaw Chorale

On Thursday, June 14, The Freeman announced the selection of Miss Jane Gunter to sing with the Robert Shaw Chorale.

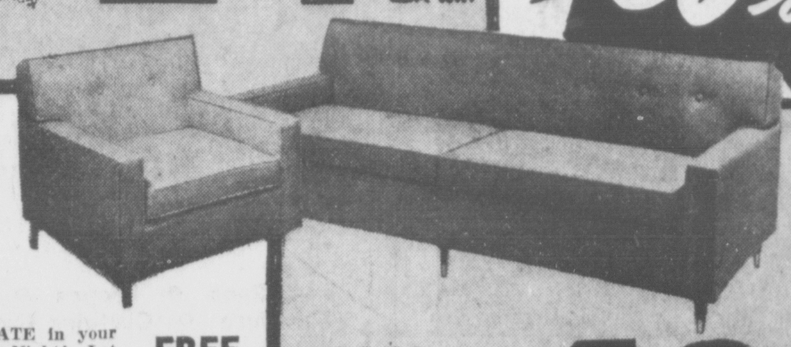

The article also listed the names of other area residents who appeared with the famous singing group. To that list should be added the name of Frank Modica who, as an undergraduate at Kingston High School, also participated in the voice classes taught by Leonard Stine. Mr. Modica, therefore, also holds the distinction of having been a member of the well known Robert Shaw Chorale.

Dear Gaile: The way you help other ladies with their fashion problems is wonderful. I hope that you will help me with mine. In July, we plan a trip to Canada by car. I am enclosing samples of things I now have and hope some will be suitable.

My husband and I have no plans to attend any formal luncheons or parties. Will stop at Seattle Fair for a day or so; will also attend some informal dinners and dances. I am 45. I have warm brown hair, blue eyes, am 5 feet 6 inches. Should I take a full-length, lightweight wool coat in oatmeal color? Please mention suit to take.

—M. E. C.

Dear M. E. C.: Excellent advice on a capsule wardrobe for your trip comes from designer Vera Maxwell. She says:

"As a sound investment, I would buy a full-length coat in mohair or spongy tweed with matching skirt. This is a basic travel costume. Have it in black or cherry red and have it collarless. Later on, back home, you can wear the coat with a little choker fur piece. If the coat has a collar, ask the store to remove it. Now, with this you can wear your black-and-white suit.

Invest in some sleeveless overblouses in wool knit and silk or synthetic knit to wear with the coat and skirt. Have a black-and-white print overblouse, too. For evening, have a shoulder strapped sheath (if your arms are good) or a low-necked, short sleeved black dress. With these, your black coat or one of those long stoles in double chiffon and a lovely color, perhaps violet. Have a black patent leather handbag for daytime and plain black patent pumps with oval toes and low, stacked heel.

"Remember this: When you travel, you are never with the same people very long. Thus a carefully planned, basic wardrobe gets you through looking and feeling chic."

* * *

Dear Gaile: My sister is having a formal afternoon wedding in July. Could you give me some helpful advice on accessories for my mother? She has chosen a lovely beige silk organza sheath for her dress and a small beige pillbox. The hat is covered with little silk petals shaded from beige to chocolate. What color for bag, shoes and gloves? I love your column. Your advice to others is helpful in many ways to all of us.—Mrs. B. B.

Dear Mrs. B. B.: Your mother's choice is excellent. From designer Paul Parnes comes advice as to accessories. He says:

"I suggest that shoes, bag and gloves be all in a shade to pick up the darkest of the petals on the hat. Shoes and bag might be in silk and the gloves in kid."

Please send your fashion problems to Gaile Dugas in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

I once knew a middle-aged bachelor who was acutely jealous of his privacy.

If you asked him where he was going for the summer, his face would stiffen and he would say, "I haven't decided." If you asked him if he had seen a mutual acquaintance, he would say shortly, "I don't recall." If he wanted to come and see you, he would make such a mysterious production of the visit that he exhausted you before he got around to making it. Before arriving, he would telephone at intervals to make sure that you were not entertaining someone he didn't want to meet.

He generally behaved as though he felt himself to be a secret agent operating in enemy territory.

And in a way he was. The only son of a woman who had used interest in all his activities to maintain control of them, he saw everyone else's interest in his doings through the distorting lens of his deep but unfocused resentment of her domination.

Similar confusion may be the problem of this reader:

"A new neighbor of ours is always asking nosy questions of my 9-year-old girl. I have never met this women because we have just moved into this neighborhood, but my daughter has made friends with her child. She came home yesterday from their house very upset because she didn't know how to answer this woman. She says she was asked what her father's work is, what church we intend to join and other things that are none of her business. . . ."

Why do you read malice into these questions? Perhaps they are expressing friendly interest instead of nosiness.

Instead of jumping to suspicious conclusions about your neighbor, why don't you take time to call on her, and call, not with the expectation of meeting malicious curiosity but friendship, a friendship that will support the one that has already been made by the children?

There are certainly prying and malicious people in this world who intrude into our privacy for destructive reasons, but some of us are really capable of genuine interest in you. We might want to know what your husband's work is as a basis for his acquaintance with our husband. We might ask your child what church you intend to join in the hope that you will join ours so that we can introduce you to other members.

If you cannot credit us with this friendly interest in your personal affairs, then you have to wonder what unfriendly interest in them has made you so defensive and suspicious. You better try to locate the influence that has taught you that you live in enemy territory where you must move guardedly, holding tight the secrets we may use against you.

Come on out to us.

Brown's cheerfulness was a source of wonder and admiration to his friends. Either his religion or his philosophy taught him to accept everything as a wise dispensation. But then he had a large shore of worldly goods, his friends argue, and nothing but adversity would shake his faith. Therefore when a promising crop was washed away by a flood the neighbors were much astonished to hear him say:

Brown—It's all for the best, I was blessed with an overabundance last year.

In the winter his house burned to the ground. To his neighbors' solicitations he calmly responded:

Brown—The house never suited us anyway, so it is all for the best.

Other calamities befell Brown, but still he refused to be disheartened. The climax came when he was in a railroad accident. Both feet were so badly crushed that amputation was necessary. Sympathetic friends gathered from all quarters. They dreaded to hear the lamentations they were sure would greet them, for even Brown could hardly be expected to pass this lightly by.

One of the Friends—Guess you are pretty well discouraged aren't you with both feet cut off? Do you think this is all for the best?

But Brown nodded his head, smiling wanly, and said:

Randall Leads Herdegen Memorial Qualifiers With 148

Gains 4-Stroke Margin Over Ronnie Marks

Leon Randall, the peerless Wiltwyck Country Club shotmaker, carries a four-stroke lead into the final rounds of the Herdegen Memorial golf tournament next weekend and nobody is betting that the Blond Belter won't join George Hughes as a four-time winner.

Randall rebounded from an opening day 78 at Wiltwyck Saturday to card a pair of eagles and a birdie in a 2-over-par 70 Sunday at Shawangunk's Country Club's hilly layout at Ellenville.

The 78-70-148 put Randall four shots ahead of Ronnie Marks of Wiltwyck, who posted 76's at both layouts.

Tied with 154's were George Hughes of Twaalfskill (75-79) and Charles J. (Jimmy) Turck (80-74) of Wiltwyck. Woodstock's Bill Waterous was in fifth place with 77-78-155.

Randall closed out his Sunday round in dramatic holing out a 100-yard eagle-2 on Shawangunk's uphill ninth hole. The 9-iron shot landed on the ground took a short bounce then skittered into the cup.

Randall had a pair of 35's at Ellenville. The first time around he birdied the tough par-3 fifth hole from 10 feet. On his second tour, he eagled the par-5 fourth with an 8-footer. A disastrous triple-bogie "7" on the sixth hole ruined his chances to match par figures.

An unfortunate incident involving a photographer cost Ronnie Marks, the runnerup, at least two shots Saturday. Marks' concentration was disturbed by the photographer on a tee shot which he slammed out of bounds. He maintained his poise, however, and got a six on the par-4 fourteenth at Wiltwyck.

Early Leaders

Hughes and Harvey Bastic, the first roundleaders with 75's were unable to settle down to a consistent pattern at Shawangunk. Hughes settled for a 79 and Bostic soarded to 81.

Hughes rallied in brilliant fashion at Wiltwyck here he opened with three successive bogies (5-6-5) then settled down for a 39. He matched par figures on the back nine, with successive birdies on the first and second holes.

Only nine players were able to break "160" under the rugged summer rules conditions at the two courses. The cutoff figure of 172 was the highest in the history of the tournament.

Only nine players broke "160". Besides the five leaders, George Cosenza and Harvey Bostic of Wiltwyck shot 156's. Rickie Barthel of Twaalfskill had 157 and William (Buzzy) Costello 158.

Phils Turn Tables On Red Team

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the Cincinnati Reds had to pick a team which contributed most to their 1961 National League pennant, Philadelphia would have won hands down. The Phils curled up and played dead at the mere sight of a Cincinnati uniform, losing 19 of 22.

The Reds are finding the Phils a different cup of tea in 1962. They came into Philadelphia fresh from shutout victories over the San Francisco Giants, only to lose three straight to the Phils.

Roy Sievers and Don Demeter did the heavy damage Sunday, driving in five runs in a 7-2 rout of Jim O'Toole. Gene Mauch's young men now have an 8-5 edge over the '61 champs for the year.

Dodgers Snap Slump

While the Reds were stumbling, the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers finally snapped out of it and broke a three-game losing streak by beating Houston 6-2. The scrappy Colts had been making mischief in Walter O'Malley's splendiferous new stadium and had rolled up a four-game winning string.

The Dodgers needed that win, too, because the second-place San Francisco Giants polished off St. Louis 6-3 on a three-run homer by Tom Haller in the last of the ninth. The Dodgers still lead the Giants by one game.

Pittsburgh hopped on Warren Spahn, working with only three days rest, and banged out a 7-3 decision over Milwaukee behind little Harvey Haddix who struck out 10 Braves.

The New York Mets, specialists in losing streaks, now have a new six-game string going after losing two to the Chicago Cubs 8-7 and 4-3. Home runs did the job for the Cubs. Rookie Lou Brock became the first player to hit a ball into the right center field bleachers in the Polo Grounds in the opener and Ron Santo cracked No. 10 with the score tied in the ninth inning of the second game.

Jack Baldschun of the Phils notched his second victory over the Reds in eight days when he came to the rescue of Paul Brown in the fourth inning at Connie Mack Stadium. Baldschun came in with the bases loaded and two runs in and struck out Leo Cardenas and got pinch hitter Wally Post on a pop fly.

Davis Hits Homer

Tom Davis's three-run homer enabled the Dodgers to come from behind against the Colts. Los Angeles, which had scored only six runs in its five previous games, broke out with five in the sixth inning against Ken Johnson, Dean Stone and Bob Tiefenauer.

Haller, a former University of Illinois quarterback, was the Giants' hero for the day with his homer off Ray Washburn. The Cards had fought back to tie the score at 3-3 in the eighth on a two-run homer by Red Schoendienst.

Brock's 460-foot homer was the talk of the day at the Polo Grounds. The rookie also doubled home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning of the first game in which Ernie Banks slammed No. 18. Billy Williams' 14th homer tied the score in the seventh inning of the second game and Santo's shot off Vinegar Bend Mizell won it in the ninth.

Delicate Putting Wins for Nicklaus

Ex-Amateur Star Defeats Palmer In U. S. Open

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, the new National Open golf champion, is a young man to whom things always have come fast. Yet he's one of the slowest players in the game.

If he wants to, he can hit a golf ball as far as any man in the world. Yet he probably had the most delicate putting touch of any of the players in the 62nd U.S. championship, which ended here late Sunday with Nicklaus' three-stroke victory over the great Arnold Palmer in an 18-hole playoff.

Without question, he has become the new No. 1 challenger to Palmer for supremacy in golf. Yet the Open was his first tournament victory as a professional.

"That big strong dude," as Palmer calls the thick-bodied youngster from Columbus, Ohio, took up golf at 10, broke 70 for the first time when he was 13, won the Ohio Open title at 16, the first of two U.S. Amateur championships at 19, and now at 22, he is the youngest U.S. Open king since Bobby Jones won at Inwood in 1923 at the age of 21.

Praise From the King

"He's a helluva player," says Palmer, the man the golfers themselves — including Nicklaus — consider No. 1. "He's got all the shots — everything it takes to be a great player. Time will tell but this young man is going to win a lot more championships."

At a shade under six feet and about 200 pounds, Nicklaus, the son of a pharmacist, looks nothing like Bantam Ben but may be the new Hogan of golf.

He is confident to the point of cockiness. He is deliberate to the point of exasperation. He is methodical to the point of carrying in his back pocket a chart of each course he plays. He stands over a putt for minutes without movement. Then like the Hogan of old, he strokes the ball with a feather-touch, like a truck driver threading a needle.

Against Palmer, the advocate of power golf, he consistently was longer off the tee—driving an estimated 328 yards on one hole during the showdown playoff. Yet he swung at each drive, each fairway wood and each approach shot, with such ease it looked as if he were practicing in the back yard.

Fast? Since then, he has played in 18 golf tournaments and won money in all 18. This year, he is third on the money-winning list with earnings of $45,698—by far a record for a rookie professional. He plans to go back to Ohio State to complete his degree in business administration.

"I've got two quarters to go at Columbus," he says, "and you can never tell when I might have to depend on my insurance business."

Routs Warren, 5 and 4

Bill Robischon Wins HRGA Title 3rd Time

Bill Robischon of Powelton (Newburgh) captured his third Hudson River Golf Association championship in the last five years, when he routed Larry Warren, 5 and 4, in an all-Powelton finals at the Powelton Club at Newburgh.

Robischon, one of the valley's finest amateurs, decisively defeated four opponents to sweep to the title with consummate ease. He also tied for tournament medalist honors with veteran John Hornbeck of Powelton with a par 70.

The new champion started his victory run with a 5 and 3 win over Gene Morrison of Orange County Club. He then eliminated Jim Smith Jr. of Powelton, 7 and 5, and Joe Favino of the home club, 8 and 6.

Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., of Wiltwyck Country Club, president of the HRGA, won the fourth flight with a 3 and 2 victory over Dave Whitehall of Powelton.

First Flight—Joe Palone, West Point, defeated Bob Robelen, Dutchess, 1 up; Beaten 4—Harold Van Derzee, P, defeated H. Fraser, West Point.

Third Flight—Bill Bauman, P, defeated Jay Decker, Powelton, 4 and 3; Beaten 4—Paul Barzilwich, WP, defeated J. Stegmuller, P.

Bill Armstrong was chairman of the tournament which attracted 82 entries and was run in excellent fashion Dr. Holcomb, the association president, awarded the prizes.

Glasco Giants Get 17-3 Win

Scoring 12 runs in a third inning burst, the Giants walloped the Dodgers, 17-3, in the Glasco-East Kingston Little League recently.

Ed Watzka hurled a two-hitter and socked three hits, including a double for the winners. Tom Riozzi doubled and scored four times. Henry Rua, Bruce Lee and Dave Sasso also walloped two-base hits.

The line score:

		R	H
Giants	1 0 12 0 3 1—	17	10
Dodgers	0 0 0 3 0 0—	3	2

Ed Watzka and Richard Clausi; Tom Riozzi; Randy Ciarlante and Bruce Lee, Tom Greco.

Mets Decision Pirates, 17-1

The Mets had an easy time in walloping the Pirates, 17-1, in a National Little League game yesterday. The winners tallied in every inning but the fourth.

Tom Glaser had a double and single for the Mets.

		R	H
Pirates	010 000—	1	4
Mets	472 04x—	17	7

J. Manello and K. Scherer; G. Williams and E. Basch.

Esopus Giants Top Yankees, 5-4

The Giants moved into first place in the Esopus Legion Little League with a 5-4 victory over the Yankees yesterday. A three run rally in the fifth inning turned the tide. In the other circuit game, the Dodgers forfeited to the Braves.

Orlando Landi, Bob Cole and Ray Wells rapped doubles during the tilt. Jeff Lisman was the winner over Jim Zoda.

The line score:

		R	H
Giants	000 230—	5	6
Yankees	102 100—	4	5

Jeff Lisman and Orlando Landi; Jim Zoda and Ray Wells.

Rondout Indians Top Cubs, 3-2

The Indians won a 3-2 decision in the Rondout Valley Little League over the Cubs recently. Gary Heinitz was the winner over Marty Brown.

		R	H
Indians	1 0 0 1 1 0—	3	6
Cubs	1 0 0 0 0 1—	2	6

Rochester Pair Has Lead in Pin Doubles

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Dominick Rago and Vito Caloia of Rochester have taken over first place in scratch doubles in the First State Bowling Proprietors Association Tournament.

Rago and Caloia rolled a 1261 over the weekend and displaced Tom Aloi and Tom Berardi of Waterville. They had 1254 pins the previous weekend.

The Arthur Construction team of Saranac Lake grabbed third place in the handicap team standings with 3290. Ed Haas and Charles Caruso of New York City moved into third in the handicap doubles with 1347.

The eight-week tournament ends July 1.

Tribe Raps Yankees in Two Games

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The resurrection of Cleveland as a baseball town seems to be complete. After years of disappointing attendance and frustrating play by the Indians, the Tribe leads the American League by two full games after sweeping a four-game series from the New York Yankees.

It was like the old days of Bill Veeck and Co. as a roaring throng of 70,918, largest in the majors this season, lapped up a double victory over the Yanks Sunday, 6-1 and 6-3.

With only five games to play against New York this year, the Indians have a 9-4 edge and are assured of at least a tie in the season series with their hated rivals.

Winning nine of its last 12 games while the slumping Yanks dropped seven out of eight, Cleveland has moved front and center as a most important pennant possibility.

Both Are Stumbling

Though it looks like a race to the wire, the Indians are sitting pretty while the second-place Minnesota Twins and third-place Yanks are stumbling. At the moment the hottest threat is Los Angeles, a half game behind the Yanks after sweeping two from Chicago, 5-3 and 6-5. Kansas City, too, is charging.

Detroit broke its seven-game losing slump, beating Boston in two homers by rookie Purnal Goldy, but succumbed to Ike Delock's seven-hit pitching in the 5-0 second game.

Red hot Kansas City stretched its streak to six, defeating the Twins again, 10-6—another victory for the surprising Dave Wickersham, who owns an 8-2 record. Norm Siebern's two homers were the big blows of a 12-hit attack against Jack Kralick and a long line of relief men.

Baltimore continued to revel in Washington's new stadium, beating the Senators for the sixth straight time in their home park. Jerry Adair drove in three runs and Hoyt Wilhelm shut the door in relief in a 4-3 victory.

Jerry Kindall, Bubba Phillips and Jim Mahoney put the Cleveland crowd in a holiday mood with successive homers off Bill Stafford in the second inning of the opener. Dick Donovan rolled to his 10th victory, first pitcher to hit that mark in the American, although he had to be replaced in the seventh when he strained a thigh muscle.

Coats Routed

Homers by Leon Wagner (No. 18 and No. 19) and a fine relief job by Bo Belinsky turned the trick for the Angels in the first game at Chicago. It was the first relief appearance of the no-hit wonder, who has been having his difficulties lately on and off the field. A four-run rally in the eighth featured by Felix Torres' two-run double led the Angels to the second victory.

Siebern and Joe Azcue each lashed three hits against the Twins. Wickersham, who left the game because he was bothered by a back strain, has a 5-1 record since he became a starter May 22.

Wilhelm retired the first eight men he faced at Washington. With two out in the ninth he gave up a single, hit a batter and let loose a wild pitch before he got the final out.

International Race Highlight At Yonkers Track

The International set and the Reynolds stakes highlight harness racing in New York State again this week.

The field for the $65,000 Good Time Pace Thursday night, second leg of Yonkers Raceway's international pacing series, should include most the horses in last week's the $50,000 International.

At Buffalo Raceway, 19 entries in the $17,978 W. N. Reynolds Memorial Stake for 2-year-old trotting colts and geldings caused the race to be divided. Nine horses go in one division Tuesday night and 10 in the other.

The Good Time is at a mile-and-a-quarter and Royal Rick is not expected to "steal" it as he did the International. George Sholty set the pace with Royal Rick last week. The other drivers waited in the 1½-mile race. But Royal Rick didn't tire and finished 2½ lengths in front of Irvin Paul.

Randall Leads Herdegen Memorial Qualifiers With 148

Gains 4-Stroke Margin Over Ronnie Marks

Leon Randall, the peerless Wiltwyck Country Club shotmaker, carries a four-stroke lead into the final rounds of the Herdegen Memorial golf tournament next weekend and nobody is betting that the Blond Belter won't join George Hughes as a four-time winner.

Randall rebounded from an opening day 78 at Wiltwyck Saturday to card a pair of eagles and a birdie in a 2-over-par 70 Sunday at Shawangunk's Country Club's hilly layout at Ellenville.

Tied with 154's were George Hughes of Twaalfskill (75-79) and Charles J. (Jimmy) Turck (80-74) of Wiltwyck. Woodstock's Bill Waterous was in fifth place with 77-78-155.

Randall closed out his Sunday round in dramatic holing out a 100-yard eagle-2 on Shawangunk's uphill ninth hole. The 9-iron shot landed on the ground took a short bounce then skittered into the cup.

Randall had a pair of 35's at Ellenville. The first time around he birdied the tough par-3 fifth hole from 10 feet. On his second tour, he eagled the par-5 fourth with an 8-footer. A disastrous triple-bogie "7" on the sixth hole ruined his chances to match par figures.

An unfortunate incident involving a photographer cost Ronnie Marks, the runnerup, at least two shots Saturday. Marks' concentration was disturbed by the photographer on a tee shot which he slammed out of bounds. He maintained his poise, however, and got a six on the par-4 fourteenth at Wiltwyck.

Early Leaders

Hughes and Harvey Bastic, the first roundleaders with 75's were unable to settle down to a consistent pattern at Shawangunk. Hughes settled for a 79 and Bostic soarded to 81.

Hughes rallied in brilliant fashion at Wiltwyck here he opened with three successive bogies (5-6-5) then settled down for a 39. He matched par figures on the back nine, with successive birdies on the first and second holes.

Only nine players were able to break "160" under the rugged summer rules conditions at the two courses. The cutoff figure of 172 was the highest in the history of the tournament.

Only nine players broke "160". Besides the five leaders, George Cosenza and Harvey Bostic of Wiltwyck shot 156's. Rickie Barthel of Twaalfskill had 157 and William (Buzzy) Costello 158.

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the Cincinnati Reds had to pick a team which contributed most to their 1961 National League pennant, Philadelphia would have won hands down. The Phils curled up and played dead at the mere sight of a Cincinnati uniform, losing 19 of 22.

The Reds are finding the Phils a different cup of tea in 1962. They came into Philadelphia fresh from shutout victories over the San Francisco Giants, only to lose three straight to the Phils.

Roy Sievers and Don Demeter did the heavy damage Sunday, driving in five runs in a 7-2 rout of Jim O'Toole. Gene Mauch's young men now have an 8-5 edge over the '61 champs for the year.

Dodgers Snap Slump

While the Reds were stumbling, the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers finally snapped out of it and broke a three-game losing streak by beating Houston 6-2. The scrappy Colts had been making mischief in Walter O'Malley's splendiferous new stadium and had rolled up a four-game winning string.

The Dodgers needed that win, too, because the second-place San Francisco Giants polished off St. Louis 6-3 on a three-run homer by Tom Haller in the last of the ninth. The Dodgers still lead the Giants by one game.

Pittsburgh hopped on Warren Spahn, working with only three days rest, and banged out a 7-3 decision over Milwaukee behind little Harvey Haddix who struck out 10 Braves.

The New York Mets, specialists in losing streaks, now have a new six-game string going after losing two to the Chicago Cubs 8-7 and 4-3. Home runs did the job for the Cubs. Rookie Lou Brock became the first player to hit a ball into the right center field bleachers in the Polo Grounds in the opener and Ron Santo cracked No. 10 with the score tied in the ninth inning of the second game.

Jack Baldschun of the Phils notched his second victory over the Reds in eight days when he came to the rescue of Paul Brown in the fourth inning at Connie Mack Stadium. Baldschun came in with the bases loaded and two runs in and struck out Leo Cardenas and got pinch hitter Wally Post on a pop fly.

Davis Hits Homer

Tom Davis's three-run homer enabled the Dodgers to come from behind against the Colts. Los Angeles, which had scored only six runs in its five previous games, broke out with five in the sixth inning against Ken Johnson, Dean Stone and Bob Tiefenauer.

Haller, a former University of Illinois quarterback, was the Giants' hero for the day with his homer off Ray Washburn. The Cards had fought back to tie the score at 3-3 in the eighth on a two-run homer by Red Schoendienst.

Brock's 460-foot homer was the talk of the day at the Polo Grounds. The rookie also doubled home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning of the first game in which Ernie Banks slammed No. 18. Billy Williams' 14th homer tied the score in the seventh inning of the second game and Santo's shot off Vinegar Bend Mizell won it in the ninth.

Delicate Putting Wins for Nicklaus

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, the new National Open golf champion, is a young man to whom things always have come fast. Yet he's one of the slowest players in the game.

If he wants to, he can hit a golf ball as far as any man in the world. Yet he probably had the most delicate putting touch of any of the players in the 62nd U.S. championship, which ended here late Sunday with Nicklaus' three-stroke victory over the great Arnold Palmer in an 18-hole playoff.

Without question, he has become the new No. 1 challenger to Palmer for supremacy in golf. Yet the Open was his first tournament victory as a professional.

"That big strong dude," as Palmer calls the thick-bodied youngster from Columbus, Ohio, took up golf at 10, broke 70 for the first time when he was 13, won the Ohio Open title at 16, the first of two U.S. Amateur championships at 19, and now at 22, he is the youngest U.S. Open king since Bobby Jones won at Inwood in 1923 at the age of 21.

Praise From the King

"He's a helluva player," says Palmer, the man the golfers themselves — including Nicklaus — consider No. 1. "He's got all the shots — everything it takes to be a great player. Time will tell but this young man is going to win a lot more championships."

At a shade under six feet and about 200 pounds, Nicklaus, the son of a pharmacist, looks nothing like Bantam Ben but may be the new Hogan of golf.

He is confident to the point of cockiness. He is deliberate to the point of exasperation. He is methodical to the point of carrying in his back pocket a chart of each course he plays. He stands over a putt for minutes without movement. Then like the Hogan of old, he strokes the ball with a feather-touch, like a truck driver threading a needle.

Against Palmer, the advocate of power golf, he consistently was longer off the tee—driving an estimated 328 yards on one hole during the showdown playoff. Yet he swung at each drive, each fairway wood and each approach shot, with such ease it looked as if he were practicing in the back yard.

Fast? Since then, he has played in 18 golf tournaments and won money in all 18. This year, he is third on the money-winning list with earnings of $45,698—by far a record for a rookie professional. He plans to go back to Ohio State to complete his degree in business administration.

"I've got two quarters to go at Columbus," he says, "and you can never tell when I might have to depend on my insurance business."

International Race Highlight At Yonkers Track

The International set and the Reynolds stakes highlight harness racing in New York State again this week.

The field for the $65,000 Good Time Pace Thursday night, second leg of Yonkers Raceway's international pacing series, should include most the horses in last week's the $50,000 International.

At Buffalo Raceway, 19 entries in the $17,978 W. N. Reynolds Memorial Stake for 2-year-old trotting colts and geldings caused the race to be divided. Nine horses go in one division Tuesday night and 10 in the other.

The Good Time is at a mile-and-a-quarter and Royal Rick is not expected to "steal" it as he did the International. George Sholty set the pace with Royal Rick last week. The other drivers waited in the 1½-mile race. But Royal Rick didn't tire and finished 2½ lengths in front of Irvin Paul.

Routs Warren, 5 and 4

Bill Robischon Wins HRGA Title 3rd Time

Bill Robischon of Powelton (Newburgh) captured his third Hudson River Golf Association championship in the last five years, when he routed Larry Warren, 5 and 4, in an all-Powelton finals at the Powelton Club at Newburgh.

Robischon, one of the valley's finest amateurs, decisively defeated four opponents to sweep to the title with consummate ease. He also tied for tournament medalist honors with veteran John Hornbeck of Powelton with a par 70.

The new champion started his victory run with a 5 and 3 win over Gene Morrison of Orange County Club. He then eliminated Jim Smith Jr. of Powelton, 7 and 5, and Joe Favino of the home club, 8 and 6.

Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., of Wiltwyck Country Club, president of the HRGA, won the fourth flight with a 3 and 2 victory over Dave Whitehall of Powelton.

Bill Armstrong was chairman of the tournament which attracted 82 entries and was run in excellent fashion Dr. Holcomb, the association president, awarded the prizes.

Glasco Giants Get 17-3 Win

Scoring 12 runs in a third inning burst, the Giants walloped the Dodgers, 17-3, in the Glasco-East Kingston Little League recently.

Ed Watzka hurled a two-hitter and socked three hits, including a double for the winners. Tom Riozzi doubled and scored four times. Henry Rua, Bruce Lee and Dave Sasso also walloped two-base hits.

The line score:

									R	H
Giants	1	0	12	0	3	1	—	17	10
Dodgers	0	0	0	3	0	0	—	3	2

Ed Watzka and Richard Clausi; Tom Riozzi; Randy Ciarlante and Bruce Lee, Tom Greco.

Mets Decision Pirates, 17-1

The Mets had an easy time in walloping the Pirates, 17-1, in a National Little League game yesterday. The winners tallied in every inning but the fourth.

Tom Glaser had a double and single for the Mets.

			R	H
Pirates	010	000—	1	4
Mets	472	04x—17	7

J. Manello and K. Scherer; G. Williams and E. Basch.

Esopus Giants Top Yankees, 5-4

The Giants moved into first place in the Esopus Legion Little League with a 5-4 victory over the Yankees yesterday. A three run rally in the fifth inning turned the tide. In the other circuit game, the Dodgers forfeited to the Braves.

Orlando Landi, Bob Cole and Ray Wells rapped doubles during the tilt. Jeff Lisman was the winner over Jim Zoda.

		R	H
Giants	000 230—	5	6

Jeff Lisman and Orlando Landi; Jim Zoda and Ray Wells.

Rondout Indians Top Cubs, 3-2

The Indians won a 3-2 decision in the Rondout Valley Little League over the Cubs recently. Gary Heinitz was the winner over Marty Brown.

		R	H
Cubs	1 0 0 0 0 1—	2	6

Rochester Pair Has Lead in Pin Doubles

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Dominick Rago and Vito Caloia of Rochester have taken over first place in scratch doubles in the First State Bowling Proprietors Association Tournament.

Rago and Caloia rolled a 1261 over the weekend and displaced Tom Aloi and Tom Berardi of Waterville. They had 1254 pins the previous weekend.

The Arthur Construction team of Saranac Lake grabbed third place in the handicap team standings with 3290. Ed Haas and Charles Caruso of New York City moved into third in the handicap doubles with 1347.

The eight-week tournament ends July 1.

Tribe Raps Yankees in Two Games

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The resurrection of Cleveland as a baseball town seems to be complete. After years of disappointing attendance and frustrating play by the Indians, the Tribe leads the American League by two full games after sweeping a four-game series from the New York Yankees.

It was like the old days of Bill Veeck and Co. as a roaring throng of 70,918, largest in the majors this season, lapped up a double victory over the Yanks Sunday, 6-1 and 6-3.

With only five games to play against New York this year, the Indians have a 9-4 edge and are assured of at least a tie in the season series with their hated rivals.

Winning nine of its last 12 games while the slumping Yanks dropped seven out of eight; Cleveland has moved front and center as a most important pennant possibility.

Both Are Stumbling

Though it looks like a race to the wire, the Indians are sitting pretty while the second-place Minnesota Twins and third-place Yanks are stumbling. At the moment the hottest threat is Los Angeles, a half game behind the Yanks after sweeping two from Chicago, 5-3 and 6-5. Kansas City, too, is charging.

Detroit broke its seven-game the first game 8-5 with the help of losing slump, beating Boston in two homers by rookie Purnal Goldy, but succumbed to Ike Delock's seven-hit pitching in the 5-0 second game.

Red hot Kansas City stretched its streak to six, defeating the Twins again, 10-6—another victory for the surprising Dave Wickersham, who owns an 8-2 record. Norm Siebern's two homers were the big blows of a 12-hit attack against Jack Kralick and a long line of relief men.

Baltimore continued to revel in Washington's new stadium, beating the Senators for the sixth straight time in their home park. Jerry Adair drove in three runs and Hoyt Wilhelm shut the door in relief in a 4-3 victory.

Jerry Kindall, Bubba Phillips and Jim Mahoney put the Cleveland crowd in a holiday mood with successive homers off Bill Stafford in the second inning of the opener. Dick Donovan rolled to his 10th victory, first pitcher to hit that mark in the American, although he had to be replaced in the seventh when he strained a thigh muscle.

Coats Routed

Homers by Leon Wagner (No. 18 and No. 19) and a fine relief job by Bo Belinsky turned the trick for the Angels in the first game at Chicago. It was the first relief appearance of the no-hit wonder, who has been having his difficulties lately on and off the field. A four-run rally in the eighth featured by Felix Torres' two-run double led the Angels to the second victory.

Siebern and Joe Azcue each lashed three hits against the Twins. Wickersham, who left the game because he was bothered by a back strain, has a 5-1 record since he became a starter May 22.

Wilhelm retired the first eight men he faced at Washington. With two out in the ninth he gave up a single, hit a batter and let loose a wild pitch before he got the final out.

For European Title

Johansson Is Impressive In Defeating Richardson

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Buoyant Ingemar Johansson took the European heavyweight title under his care today and said he had earned a rest before challenging either Floyd Patterson or Sonny Liston for the world championship.

"Ingo is better now than he was in all of his three world title fights against Patterson," said Whitey Bimstein, Johansson's American trainer.

Johansson, riding high after three knockout victories since he went on the comeback trail, told reporters:

"But I have been training and fighting hard for the past year and I think I deserve a short layoff. Perhaps I will have one more fight before challenging again for the world crown.

"I have no excuses," he said. "Ingo was stronger and cleverer."

Bob Willis Hurls Five-Hitter for Unbeaten Bengals

Bob Willis, a veteran right-hander, spoiled the 1962 debut of the Kingston Braves in the New York-New Jersey League with a five-hit shutout as the unbeaten Spring Valley Bengals romped to an 8-0 victory yesterday at the Rockland County diamond.

Willis was in complete control of the situation as he set 12 batters down on strikes in hurling a complete game. Starter Paul Gardner was the loser for Kingston and Mike Spada finished.

The Bengals, who figure to be the main competition in an effort to unseat Poughkeepsie as league champion, walloped 14 safeties as they registered their third successive league victory.

In other action over the weekend, Spring Valley won, 5-3, over Newburgh. Poughkeepsie beat Newburgh, 5-0, on Friday night.

The standings:

Dutchmen Win, 10-1, Over Windham Club

Kaye Is Beaten In Net Tourney

Marty Kaye of Kingston was beaten in the semi-finals of the Powelton Tennis tournament in Newburgh yesterday. He lost, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4, to Art Jones of Poughkeepsie, the second seeded player. Jones will play top seeded Dave Bonner, Colgate star for the championship on Tuesday night.

Kaye had won his quarter-final match on Saturday over Win Meola of Middletown, 6-0, 9-7. He was ahead of Jones in the final game but the Poughkeepsie veteran won an important point and was never headed after that.

Kaye and Dick Little of Kingston are in the quarter-finals of the doubles play and they will oppose Meola and Bob Lake of Middletown on Wednesday night. Little lost out in the quarter-finals of the singles competition.

Saugerties scored in only two innings at Windham yesterday but the outbursts were enough to trim the home side, 10-1, in a Catskill Mountain League game. Ted Bream, ex-Kingston High ace, was the winner on a four-hitter. He walked four and whiffed 13 batters.

The Dutchmen, now 3-1 in league play, had four hits and took advantage of two errors and a walk to score six times in the fifth frame. They added four clinching markers in the ninth.

Saugerties will play at Oak Hill next Sunday.

Monticello DD Returns $51.30

MONTICELLO, New York — Tarquinia finished strongly for driver Gene Daisey to win the second race and complete a $51.30 daily double of numbers 4 and 5 Saturday at Monticello Raceway.

Tarquinia, a three-year-old Tar Heel Filly, paid winning mutuels of 6.40, 4.30 and 2.90. She paced the mile in 2:05.2. The victory snapped a nine-race non-winning streak.

Arro was second for 4.40 and 2.80. Third was Braxfield for 3.30.

Frank Popfinger drove Harvard Pick, co-owned by Devil Dog Stable, New York, and Sea Saw Stables, Pa., to a wire victory in 2:08.2 in the first race. Victory was the third in eight races for Harvard Pick, a five-year-old stallion by Gene Abbe. Harvard Pick, returned 7.10 and 3.00.

Forbes Vic was the place horse for 7.20 and 2.70. Third was Ju Lynn for 2.80.

Frisco Rebel Set For Feature Race At Monticello

Bob Campbell will open from the five post position with the aged gelding which has lifetime earnings of almost $86,000. Frisco Rebel finished second to Pansy Brewer in a 2:05.1 race in his first start at Monticello.

Doctor McClung, from No. 7 with Norm Stephens, looms as the prime opposition. Doctor McClung has a 2:05.3 mark and is the only horse in the race with a victory at Monticello.

Woman driver June Dillman will handle Red Argot from the No. 2 in the eight-horse field. Red Argot hasn't flashed its 1961 form, but cannot be taken lightly on past efforts.

The rest of the field will be made up of Keen's Jay, Scott Honor, Miss Filibuster, Quick Jo and Miss Abbe Stone.

Two paces for $1,000 each and a trot for the same purse will augment the eight-race program. The trot is in the sixth race for Class C-1 amblers.

For European Title

Johansson Is Impressive In Defeating Richardson

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Buoyant Ingemar Johansson took the European heavyweight title under his care today and said he had earned a rest before challenging either Floyd Patterson or Sonny Liston for the world championship.

Johansson was back as the pride of Sweden after demolishing tough Dick Richardson of Wales with an eighth-round knockout in the open air Ullevi Stadium Sunday night.

"Ingo is better now than he was in all of his three world title fights against Patterson," said Whitey Bimstein, Johansson's American trainer.

Johansson, riding high after three knockout victories since he went on the comeback trail, told reporters:

"But I have been training and fighting hard for the past year and I think I deserve a short layoff. Perhaps I will have one more fight before challenging again for the world crown.

"I have no excuses," he said. "Ingo was stronger and cleverer."

Peace of mind

Bob Willis Hurls Five-Hitter for Unbeaten Bengals

Bob Willis, a veteran right-hander, spoiled the 1962 debut of the Kingston Braves in the New York-New Jersey League with a five-hit shutout as the unbeaten Spring Valley Bengals romped to an 8-0 victory yesterday at the Rockland County diamond.

Willis was in complete control of the situation as he set 12 batters down on strikes in hurling a complete game. Starter Paul Gardner was the loser for Kingston and Mike Spada finished.

The Bengals, who figure to be the main competition in an effort to unseat Poughkeepsie as league champion, walloped 14 safeties as they registered their third successive league victory.

In other action over the weekend, Spring Valley won, 5-3, over Newburgh. Poughkeepsie beat Newburgh, 5-0, on Friday night.

The standings:

Team	W	L
Spring Valley	3	0
Poughkeepsie	1	0
Kingston	0	1
Beacon	0	1
Newburgh	0	2

Saturday — Newburgh at Beacon and Poughkeepsie at Kingston.

Dutchmen Win, 10-1, Over Windham Club

Kaye Is Beaten In Net Tourney

Marty Kaye of Kingston was beaten in the semi-finals of the Powelton Tennis tournament in Newburgh yesterday. He lost, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4, to Art Jones of Poughkeepsie, the second seeded player. Jones will play top seeded Dave Bonner, Colgate star for the championship on Tuesday night.

Kaye had won his quarter-final match on Saturday over Win Meola of Middletown, 6-0, 9-7. He was ahead of Jones in the final game but the Poughkeepsie veteran won an important point and was never headed after that.

Kaye and Dick Little of Kingston are in the quarter-finals of the doubles play and they will oppose Meola and Bob Lake of Middletown on Wednesday night. Little lost out in the quarter-finals of the singles competition.

Saugerties scored in only two innings at Windham yesterday but the outbursts were enough to trim the home side, 10-1, in a Catskill Mountain League game. Ted Bream, ex-Kingston High ace, was the winner on a four-hitter. He walked four and whiffed 13 batters.

The Dutchmen, now 3-1 in league play, had four hits and took advantage of two errors and a walk to score six times in the fifth frame. They added four clinching markers in the ninth.

Saugerties will play at Oak Hill next Sunday.

Monticello DD Returns $51.30

MONTICELLO, New York — Tarquinia finished strongly for driver Gene Daisey to win the second race and complete a $51.30 daily double of numbers 4 and 5 Saturday at Monticello Raceway.

Tarquinia, a three-year-old Tar Heel Filly, paid winning mutuels of 6.40, 4.30 and 2.90. She paced the mile in 2:05.2. The victory snapped a nine-race non-winning streak.

Arro was second for 4.40 and 2.80. Third was Braxfield for 3.30.

Frank Popfinger drove Harvard Pick, co-owned by Devil Dog Stable, New York, and Sea Saw Stables, Pa., to a wire victory in 2:08.2 in the first race. Victory was the third in eight races for Harvard Pick, a five-year-old stallion by Gene Abbe. Harvard Pick, returned 7.10 and 3.00.

Forbes Vic was the place horse for 7.20 and 2.70. Third was Ju Lynn for 2.80.

Frisco Rebel Set For Feature Race At Monticello

Bob Campbell will open from the five post position with the aged gelding which has lifetime earnings of almost $86,000. Frisco Rebel finished second to Pansy Brewer in a 2:05.1 race in his first start at Monticello.

Doctor McClung, from No. 7 with Norm Stephens, looms as the prime opposition. Doctor McClung has a 2:05.3 mark and is the only horse in the race with a victory at Monticello.

Woman driver June Dillman will handle Red Argot from the No. 2 in the eight-horse field. Red Argot hasn't flashed its 1961 form, but cannot be taken lightly on past efforts.

The rest of the field will be made up of Keen's Jay, Scott Honor, Miss Filibuster, Quick Jo and Miss Abbe Stone.

Two paces for $1,000 each and a trot for the same purse will augment the eight-race program. The trot is in the sixth race for Class C-1 amblers.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

LEGAL NOTICE
ADVERTISEMENT
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
Notice is hereby given that sealed bids or proposals in sealed plain wrapper bearing the appropriate identification "Bid for New Clear Well," will be received by the Board of Water Commissioners at its office in the Village Building, Village of Catskill, New York at 7:30 P. M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time, on the 2nd day of July 1962, and then will be publicly opened and read aloud at a meeting of said Board to be held at such time and place.
The work includes the installation of a new 200,000 gallon Clear Well with connecting piping, valves and appurtenances. The work also includes, if required, a new septic tank and tile field, as hereinafter specified, and the installation of a 10 H.P. motor for an existing 500 g.p.m. wash water pump in the filter plant.
Copies of plans and specifications may be examined at the office of the Board of Water Commissioners, 422 Main Street, Catskill, New York; or at the office of the Engineers, George C. Myrick & Associates, 17 Elk Street, Albany 10, New York.
Proposals must be submitted on the blank forms provided and in a manner designated therein. Each proposal must be accompanied by a Bid Bond or certified check in an amount equal to Five Per Cent (5%) of the total bid. The Bid Bond or Certified Checks of all but the three lowest bidders will be returned within ten days after the opening of bids, while the remaining bonds or checks will be returned as soon as a contract has been executed. The Bid Bond or Certified Check of the successful bidder will be retained to pay any loss or damage to the Village in the event said successful bidder shall refuse or neglect to enter into a contract in accordance with his proposal. Acceptance of the bid will be contingent upon the fulfillment of this requirement by each bidder.
The Board of Water Commissioners reserves the right to consider bids for a period of Forty-Five Days after their opening, and the right is reserved to reject any and all bids, and/or to accept the bid which the Board deems is in the best interest of the Village.

Belinsky Makes Debut As A Relief Pitcher

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Hold everything. Bo Belinsky, the playboy pitcher of the Los Angeles Angels, is mending his ways.

In fact, the 25-year-old rookie southpaw who pitched the only no-hitter in the majors this season, claims he has had three successive nights of "normal" rest.

As a result, Bo woke up Sunday morning with a sore throat. But several hours later he made his debut as a major league relief pitcher and saved the Los Angeles Angels a 5-3 victory in the first game of a doubleheader with Chicago. Bo pulled Dean Chance out of a sixth inning jam and held the Sox to one hit in the final 3 2-3 innings. Los Angeles also won the second game, 6-5.

"I have to like working in relief," said Bo after the game. "The way I've been going as a starter something had to happen. But I don't mind. It's good to help out the team like that. And it counts as a save."

Belinsky, who has become more notorious as a Hollywood night life figure than a big league pitcher, swears he's going to reach a happy medium in his extra curricular activities.

"Hollywood can be too much," said Bo.

"I was working on this TV movie thing and had to get up at 6 in the morning. Most of the time I wasn't getting in by 6. After a couple of weeks of this, I was mentally out of condition. Than I started losing that pitching groove.

"It's all right to go out like that once in a while but not weeks at a time. So I decided to take stock of myself and reach a happy medium. It's not only baseball that worried me. But there's that $500 fine staring me in the face and I'm worried about my health. I could wind up with cancer or TB or something."

WANT-AD WONDERS Trade Mark

Unusual Want Ad Experience On A Napoleon Portrait

Ten years ago, Sol Badame attended an auction in Sumter, South Carolina. During the proceedings a framed picture of Napoleon was offered for sale. Nobody bid on it so Badame offered two dollars and bought the picture. His wife laughed at it and put it in the attic. Several weeks later she was cleaning the attic and decided to get rid of the picture through a classified ad. Next morning a lady came by and paid them $54 for it.

$5 to first sender of each true newspaper Classified Advertising result story we accept. Howard Parish Associates, P.O. Box 126, N. W. Br. Miami 47, Fla.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids or proposals in sealed plain wrapper bearing the appropriate identification "Bid for New Clear Well," will be received by the Board of Water Commissioners at its office in the Village Building, Village of Catskill, New York at 7:30 P. M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time, on the 2nd day of July 1962, and then will be publicly opened and read aloud at a meeting of said Board to be held at such time and place.

The work includes the installation of a new 200,000 gallon Clear Well with connecting piping, valves and appurtenances. The work also includes, if required, a new septic tank and tile field, as hereinafter specified, and the installation of a 10 H.P. motor for an existing 500 g.p.m. wash water pump in the filter plant.

Copies of plans and specifications may be examined at the office of the Board of Water Commissioners, 422 Main Street, Catskill, New York; or at the office of the Engineers, George C. Myrick & Associates, 17 Elk Street, Albany 10, New York.

Proposals must be submitted on the blank forms provided and in a manner designated therein. Each proposal must be accompanied by a Bid Bond or certified check in an amount equal to Five Per Cent (5%) of the total bid. The Bid Bond or Certified Checks of all but the three lowest bidders will be returned within ten days after the opening of bids, while the remaining bonds or checks will be returned as soon as a contract has been executed. The Bid Bond or Certified Check of the successful bidder will be retained to pay any loss or damage to the Village in the event said successful bidder shall refuse or neglect to enter into a contract in accordance with his proposal. Acceptance of the bid will be contingent upon the fulfillment of this requirement by each bidder.

The Board of Water Commissioners reserves the right to consider bids for a period of Forty-Five Days after their opening, and the right is reserved to reject any and all bids, and/or to accept the bid which the Board deems is in the best interest of the Village.

Belinsky Makes Debut As A Relief Pitcher

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

In fact, the 25-year-old rookie southpaw who pitched the only no-hitter in the majors this season, claims he has had three successive nights of "normal" rest.

As a result, Bo woke up Sunday morning with a sore throat. But several hours later he made his debut as a major league relief pitcher and saved the Los Angeles Angels a 5-3 victory in the first game of a doubleheader with Chicago. Bo pulled Dean Chance out of a sixth inning jam and held the Sox to one hit in the final 3 2-3 innings. Los Angeles also won the second game, 6-5.

"I have to like working in relief," said Bo after the game. "The way I've been going as a starter something had to happen. But I don't mind. It's good to help out the team like that. And it counts as a save."

Belinsky, who has become more notorious as a Hollywood night life figure than a big league pitcher, swears he's going to reach a happy medium in his extra curricular activities.

"Hollywood can be too much," said Bo.

"I was working on this TV movie thing and had to get up at 6 in the morning. Most of the time I wasn't getting in by 6. After a couple of weeks of this, I was mentally out of condition. Than I started losing that pitching groove.

Health Officer From Ethiopia To Visit Here

The Ulster County Health Department was announced today as one of the health departments to be visited by a health officer from the Imperial Government of Ethiopia during his four day stay in the state of New York.

Dr. E. Franklin Hall, M.D., Ulster County health commissioner, announced that His Excellency Ato Abbebe Retta, minister of public health, will visit here Tuesday from 10:30 a. m. unti 3:30 p. m. to study the works and organization of a typical county health department in the state of New York. The Ethiopian minister's visit here is in conjunction with a world tour he is making to study the various problems of health departments throughout the world.

He will be accompanied by Dr. Julius S. Prince, chief public health adviser in Ethiopia for Agency of International Development, Gary Edwards, State Department escort, and Dr. Eric R. Osterberg, program assistant, Office of Professional Education New York State Health Department.

While in Kingston Retta will be given advice concerning the county health program and affiliated programs.

Dr. Hall will talk on the administration and structure of the Ulster County Health Department. Harry Edinger, director of sanitation for the Health Department will summarize county sanitation and engineering services. Miss Esther Schisa, Ulster County director of nursing, will summarize public health nursing service in the county. Dr. Herbert Schwartz, director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, will give a summary of the administration of a county tuberculosis hospital. Following lunch at the TB hospital, the Ethiopian Minister of Health will receive a summary of the functions of the Ulster County Tumor Clinic by Dr. Frederick Elias, director, and a tour of the facilities of the Kingston City Laboratory and a summary of its functions by Dr. Herbert Derman, director, and his staff.

This is the second visit to the United States by Retta, recently the guest of President John F. Kennedy at a state dinner. Today the health minister is in Albany visiting the State Department of Health and the Albany Medical Center. Upon completion of his visit here Tuesday, he will return to Albany.

Five Are Injured In Accidents, Boat Is Damaged

Two women were injured in a Dock Street mishap Saturday afternoon and three other persons were treated for injuries attributed to other weekend mishaps.

A sailboat was reported damaged on the Rondout Creek Saturday when it struck what was described to police as a "cable-vision wire" spanning the creek.

A report Saturday afternoon said Maria Weber, 52, of Route 4, Box 355, Kingston, suffered a stomach injury, and Erna Wacek, 52, of South Street, Rosendale, a laceration of the right temple in the Dock Street accident. X-rays were due to be taken of the latter's left shoulder. Her condition was reported as fair today and the other woman was reported under observation.

Blames Other Car

Officers Robert Bonesteel and Leon Fitzgerald said Maria Weber, driver of the car, reported that another vehicle had forced it off the road. It then went over the railroad tracks and struck a coal car on a siding at the rear of the Forst Packing Co. plant.

Also reported in fair condition at the Benedictine Hospital today was Claire Mearns, 7, of 20 Tietjen Avenue, who police said was injured Saturday when she fell from a bicycle on Flatbush near Tietjen Avenue. She suffered abrasions and was to be X-rayed, the report said.

Hit by Falling Block

Police were notified that Lazarus Sims, 50, of 15 West Strand, an employe of the David Gill building supplies company, was treated at Kingston Hospital for a laceration of the lower left leg. He had been hit in the leg by a concrete block, one of a truckload, which fell as he worked near the truck, police said.

A report at 1 a. m. Sunday by officers Ira Hadsel and George Deyo, said Marcellyn Greenridge, 18, of Newark, N. J. who was with a visiting drum corps, had become ill at John and Fair Streets. She was taken to the Benedictine Hospital, treated and discharged.

A report at 4:40 p. m. Saturday said that the mast of a boat sailed by Robert Brown, of 108 Lucas Avenue, had struck the wire across the Rondout Creek, damaging the mast and bowsprit.

Trapped in Elevator

A fireman was lowered by rope to the elevator roof, and the passengers were assisted through a trapdoor and up a ladder to the surface where they were given oxygen.

$800,000 Fire

TOURS, France (AP) — Fire sept a quartermaster building on the American base at nearby Chino today, destroying an estimated $800,000 worth of uniforms shoes and other clothing.

Authorities said they believed the blaze was caused by an electrical short circuit.

Missouri Man Bought Dynamite Before Jet Flight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Missouri businessman bought dynamite and more than $300,000 worth of insurance before getting on a jetliner which blew apart in flight, killing all 45 aboard, an FBI report shows.

The report identifies him as Thomas G. Doty, 34, of Kansas City, who has figured in an investigation since the Continental Airlines 707 mysteriously disintegrated in stormy darkness over the Missouri-Iowa border May 22.

Doty, an honor graduate from the University of Missouri in 1952, was arrested in April on charges of armed robbery and carrying a concealed weapon.

FBI Refuses Comment

The FBI itself refused to comment on its report, which has been turned over to the Civil Aeronautics Board.

But other sources said agents learned Doty bought the explosives at a Kansas City hardware store and took out the insurance payable to his pregnant wife. Friends said Doty was despondent and had talked of killing himself rather than face criminal charges.

A source familiar with the FBI report said no firm findings were made but added that circumstantial evidence pointed strongly to both means and motive for the explosion.

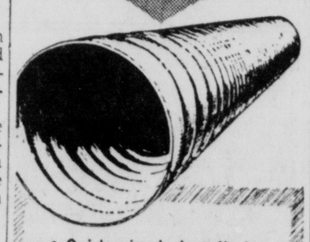

Dynamite Indicated

Leon H. Tanguay, director of the CAB Bureau of Air Safety, told reporters the FBI has reported its tests of parts of the plane definitely indicated a residue of dynamite. He said the CAB has suspected all along that an explosive had been placed in the plane's right rear washroom.

With Doty on the flight from Chicago to Kansas City, was Geneva Fraley, a blonde business associate with whom he was planning to launch a home decorating firm. The pair had said the purpose of the Chicago trip was to arrange for their new business.

Senator Hatfield Announces He'll Seek Reelection

State Senator Ernest I. Hatfield (R-Dutchess-35th District) announced Saturday night he will seek the Republican designation for reelection in the November election.

Dutchess County Republican Chairman Robert J. Blinn, Amenia, said Dutchess, Columbia and Putnam County Republicans leaders will support Hatfield for a new term.

Chairman Blinn said he withdrew his name from consideration for the party designation "for health and personal reasons" and he emphasized he would not at this time attempt to run for the State Senate from the 35th district, if he was honored with the designation.

Blinn stated that Senator Hatfield has become a highly valued member of the Senate and added," his service as chairman of at least three important committees and ranking member of a number of other committees has increased his prestige and the importance of his service to the state and Dutchess, Columbia and Putnam Counties."

Hatfield will complete 15 years in the Senate this year. He served five years as a member of the State Assembly, and is chairman of the Senate Committee on Banking, and the Committee on Study and Recodification of the Banking Laws. He also is chairman of the Committee on Ethics.

Hatfield, a resident of Hyde Park, served 10 years as a member of the Poughkeepsie Common Council before he was elected to the State Legislature. He has served longer than the late Senator James E. Towner, of Towners, Putnam County; the late Senator Frederic H. Bontecou, Millbrook, and Senator Allan A. Ryan Jr., Rhinebeck.

Four Drown in Pond

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — A parked car, some picnic objects along shore and an empty inflatable raft led to the discovery Sunday that a family of three and a neighbor boy had drowne in a murky pond.

Fuller M. Lovett, about 56, and his wife Lottie, 47, apparently trying to rescue their son Ronald, 9, and Donald Curtis, 10, drowned with the youngsters in the pond beside a freeway under construction.

The bodies of Lovett and his wife were recovered still fully clothed. The two boys wore bathing suits.

Heart Attack Hits Edward G. Robinson

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Actor Edward G. Robinson was reported seriously ill in a hospital in northern Tanganyika after a heart attack early today.

Robinson, who is 68, is making a movie in the area. The company is camped at 6,000 feet on a 15,000-foot mountain near Mt. Kilimanjaro.

Pray for Better Police Force In Albany Sunday

Some members of the group carried placards with such messages, "We demand a full-scale investigation of police practices in Albany," "We will match your capacity to hate with our capacity to love" and "In God We trust."

One person who carried a sign that criticized a public office by name was escorted from the meeting and was told, "We don't want any of this business here.... This is prayer."

The meeting resulted from a charge by Samuel Clark, 30, a Stratford, Conn., Negro, that Albany police beat him after his arrest May 30 on a disorderly conduct charge. He has pleaded innocent, and the City Police commissioner has opened a public hearing into Clark's allegation.

The Rev. Robert C. Lamar, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, told the group, "We are not only protesting against an incident but for a better police department."

He said this meant higher pay for policemen.

The Rev. Val Mendes of Mount Clive Church, urged those at the meeting to "act prayerfully" in attempting to change conditions he said "are not up to desired standards."

"No channel is as effective as sincere and heartfelt prayer," he said.

Admits Obtaining Half Million Plus, Sheriff Explains

Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan today told The Freeman that investigation of a series of burglaries charged to a Poughkeepsie man, and two others disclosed that the defendants were involved in more than 200 burglaries in Columbia, Dutchess and Putnam counties.

Quinlan said Raymond H. Stanton, 48, of 54 Jefferson Street, Poughkeepsie, has admitted he obtained loot valued at upwards of $500,000.

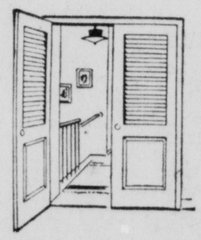

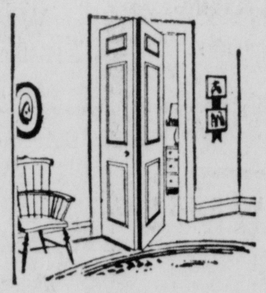

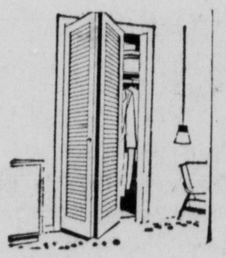

The sheriff said the only burglary the defendant is accused of committing in Ulster County was last year at Highland Central High School. Quinlan had no further details of that break.

Also arrested in the burglary investigation conducted by the Dutchess County sheriff's office, assisted by Ulster County Investigator Arthur Brown and other police agencies in Dutchess, Ulster, Columbia and Putnam Counties, were, Stanton's son, Raymond, 22, of 7 Montgomery Street, Poughkeepsie, and Frederick Marks, 54, of Sodom Road, Town of Clinton. They are awaiting grand jury action on burglary third degree charges.

Five Are Injured In Accidents, Boat Is Damaged

Two women were injured in a Dock Street mishap Saturday afternoon and three other persons were treated for injuries attributed to other weekend mishaps.

A sailboat was reported damaged on the Rondout Creek Saturday when it struck what was described to police as a "cable-vision wire" spanning the creek.

A report Saturday afternoon said Maria Weber, 52, of Route 4, Box 355, Kingston, suffered a stomach injury, and Erna Wacek, 52, of South Street, Rosendale, a laceration of the right temple in the Dock Street accident. X-rays were due to be taken of the latter's left shoulder. Her condition was reported as fair today and the other woman was reported under observation.

Blames Other Car

Officers Robert Bonesteel and Leon Fitzgerald said Maria Weber, driver of the car, reported that another vehicle had forced it off the road. It then went over the railroad tracks and struck a coal car on a siding at the rear of the Forst Packing Co. plant.

Police said the women were taken to the hospital by Herbert Kornemann, of Box 907, Tillson.

Also reported in fair condition at the Benedictine Hospital today was Claire Mearns, 7, of 20 Tietjen Avenue, who police said was injured Saturday when she fell from a bicycle on Flatbush near Tietjen Avenue. She suffered abrasions and was to be X-rayed, the report said.

Hit by Falling Block

Police were notified that Lazarus Sims, 50, of 15 West Strand, an employe of the David Gill building supplies company, was treated at Kingston Hospital for a laceration of the lower left leg. He had been hit in the leg by a concrete block, one of a truckload, which fell as he worked near the truck, police said.

A report at 1 a. m. Sunday by officers Ira Hadsel and George Deyo, said Marcellyn Greenridge, 18, of Newark, N. J. who was with a visiting drum corps, had become ill at John and Fair Streets. She was taken to the Benedictine Hospital, treated and discharged.

A report at 4:40 p. m. Saturday said that the mast of a boat sailed by Robert Brown, of 108 Lucas Avenue, had struck the wire across the Rondout Creek, damaging the mast and bowsprit.

Trapped in Elevator

A fireman was lowered by rope to the elevator roof, and the passengers were assisted through a trapdoor and up a ladder to the surface where they were given oxygen.

$800,000 Fire

TOURS, France (AP) — Fire sept a quartermaster building on the American base at nearby Chino today, destroying an estimated $800,000 worth of uniforms shoes and other clothing.

Authorities said they believed the blaze was caused by an electrical short circuit.

Missouri Man Bought Dynamite Before Jet Flight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Missouri businessman bought dynamite and more than $300,000 worth of insurance before getting on a jetliner which blew apart in flight, killing all 45 aboard, an FBI report shows.

The report identifies him as Thomas G. Doty, 34, of Kansas City, who has figured in an investigation since the Continental Airlines 707 mysteriously disintegrated in stormy darkness over the Missouri-Iowa border May 22.

Doty, an honor graduate from the University of Missouri in 1952, was arrested in April on charges of armed robbery and carrying a concealed weapon.

FBI Refuses Comment

The FBI itself refused to comment on its report, which has been turned over to the Civil Aeronautics Board.

But other sources said agents learned Doty bought the explosives at a Kansas City hardware store and took out the insurance payable to his pregnant wife. Friends said Doty was despondent and had talked of killing himself rather than face criminal charges.

A source familiar with the FBI report said no firm findings were made but added that circumstantial evidence pointed strongly to both means and motive for the explosion.

Dynamite Indicated

Leon H. Tanguay, director of the CAB Bureau of Air Safety, told reporters the FBI has reported its tests of parts of the plane definitely indicated a residue of dynamite. He said the CAB has suspected all along that an explosive had been placed in the plane's right rear washroom.

With Doty on the flight from Chicago to Kansas City, was Geneva Fraley, a blonde business associate with whom he was planning to launch a home decorating firm. The pair had said the purpose of the Chicago trip was to arrange for their new business.

Premier Must Rest

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) —Premier Bashir Azmeh has been advised to take a rest. The 52-year-old premier has been confined to bed for the past five days. A medical commission examined him and advised rest because of "irregular heart beats."

Senator Hatfield Announces He'll Seek Reelection

State Senator Ernest I. Hatfield (R-Dutchess-35th District) announced Saturday night he will seek the Republican designation for reelection in the November election.

Dutchess County Republican Chairman Robert J. Blinn, Amenia, said Dutchess, Columbia and Putnam County Republicans leaders will support Hatfield for a new term.

Chairman Blinn said he withdrew his name from consideration for the party designation "for health and personal reasons" and he emphasized he would not at this time attempt to run for the State Senate from the 35th district, if he was honored with the designation.

Blinn stated that Senator Hatfield has become a highly valued member of the Senate and added," his service as chairman of at least three important committees and ranking member of a number of other committees has increased his prestige and the importance of his service to the state and Dutchess, Columbia and Putnam Counties."

Hatfield will complete 15 years in the Senate this year. He served five years as a member of the State Assembly, and is chairman of the Senate Committee on Banking, and the Committee on Study and Recodification of the Banking Laws. He also is chairman of the Committee on Ethics.

Hatfield, a resident of Hyde Park, served 10 years as a member of the Poughkeepsie Common Council before he was elected to the State Legislature. He has served longer than the late Senator James E. Towner, of Towners, Putnam County; the late Senator Frederic H. Bontecou, Millbrook, and Senator Allan A. Ryan Jr., Rhinebeck.

Four Drown in Pond

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — A parked car, some picnic objects along shore and an empty inflatable raft led to the discovery Sunday that a family of three and a neighbor boy had drowne in a murky pond.

Fuller M. Lovett, about 56, and his wife Lottie, 47, apparently trying to rescue their son Ronald, 9, and Donald Curtis, 10, drowned with the youngsters in the pond beside a freeway under construction.

The bodies of Lovett and his wife were recovered still fully clothed. The two boys wore bathing suits.

Heart Attack Hits Edward G. Robinson

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Actor Edward G. Robinson was reported seriously ill in a hospital in northern Tanganyika after a heart attack early today.

Robinson, who is 68, is making a movie in the area. The company is camped at 6,000 feet on a 15,000-foot mountain near Mt. Kilimanjaro.

A heart specialist was flown there from Nairobi to attend the film star.

The film group's doctor had left to drive to Nairobi, 200 miles away, a few hours before Robinson became ill. The doctor himself is in the hospital now—his car crashed a few miles outside Arusha and he was injured.

Pray for Better Police Force In Albany Sunday

About 350 persons, most of them Negroes, attended the hour-long meeting Sunday, in which seven ministers took part.

Some members of the group carried placards with such messages, "We demand a full-scale investigation of police practices in Albany," "We will match your capacity to hate with our capacity to love" and "In God We trust."

One person who carried a sign that criticized a public office by name was escorted from the meeting and was told, "We don't want any of this business here.... This is prayer."

The meeting resulted from a charge by Samuel Clark, 30, a Stratford, Conn., Negro, that Albany police beat him after his arrest May 30 on a disorderly conduct charge. He has pleaded innocent, and the City Police commissioner has opened a public hearing into Clark's allegation.

The Rev. Robert C. Lamar, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, told the group, "We are not only protesting against an incident but for a better police department."

He said this meant higher pay for policemen.

The Rev. Val Mendes of Mount Clive Church, urged those at the meeting to "act prayerfully" in attempting to change conditions he said "are not up to desired standards."

"No channel is as effective as sincere and heartfelt prayer," he said.

Admits Obtaining Half Million Plus, Sheriff Explains

Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan today told The Freeman that investigation of a series of burglaries charged to a Poughkeepsie man, and two others disclosed that the defendants were involved in more than 200 burglaries in Columbia, Dutchess and Putnam counties.

Quinlan said Raymond H. Stanton, 48, of 54 Jefferson Street, Poughkeepsie, has admitted he obtained loot valued at upwards of $500,000.

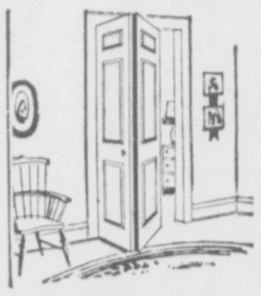

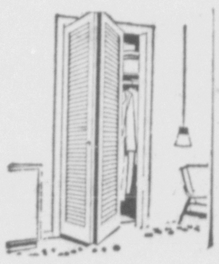

The sheriff said the only burglary the defendant is accused of committing in Ulster County was last year at Highland Central High School. Quinlan had no further details of that break.

Also arrested in the burglary investigation conducted by the Dutchess County sheriff's office, assisted by Ulster County Investigator Arthur Brown and other police agencies in Dutchess, Ulster, Columbia and Putnam Counties, were, Stanton's son, Raymond, 22, of 7 Montgomery Street, Poughkeepsie, and Frederick Marks, 54, of Sodom Road, Town of Clinton. They are awaiting grand jury action on burglary third degree charges.
